Woe Is Me, Alahama.
A Coolidge Hope.
A Thorough Gang.
Old Hearts Dangerous.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

TEN days in succession the Wall Street gentlemen have bought more than 2,000,000 shares a day. Yesterday they bought 4,000,000 shares. Ten days in succession the poor bears have said, "woe is me, Alahama."

What goes up must come down, maybe. But when the American Eagle starts toward the sun in the morning it is tiresome waiting for him to come down.

THERE is revival of the hope that President Coolidge will consent to run for a second election this year. Everybody knows he meant it when he said "I do not choose." Everybody knows he means it when he says now he does not want any of his friends to lift a finger to nominate him.

BUT the oil scandal makes a difference in the situation, and everyone of intelligence reserves the right to change his mind.

WHEN a Chicago gang turns its attention to a killing, especially if the man marked is a gang leader, the job is done thoroughly.

Little Italy "Diamond Joe" Esposito is shot down from behind by his fellows. The keeper of the morgue, "just out of curiosity," turned him face downwards and counted fifty-eight bullet holes in Esposito's back.

LORD BALFOUR, seriously ill with heart trouble, was proud of his ability to play a good game of tennis against younger men when past seventy. That explains the heart trouble.

Men past fifty, no matter how young for their last years, have no business playing tennis or any other violent game. Prof. Michelson, of the University of Chicago, who, after sixty, played many violent sets, please take notice. A man's brain and courage may be young and his heart old.

SECRETARY MELLON will ignore any action in the Senate asking his resignation. The people will be much obliged for that. The marvel is that Secretary Mellon has worked for the people for nothing so long, reducing their debt by billions in the face of asinine ingratitude.

TOM WISE is dead, shepherd of the Lamb's Club, and a good actor. Years ago William A. Brady asked this writer to see Tom Wise in a play called "A Gentleman From Mississippi" that Brady was producing.

THIS writer told Brady, "you have a first class play and in it there is a young actor playing a minor part, jumping over chairs, etc., that is going to make a success. You ought to make a contract with him." The young man's name was Douglas Fairbanks.

SHANGHAI says the Japanese government has locked up one thousand communists in one thousand cells, to teach them that they mustn't criticize the Japanese government. The Japanese are thorough and believe in the right of every man to say exactly what he pleases and what he believes, if he believes what the government believes.

EUROPE, it is said, plans to keep out American automobiles entirely. So much the worse for Europe. An automobile doubles the value of a man's time.

Ford, General Motors and others will establish complete plants in Europe and take care of that emergency.

SPAIN goes back to the League of Nations, which is wise. Spain belongs in that league. We have a league of our own here made up of forty-eight states with free trade and co-operation.

When Europe gets such a league as we have some of her troubles will end.

SCHOOL BUS FIRED BY TREE; SIX DIE

BOY, 7, SAVES OTHER

LEAF, Miss., March 23.—(AP.)—A little boy with his leg broken dragged his brother out of a blazing automobile yesterday and saved his life when a big pine tree fell blazing on a passing school bus.

Five other school children, and David Goff, driver of the car, lost their lives in the crash of the tree, or were burned to death in the machine. The tree, 30 inches in diameter and towering high above others alongside the road, had been weakened by a forest fire which attacked its base. It toppled across the automobile as it passed along the road.

Rastus Goff, 7 years old, was described today by Hilis Mizelle, as the hero of the tragedy. The lad's leg was broken as the impact of the tree flung him from the car. Despite this he dragged his 9-year-old brother, Horace, to safety. The two boys lay in a Hattiesburg hospital today, each with a broken leg and Horace suffering also from burns.

RESCUE TOO LATE

Mizelle, who resides a quarter of a mile from where the tree fell, said he heard the crash and reached there too late to save his own daughter, Eva, 12 years old, but in time to learn of the boy's heroic act.

Goff's daughter, Marie, 14, and Nettie and Hettie, 11-year-old twin daughters of William Goff, the driver's brother, also lost their lives, as did Edna Goff, another of the driver's nieces. Mizelle himself was burned on his arms and face in attempts at rescue. Farm hands later came and hacked away the trunk and recovered the bodies.

The community paused in its work today, schools were closed and business and farming halted, while the residents gathered at Pippin's Graveyard for the joint funeral services of the victims.

The Weather

Fair and slightly warmer tonight; Saturday increasing cloudiness and warmer followed by showers Saturday night; lowest temperature tonight about 45 degrees.

MRS. ESTELLE J. STINSON

Mrs. "Eddie" Stinson, now that things have been "patched up" with her husband, is coming into aviation limelight. She is now on her way with Capt. George Haldeman, Ruth Elder's trans-Atlantic pilot, in a Stinson-Detroiter monoplane, in an attempted Detroit-Jacksonville, Fla., non-stop flight. "Eddie," now in Houston, will join them in Jax for an attempt to break the world's record for sustained flight. Mrs. Stinson may go with the two men. It is announced now that she also plans a flight to China in the summer in a specially-built Stinson plane.

DORIS' HUSBAND DIES ON GALLOWS

International News Service

VALLEYFIELD, Quebec, March 23.—Alone, George McDonald this morning paid the supreme penalty for the crime which the Canadian courts say he and Doris Palmer McDonald committed together. At 5:37, eastern standard time, Hangman Arthur Ellis, stamping his foot down on the metal spring to release the trap, sent the Broadway gunman into eternity with the cry, "Jesus, have mercy!" on his lips.

At 5:34 McDonald had been led out from the cell-block in which he spent his last hours, in a solemn processional headed by Father Verschelden, his spiritual adviser, who intoned the death ritual in solemn chant.

Five convicts from Bordeaux prison guarded McDonald in the dreary march to death up the 19 oaken steps to the gallows platform.

At 5:36 Hangman Ellis place the noose over the head of the playboy of the "Roaring Forties" and clamped down the black cap on his head.

As the prison chaplain intoned again his chanted litany of death, "Jesus, have mercy, Jesus, have mercy," Canada's official executioner clamped down his foot on the metal pedal and released the trap. Thus George McDonald died.

DIES BRAVELY

Shivering in his open-necked cotton shirt on the ice-coated gallows, the slim gunman, just before the end, mumbled a prayer in English, which fell only on ears attuned to French.

Paying the price for the woman he loved as well as for himself, McDonald went to his death bravely.

The church bells of Valleyfield rang up McDonald's payment to society as they tolled out the announcement that he had died to square his debt for the cold-blooded murder of Adelard Bou-

Picket Round-Up Overcrowds County Jail

Allegheny county jail is filled and, if any more union pickets are brought in, the warden and the guards will have to move out, it appears from records obtained at the warden's office today.

"I don't know what we'll do if they bring in any more pickets," admitted Warden John McNeil. "Our capacity is about 700 prisoners and we are over that mark already. I guess we'll have to double the men up in the cells if any more pickets are arrested."

New Air Line for Pgh.

DETROIT, Mich., March 23.—Extension of the Detroit-Cleveland airplane line to Pittsburgh at an early date was announced today by William B. Stout, president of the Stout Air Service.

The company also plans to inaugurate a sight-seeing service in Pittsburgh similar to the one in Detroit, which has carried 12,000 passengers in brief tours over the city since June 1, 1927.

The Ford tri-motored monoplanes, which soon will be produced at the rate of one a week in the Ford factory, to sell for $45,000, will be employed by the Stout Air Service in its line to Pittsburgh and in its sight-seeing service.

37 JOIN FAGAN IN JAIL

Defying Sheriff Robert H. Braun's orders against mass picketing, 37 striking miners joined their district chief and 27 other pickets, arrested yesterday, in the Allegheny County Jail today. State police brought in this morning's batch of proclamation violators from the Maude mine of the McClane Mining Company at Traveskyn, where P. T. (Pat) Fagan, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, and 27 strikers were arrested yesterday.

Included in this morning's arrests was Carl Wollcott, district organizer. John Fagan, brother of the district president, another organizer, was among the first lot of pickets arrested. The men were arraigned before Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillen, of Carnegie, who held them

DENIES HIS CO. BROKE PACT

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, was called before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today in its investigation of the coal strike and asked why the Bethlehem Mines Corporation, a subsidiary, had broken the Jacksonville wage agreement with the United Mine Workers and a number of other embarrassing questions.

Smiling and urbane, evading, parrying, answering some queries by propounding others or telling jokes, Schwab held at bay for more than two hours the inquisitors, both of the senatorial committee and of the United Mine Workers, who sought to make him confess that in his treatment of the miners he had been guilty of shameful conduct.

Schwab Plays "Fox"

He professed ignorance of many of the things of which his company was accused, saying that his position as chairman was more or less an honorary one, and that he served only in an advisory capacity.

He denied that the company had broken any contract, asserted his miners were contented and prosperous, having purchased $2,000,000 worth of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation's preferred stock.

He declared he knew little or nothing concerning conditions at Ellsworth, where one of his subsidiaries, the Ellsworth Colliers Company, operates. The Ellsworth mine was described in testimony laid before the committee by the Rev. John S. Krok as the scene of numerous atrocities, for which Father Krok held Schwab and the company responsible.

As an example of Schwab's suave way of attempting to extricate himself from an embarrassing situation by creating laughter, a remark that

Gov. Fisher Awaits Reply

HARRISBURG, March 23.—Whether Gov. Fisher will accept the invitation of the United States Senate Interstate Commerce Committee to testify regarding the bituminous coal strike in Western Pennsylvania depends upon the receipt of further information from the committee, it became known here today. Several days ago Senator James E. Watson, Indiana, committee chairman, invited the Governor to come before the body.

The attitude of the administration will be that the Governor will not "go up to Jerusalem to pay tribute." The sovereign independence of the state will be insisted upon, it was indicated at the Capitol.

On Wednesday Gov. Fisher sent by special messenger his answer to Senator Watson's invitation to ap-

ARRESTED AT TRAVESKYN

Striking miners at Maude mine, McClane Mining Company, Traveskyn, near Bridgeville, continue to defy Sheriff Robert H. Braun's orders against mass picketing and state police lodged 39 more in the county jail, in default of $500 bail each, on charges of unlawful assembly. P. T. (Pat) Fagan, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, has been taken into custody on the picket line. He says he will "fill the jail and then put women on the picket lines." OFFICIALS AND BUSINESSMEN -:- INSPECT LIBERTY BRIDGE -:- HAILED AS FINEST HERE

"WONDERFUL BRIDGE!"

Praise was heard on all sides when city and county officials, businessmen and others made an inspection of the new Liberty Bridge. Among those on the bridge inspection were (above) Edward G. Lang, director of the city department of public works; E. V. Babcock, county commissioner; T. P. Gaylord, president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

DIRECTORS

What did the director of the city department of public works tell the director of the Allegheny county department of public works? They both agreed, at any rate. Norman F. Brown is the county official and Edward G. Lang the city official.

ENTHUSIASTS

"Most marvelous improvement, especially for the South Hills district, ever made in the county," insisted Mayor Charles H. Kline. The Mayor was talking to Chairman of the board of county commissioners, Joseph Armstrong, and County Commissioner E. V. Babcock, as H. C. McEldowney, president of the Union Trust Company, approaches above.

"MARVELOUS!"

Thus did Mayor Kline exult over the new bridge. And he stood for long moments and gazed out over the expanse of water and the hills and city and mills and activity. "Congestion at the city end no doubt will bring a demand for the removal of the jail and an extension of the route to Bigelow boulevard."

NYE RAPS SMITH ON SINCLAIR

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Senator Gerald P. Nye, youthful Progressive from North Dakota, today asked Gov. Al Smith, of New York, whether his five-year silence on the national oil scandals was due to his friendship for Harry F. Sinclair.

Nye projected this question at Smith in a letter replying to the New York Governor's recent letter.

"Might it be that your reticence to speak out against these scandals sooner is attributable to the fact that Harry F. Sinclair was a member of your official family, and had, as newspapers now report, contributed in 1918 when you were a successful candidate for Governor to a Democratic committee in New York?" asked Nye. "This thought is merely suggested by your letter."

Nye first denied making any charges against Smith. He explained that, in the Senate debate, he had said that Smith was not connected with the oil scandal in any way. He likewise denied any intention of embarrassing the New York Governor.

Then the letter continued:

"The facts are, as you must now see, that in the course of a running debate in the Senate on March 19, an attack was launched against you by a Senator of that faction of the Republican party with which I have never been charged, until now and by you, with identifying myself. I had had no conversation whatsoever with him in any way related to the subject of his remarks. The Senator asked me upon the floor of the Senate if I had any evidence that Harry F. Sinclair was an officer of your administration as a member of the racing commission during 1922, 1923, 1924 and possibly 1925.

EXPLAINS LETTER

"On the morning of the day upon which this question was asked me, I had received a letter to which I had not given a serious or second thought because I did not, upon its reading, consider it material to the investigation to which I had been devoting every ounce of my energy since early in January. But, my knowledge of this letter would not permit of my truthfully saying that I had no such information as the Senator was inquiring for, and I answered him, saying that it was my understanding that in the campaign of 1920, Sinclair had liberally contributed to your campaign and that you thereafter appointed him a member of the racing commission."

Nye then pointed out he had rejected a suggestion that Smith be called as a witness before the oil investigating committee, because there was no evidence that he was involved in any way in the Continental Trading Company bond transactions.

"You gratuitously charge me, however, with being a party to a plot to enable the Republican party to 'escape in some measure the penalty for the disgraceful record of the party in connection with these scandals,'" continued Nye. "Surely you cannot be ignorant of the fact that upon my own initiative and responsibility, and without the suggestion of any other member of the committee, Republican or Democrat, I appointed an investigator, on the basis of information privately furnished to me, who traced the bonds of the Continental Trading Company, owned by Harry F. Sinclair, directly to the coffers of the Republican National Committee through the banks to New York City."

A junior at Grove City College, Edna Cookson debates, swims and plays tennis on the college teams. All of which proves that ability and good looks are not necessarily foreign to each other.

Shoots Self, Tells Why In Note

Before firing three bullets into his left breast, Frank A. Hunter, 50, linotype operator, of 1626 Falck avenue, wrote a letter to his wife, Iva E. Hunter, couched in endearing terms, explaining his reason. Mrs. Hunter, returning from a shopping trip yesterday, found him in bed with a .32-caliber revolver at his side.

Three bullets, two below the heart and one above, were removed from Hunter's body by physicians at St. John's Hospital, but the doctors hold out no hope for his recovery.

After apologizing for the commotion which his act would occasion, he wrote:

"My reason, sweetheart, for doing what I did, is that there is absolutely no hope for me to get well."

Fearing a chance for the worse in his condition he said: "The worst I hate to think of, and I know of cases that have been very bad, and sweetheart, honey, you have been a wonderful help to me. Why, dear, you were in more pain than me, yet in the goodness of your heart and the love you have for me, forgot your pain and took care of me."

The letter concluded:

"Now, sweetheart wife, with all my love to the best and noblest woman that blessed me, I say goodbye."

Hunter had been in ill health for some time and during the absence of his wife yesterday, her sister, Mrs. C. D. Bolden, of 1624 Falck avenue, was keeping watch. During her absence he shot himself.

Shots Fail To Halt Speeder

A motorist who violated the speed laws of New Eagle, Pa., near Monongahela City, by speeding through the community yesterday, was chased by Chief John O. Horner, of New Eagle, all the way to Pittsburgh, the chase ending in Bon Air street, Carrick, when the machine upset. The driver and three passengers, two men and a girl, ran from the machine and escaped.

During the chase Chief Horner fired a dozen shots at the car, four of them striking the machine. Harry Seibel, motorcycle officer of Overbrook joined the chase as the automobile passed through his district. The machine was driven back to New Eagle by Chief Horner. The license plates on the machine are said to have been issued to Nicholas Frazier of 7513 Bennett street. The machine was stolen Tuesday night, local police say.

for court on charges of unlawful assembly. They were committed to jail in default of $500 bail each.

Deputy Sheriff E. D. Edsall signed the informations against the men arrested today.

STAYS IN JAIL

President Fagan was taken into custody by state police yesterday on charges of inciting to riot and disorderly conduct. He will be given a hearing before Squire McMillen this afternoon.

He refused to allow anyone to go on his bond for his release, preferring to spend a night in the Allegheny county jail with his brother United Mine Workers. He was visited by his counsel, Attorney W. H. Coleman, this morning, but still refused offers of bail.

Fagan protested against the arrest of the miners and declared he would fill the Allegheny county jail with pickets. When all the men were in jail, he said, women would be placed on the picket line.

The 27 pickets arrested yesterday morning were taken before Squire McMillen, who ordered them held for court, and set bail at $500 each. The pickets refused bail and were committed to jail to await trial.

BREAK UP MEETING

"Pat" Fagan was the only one arrested yesterday afternoon. State police say he interfered with them in the pursuit of their duties and remonstrated against their order to disperse. Following Fagan's arrest, the troopers broke up the gathering and sent the miners to their homes.

Sheriff Robert H. Braun, under whose orders mass picketing has been ordered broken up in the county, said last night he will enforce the law "to the letter."

"My proclamation against congregating in strike zones is backed up by Justice Kephart's decision, which clearly defines 'peaceful picketing.'"

"If workmen are forced to run the gauntlet between 100 or 200 strikers, their rights as citizens are being interfered with, and I, as peace officer of this county, have sworn to do my duty and I shall do it," he declared.

ACTIVE ON CAMPUS

MISS ETHEL BOWSER

Miss Ethel Bowser, 940 Orr avenue, Kittanning, is one of the most active co-eds on the Wittenberg College campus, Springfield, O. She is a junior, member of Kappa Delta, social sorority; staff of the Torch, student weekly, and Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatics fraternity.

MINE RIOT IS LED BY WOMAN

CADIZ, O., March 23.—(AP.)—Several men were injured today in a clash between employed miners and union sympathizers at the Wheeling Township Mine No. 2, six miles east of here. The attackers, led by a woman, stoned about 30 workers as they prepared to enter the mine. The attackers numbered about 100 men and women.

Maj. R. A. Bowland and four deputy sheriffs were at the mine when a school bus, used to transport workers to the shaft, drew up and the men started to alight. They were met with a barrage of rocks hurled by the attackers, who had congregated about the mine entrance.

Maj. Bowland jumped into the thick of the fight, discharging his revolver in the air and ordering the assailants to disperse. Tear bombs finally were used to break up the fight, but not until several of the employed men had been injured.

The mine has been operated several months on a nonunion basis, with about 75 men. Last June the tipple was burned, and on February 16 the property was the scene of a clash between the workers and reputed supporters of the union. As in today's disturbance, the attackers at that time were led by a woman, Mrs. John Zenick. Mrs. Zenick was arrested then with her husband and two daughters. All are free on bond now.

M'DONALD DIES GAME

chard, Lachine taxicab driver, last July.

McDonald died under circumstances never paralleled in the Dominion of Canada. None saw his death but the agents of the government whose duty it was to hang him. Press, relatives and attorneys all were barred by the edict of the Quebec premier—a hitherto unprecedented action.

On December 16, McDonald and his wife, Doris Palmer McDonald, former Mount Vernon, N. Y., school girl, born in Pittsburgh, Pa., were sentenced to hang for the murder of Bouchard.

The couple held up Bouchard on a lonely road outside of Montreal. When he resisted their attempts to take his money from him he was shot. Whether McDonald or his wife fired the shot was never definitely revealed.

However, McDonald made a chivalrous statement a few days ago, in which he absolved his wife of all blame for the murder. Doris was subsequently reprieved and her sentence changed to life imprisonment.

Doris Faints at McDonald's Last Message

MONTREAL, March 23.—They told Doris McDonald in her prison cell today that her man had died "game" and gave his farewell message to her—

"God bless you and protect you, I am praying for you."

Doris listened quietly to the rest of it. Then she drew a deep breath and fainted. She was placed under the care of the prison physician.

George McDonald sent his last love message through High Sheriff Domonic Crepin.

"Give her my best," said McDonald before mounting the scaffold. "Doris was always a good kid. Tell her I wish her luck and hope that she will get out of the pen and go back home."

BURGLAR LOOTS HOME WHILE FAMILY IS OUT

Jewelry valued at $100 was stolen last night by a burglar who entered the home of Mayer Berman of 804 Locust street.

Lays His Fall To Typists' ---Coats

He was a highly-developed specialist. His card could have read, "Frank Johnson, Stealer of Stenographers' Coats," city detectives said.

Johnson, Negro, 24, of Wylie avenue, in Morals Court today, was held for court on the charge that he had stolen the coat of Sarah Rubenstein, stenographer for the Hein Company, 34 Isabella street. He admitted he had stolen the coats of a dozen other office girls. He said it was "pretty profitable."

CITY TO DEFY RAILROAD

Determined to cut the Gordian knot of negotiations with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company that has delayed for nine years the improvement of Irvine avenue, Fifteenth Ward, Council today held a lengthy conference with representatives of the Department of Public Works on the subject.

While no definite decision was reached during the morning and early afternoon sessions of the conference, the members of Council expressed their opinion that work should be started as soon as possible, leaving negotiations with the railroad company, as to its share of the expense, to the future.

Unless present plans are changed, this decision will start the Department of Public Works at the construction of a 54-foot street from Hazelwood to Greenfield avenues. Sufficient money is on hand for the city's share of the project, it developed at the conference today. It is likely work will be started within 75 days.

CUMBERLAND, Md., March 23.—Bill Ruhl was pushed up Baltimore street in a baby carriage today by Bob Bryant, former boxer. Bryant picked the loser at the municipal election.

KANE, Pa., March 23.—Unscathed for 35 years, L. E. Svanson, 60, track walker for the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railroad at Mt. Jewett, was struck and killed by a freight train today.

Girl, 8, Out for First Million On 'Egg Farm'

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 23.—Gladys Lucille Hunter, 8, youthful "egg farmer," of Dunns Station, is on the road to wealth and fame. She reared six Rhode Island Red pullets and the first egg was laid November 26 last. Up to March 16 the six hens laid 408 eggs, an average of 68 eggs for each pullet, for which she received $21, or an average of $3.50 per pullet.

Find Will Of Sailor On S-4

BOSTON, March 23.—(AP.)—At least one of six men who died a lingering death in the torpedo room of the ill-fated S-4, arranged his affairs and disposed of his estate before the deadly carbon monoxide deadened his brain. Yesterday the naval board of investigation, searching the hull of the submarine in drydock, discovered what they believed to be the will of Torpedoman Roger Leslie Short, of Boonville, Mo.

In a cardboard box in one of the torpedo room lockers the officers found money, bank books and other effects belonging to the sailor. Hurriedly scribbled in pencil on a piece of paper were the instructions:

"In case of my death please send entire contents of box to my mother, Mrs. M. G. Short, 804 East Spring street, Boonville, Mo., By Roger L. Short, U. S. N."

In the box, which was soaked with salt water and falling to pieces, were found these items: A card case containing $32; an American Express money order book containing $20 in money orders and $40 in cash; two bankbooks; several stock certificates; insurance certificates; records of enlistments and decorations; and a number of letters addressed to Short.

Short was serving his fourth "hitch" in the Navy. His record showed that he had served in the Mexican campaign, the Haitian campaign, and in the World War.

SENATOR FERRIS, OF MICHIGAN, DIES

International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris (Dem.), of Michigan, died here this morning, after a short illness from bronchial pneumonia.

Death came at 6:15 a. m. in the hotel where he made his home in the capital. Members of his family, summoned a week ago when the doctors virtually gave up hope of saving his life, were at the bedside. The body will be taken to his Michigan home, at Big Rapids, for burial.

Death of Ferris Gives G. O. P. 1 More Vote

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(AP.)—The death of Senator Ferris, of Michigan, will give the Republicans one more vote in the Senate, making the lineup there 48 Republicans, 45 Democrats, 1 Farmer-Labor, with 2 vacancies.

The Republican gain of one vote will come about through the appointment by Gov. Green of a successor to Senator Ferris, a Democrat. Gov. Green is a Republican, and is expected to appoint a Republican to the vacancy to serve until the November election.

The two other vacancies are in the seats for Illinois and Pennsylvania to which Frank L. Smith and William S. Vare have laid claim.

Senator Ferris was 75, and was serving his first term in the Senate. He recently announced that because of his advanced age and ill health he would not be a candidate for re-election.

He was the first Democratic Senator from his state in nearly half a century. He was elected in 1922, defeating Senator Charles E. Townsend.

WOODBRIDGE N. FERRIS
Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris, Democrat, Michigan, died in his Washington home after a short illness, bronchial pneumonia.

Prior to his Senate service he had served as governor of Michigan for two terms, in 1913-14 and 1915-16, and it was largely upon his record as governor that the Democrats turned to him and elected him to the Senate in the off-year election of 1922.

By profession Senator Ferris was an educator. He was born in Spencer, N. Y., January 6, 1853, and after graduating from several schools went to Illinois where, at the age of 23, he became principal of a business college at Freeport. He later was identified with Rock River University at Dixon, and was superintendent of schools at Pittsfield. In 1884 he founded Ferris Institute at Big Rapids, Mich., and since then has been president of the institution. He also president of the Big Rapids Savings Bank.

CONGRESS TAKES UP FLYING WITH LINDY

AND THEY LIKE IT!

Flying isn't nearly so fearful as people think, members of Congress who accepted Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's invitation for flights over the national capital have discovered. Lindy's shown above, after one of his hops, with a group of his passengers. Those with him are Representatives William P. Cole, Maryland; Jed Johnson, Oklahoma; Philip D. Swing, California; Wilbur Cartwright, Oklahoma; John J. McSwain, South Carolina, and William P. Connery, Jr., Massachusetts.

YOUNG COOLIDGE BRINGS GUESTS TO WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, March 23.—John Coolidge, son of President Coolidge, has arrived at the White House from Amherst College, with two college mates, for the spring holidays. His guests are Jack Hills, son of Mrs. R. B. Hills, who is also a guest at the White House and Edward Young, a classmate of young Coolidge of Brooklyn. They will remain about 10 days.

ROME IN PANIC AFTER QUAKE

ROME, March 23.—(AP.)—Romans took to the streets in fear this morning when a mild earthquake shock was felt throughout the city.

Dwellers in the upper floors of houses rushed out when the dishes and cooking utensils in their kitchens began to rattle at 7:45 a. m. No damage or casualties were reported in the city.

The center of the shock seems to have been about 12 to 15 miles south of Rome. The inhabitants of Albano and Genzano rushed from their houses in considerable alarm, but quiet was soon restored.

Sentence Former Harvard Gridder In Stock Fraud

BOSTON, March 23.—(AP.)—Charles E. Brickley, former Harvard football star, yesterday was sentenced to 15 months in the House of Correction, for conducting a bucket shop and larceny from clients, but a stay of execution of sentence was granted pending the filing of exceptions.

Brickley was accused of larceny of 33 shares of Gillette Safety Razor Company stock, and $2,195 in cash from Patrick Callahan of Boston and of a smaller sum from Mrs. Georgia Boynton of Marlboro.

ASKS $25,000 FOR FALL

John Underwood and Lillian Underwood, 38, his wife, 505 Atlanta street, North Side, have entered suit in Common Pleas Court against Edward Hotz and Lulu Hotz, his wife, 19 Straus street, North Side, asking $25,000 damages for personal injuries received by Mrs. Underwood. The plaintiffs allage that Mrs. Underwood, hired to do the Hotz housecleaning, fell eight feet from the top of a stepladder, suffering fractures of both arms and necessitating two hospital operations and bone graftings. She alleges Mrs. Hotz knew the ladder was defective.

MAY INDICT AVENGERS WHO KNIFED CHIEF

COLUMBIANA, Ala., March 23.—(AP.)—A special grand jury investigation was imminent and Police Chief H. F. Blake today lay with a wound in the neck from a hunting knife because two grief-stricken women had steadfastly refused to accept either his story or the formal pronouncement of a court of law about the death of Louise Monteabaro last November.

Blake, in the courtroom, was receiving congratulations of his friends, just after a jury had acquited him of murder of the pretty young woman when he fell victim to a sudden and frantic attack by Mrs. Mabel Monteabaro, 45, mother of the dead girl, and Miss Cecil Tubbs, 42, an aunt.

The mother's one pistol shot went wild, but the girl's aunt, by a sudden lunge, inflicted a knife wound which the doctors feared might prove fatal to the former head of police in Calera, Ala. Paralysis of one arm was predicted, in case he lived.

Blake was put on trial for the murder of Miss Monteabaro virtually because Mrs. Monteabaro, Miss Tubbs and other relatives of the girl persistently refused to accept his official story of her death —that she committed suicide after he and Officer W. D. Farmer arrested her for speeding near the small town of Calera. Their insistence brought on an investigation which resulted in indictment of the two officers. Farmer is scheduled for later trial.

Mrs. Monteabaro would make no statement on the affair, saying that she had been on a great strain, but apparently not intentionally linking this with her action.

Late yesterday, Mrs. Monteabaro, Miss Tubbs and A. H. Tubbs, brother of the two women, who had been with them in court, had been arrested and moved to jail in Birmingham.

T. M. GIRDLER
Mr. Girdler, president of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, yesterday was elected a director of the Union National Bank of Pittsburgh. Mr. Girdler became head of the Jones & Laughlin corporation in January, after serving since 1914 successively as assistant to the general superintendent of the Aliquippa works at Woodlawn; general superintendent there, general manager of all plants and properties, and as a vice president, director and member of the executive committee.

DORIS GOES TO CELL FOR LIFE -:- AS GALLOWS SWING -:- M'DONALD INTO ETERNITY

GETS KING'S MERCY

Doris Palmer McDonald, former Pittsburgher, found guilty in the murder of a taxicab driver, went into a Montreal cell "for her natural life" as her common-law husband, George C. McDonald, walked to the gallows early this morning to pay the penalty for the murder. Doris, at the last minute, was granted King's Mercy. Above are shown Doris, as she waits for life to drag by in her cell; the cell corridor in which she and her husband were last imprisoned together; the little Montreal jail which has sheltered the notorious couple, and little Kenneth Allen, Doris' son by her first marriage, who will wait in vain for his mother to return.

PINCHOT'S DRY CASES CLOG COURTS

The vigorous crusade of former Gov. Gifford Pinchot to "dry up" Pennsylvania continues to occupy the attention of the courts. Victims of four years of incessant raiding by state police are listed for trial or plea, nearly always plea, every week or two in Criminal Court. The disposition is virtually always the same: "Pay the costs and depart."

Yesterday the Criminal Court list of Pinchot cases was unusually heavy, with about 50 defendants listed on illegal liquor charges, most of them were from Braddock, Rankin and East Pittsburgh and were raided by the state police in 1923, 1924 and 1925, at the addresses listed.

In the first half hour of pleas, 14 defendants were rushed through the mill. Among them were: Christ Dimling, 144 Sixth street; Edward Loehr, bartender, and Thomas Phillips, proprietor, hotel, on Beech street, East Pittsburgh; Joseph Gumbert, Elizabeth road, Lincoln township; Timothy R. Long, roadhouse Versailles township; Jacob Weinberger, 1020 Washington street, Braddock; George Radovic, hotel, Rankin; Nick Komlenovic, inn, Rankin; Andy Kanarkouski, Talbot avenue, Braddock; Elizabeth Pallak, Washington avenue, Braddock; Charles Perrone, Miller street, Rankin; Esther Matusick, Washington street, Braddock. All were discharged on payment of costs. Tony Mulch, Millvale hotel proprietor, pleading to three charges, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and costs. He was stated to be serving a jail sentence imposed in the federal courts. Rose Kramer, on a charge of keeping a disorderly house, was fined $20 and costs.

Husband 'Seldom Sober,' Woman Asks Divorce

Her husband was seldom sober and often times while on a "spree" he would threaten her life, Sarah Periebach testified in divorce proceedings against August Periebach, who is charged with cruel and barbarous treatment.

Mrs. Periebach, who now lives at 5721 Darlington road, said that while she and her husband conducted a store in McTlin township, she was continually in fear of her husband. She is represented by Attorney Harry E. McWhinney.

New Barbara Lee Coats Are Surprising at the Price

9 New Styles for Women — $65.00 — 7 New Styles for Misses

There is a definite reason for customers adjudging these coats the equal of coats regularly seen at much higher prices. Barbara Lee coats, like dresses bearing the same name, are chosen by a committee composed of fashion representatives of seventeen smart stores, this concentration being responsible for their unusual style value, and the combined buying of these seventeen stores, for their striking qualities.

The new models are a joy to see, with their fine cloth and silk fabrics, their horseshoe and scarf collars of goliak, ermine and other smart furs; the cape styles and other youthful effects in misses' models, the richness and dignity of models for women.

Special Values in Wear Weave Coats

Misses' at $39.50

Unfurred coats of imported and domestic service coatings, in straightline and cape styles.

Women's at $49.50

OHIO SHERIFF TO CURB MINE REDS

UNION HEADS HELP QUELL DISORDER

STEUBENVILLE, March 23.—Steps to curb the activities of what union leaders term a "bolshevic element" among the striking miners in Jefferson county, were being considered here by Sheriff William Allison on his return from Dillonvale, where calm prevailed after a mob storm.

REVEAL I. W. W.'S HAND

Walter Jackovitch, member of the district board of the Mine Workers Union co-operated with the authorities in keeping down disorder, informing miners and their sympathizers that the union frowned upon such demonstrations as that at Dillon No. 1 mine of the Wheeling & Lake Erie Coal Company, where the sheriff was openly defied by a mob which refused to clear the highways.

Jackovitch, according to the sheriff, revealed that I. W. W. agitators have been holding meetings in Dillonvale and have been inciting strikers to violence and urging them to disregard the counsel of their leaders.

This element, according to Jackovitch, has been responsible for most of the Dillonvale trouble.

Following the sheriff's request for troops, which Governor Donahey denied, the road patrols at Dillonvale were augmented by the sheriff and no further trouble developed, only a small crowd gathering on the hillside above the county highway, from which point they jeered the non-union workers and the officers.

COURT PAYS TRIBUTE TO DECEASED CLERK

SUSPECT HELD IN ATTACK

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 23.—(AP.)—Harry Kerns, 49, is near death in a hospital here suffering a fracture at the base of the brain and other head injuries as the result of being attacked yesterday. Police are holding Harry Page as his alleged assailant.

A furnace shaker found near the scene of the attack was believed by police to be the weapon with which Kerns was struck. Page several months ago had Kerns arrested for alleged intimacy with his wife.

DIME, POTATO COST AT MINERS' BENEFIT

ZANESVILLE, O., March 23.—A dime and a potato was the price of admission to a local theater when it raised money and food for destitute miners in this district.

GIRL SLAYER TO INSIST CHARGE BE PREFERRED

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., March 23.—Following the failure of Canton detectives to secure a change in the original story told by William D. Herron, 41, this city, that he tossed the body of Viola May, 23, his sister-in-law, into the Tuscarawas River after choking her to death in his machine, Russell C. Bowers, former prosecuting attorney and one of Herron's counsel, announced that he will not ask a jury to acquit his client, but that he will institute habeas corpus proceedings to force the prosecution to make a charge against Herron if the grand jury does not indict him in time.

Regardless of whether the girl's body is recovered or not, Herron will plead to the offense of which he is guilty.

Bowers added:

"It's only a question of the degree of the offense," he said.

It is believed by the defense that Prosecuting Attorney James E. Patrick will let the grand jury at the April term of court decide the charge. The defense will resist any attempt to indefinitely keep Herron in confinement.

A row-boat manned by two men continued to drag Tuscarawas River between the white bridge, where Herron said he dropped the body, and Dover.

TWO RUN DOWN BY AUTOS

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 23.—Two persons were run down by automobiles here, John Hughes, 77, of Henderson avenue, being in a serious condition in the Washington Hospital with a possible skull fracture. He was hit by Lucian Spriggs, of 35 Murtland avenue. Hughes stepped directly in front of the car between streets.

Isabella Griffin, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Griffin, of 105 West Walnut street, was hit by a car driven by Thomas J. Gooch of Thayer street, but was not badly hurt.

Makes Your Skin Twice As Lovely

Good Old-Fashioned Buttermilk Best For Complexion—Inexpensive, Too.

Woman today in her mad scramble for beauty has overlooked one of the simplest yet one of the most marvelous beautifiers the world has ever known and it comes right out of Mother Nature's own generous hand, too—plain old-fashioned buttermilk.

If you haven't tried it, there is a genuine thrill in store for you because the difference it makes in your skin is almost unbelievable.

You can get the real old-fashioned buttermilk combined with a wonderful cream if you ask your druggist for Howard's Buttermilk Cream. Just give yourself a gentle massage with it tonight for a few minutes—that's all that's necessary. Buttermilk supplies all those properties you usually have to buy a dozen or more creams in order to get; it nourishes and invigorates the skin. It is a gentle astringent that tends to reduce enlarged pores and leaves the skin ready for powder.

The first trial will absolutely change your whole idea about creams, but if you aren't satisfied May's Drug Stores will refund your

What madam reads about in the fashion bulletins she finds at Gimbels . . . and the prices are startlingly low. The talked-of kashara fabrics, pliable and smooth; Anadyr, Laurette and Norma, the soft woolens; twills and the diagonal weaves, faille and satins—are noted in just the styles that are enjoying immediate favor. Furs, when used at all, are:

Fitch Butter Mole Broadtail
Squirrel, Natural and Dyed
Fox Summer Ermine Monkey Fur

Here are the scarf necklines in all their variations; the cape backs of uncertain dimensions; the tucked and seamed coats; the furred cuffs or the plain sleeves that assume wider proportions . . . and so many other new details that we have not space to list.

Sports Coats, Too in This Grouping

LAYS MISTAKE TO ARCHIE'S DRINKS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 23.—A four-year-old mystery, involving a $68,000 Harry F. Sinclair check—which Archie Roosevelt thought went to Albert B. Fall—was explained today at the Senate Oil inquiry by Merritt W. Baldwin, of New Haven, Conn., former confidential secretary to Sinclair.

Baldwin said the check was sent Sam Hildreth, trainer of Sinclair's racing stable. Roosevelt had seen the check, said Baldwin, and afterwards declared it was a check "payable to the foreman of Fall's farm" in New Mexico.

It was this check that caused Archie to resign a post with Sinclair on the advice of his brother, Theodore Roosevelt, then Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

BLAMES DRINKS

Baldwin explained Archie's mistake by saying "they had had a couple of drinks."

It was on February 21, 1924, that Archie Roosevelt told the Senate committee about seeing the check. He came before the committee with his brother. Archie said G. D. Walberg, another Sinclair secretary, had shown him the check. Later Walberg took the stand and declared Archie was mistaken, saying they had talked "about six or eight cows on Fall's farm."

"Archie visited Walberg's office and they had quite a few highballs," said Baldwin. "I came in and saw the $68,000 check in Walberg's desk. I took it and said, 'The chief has signed this, so I better shoot it out to Hildreth.'

"Walberg showed it to Archie. It was a check for $68,000 to Sam Hildreth—his year's payment. Hildreth got $25,000 in salary and 10 per cent of the purses won."

The next night, Baldwin said, Walberg sent for him because Archie had telephoned him from Washington.

ARCHIE TOLD

"He told me about Archie telling that he had said the check was for the foreman of Fall's ranch," Baldwin added. "He said: 'I could hear Teddy listening in and I didn't know what was up.'

"He was very much troubled by Archie's statements. He knew that Archie wouldn't tell a lie and he knew he hadn't said what Archie said he had.

"I told him he shouldn't worry that maybe it was because they had had a couple of drinks. 'No,' he said. 'That's nothing to do with it.' The check was to Hildreth and I mailed it out myself that night."

Baldwin said Walberg resigned because of this incident, but that Sinclair had only laughed when he heard about it.

"Just what position did Archie Roosevelt try to fill?"

"He had a desk on the exploration floor."

"What were his duties?"

"I could never tell."

$10,000 FOR 2 TRAIN DEATHS

For the loss of her husband and daughter, killed by a passenger train, Mary Tacchino, of Primrose, was awarded $10,000 by a jury in Common Pleas Court today against the Pennsylvania Railroad. The husband, Louis, 35, and daughter, Alice, 8, were killed March 27, 1926, when a truck in which they were riding was struck at Primrose. The wife had sued for $35,000.

THREE INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Two employes of the Hermes-Groves Dairy Company, working on a wagon, were injured early today when the wagon was struck by an automobile at Fifth and Amberson avenues. They are Albert Cornelius, 32, of 1257 Adams street, and Charles Cober, 20, of 400 Whitney street. Both are in the Homeopathic Hospital, where it was said Cornelius had suffered a possible fracture of the skull. Cober was injured about the body. Herman J. Dillar, 30, of 214 Emerson street, driver of the automobile, was cut and bruised. He was arrested on a reckless driving charge.

WASHINGTON, PA., PLANS $100,000 STREET WORK

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 23.—Autoists using through traffic thoroughfares soon will find the going better here. Council decided to issue $100,000 bonds to improve such streets.

TECH VOTES ON CAMPUS QUEEN

As a result of voting by day students of Carnegie Institute of Technology, 15 senior co-eds have been nominated as candidates for Campus Week Queen to reign during the annual festivities on May 4 and 5. Of the fifteen chosen to enter the semi-final elimination, eight represent the college of fine arts and seven are students in the Margaret Morrison Carnegie College. Nine of the nominees live in the Pittsburgh district.

The fifteen candidates are: Jean Boy, 265 South Pacific avenue, Charlotte L. Wardale, 5418 Kentucky avenue, Roe Bonita, 6335 Douglas avenue, Carolyn M. Edmonds, 4943 Windsor street, Pittsburgh; Mary R. Snodgrass, 97 Spruce avenue, Bellevue, Pa.; Jean Mather, 723 Maple place, Swissvale, Pa.; Melba E. Leet, 125 Linden avenue, Edgewood, Pa.; Margaret E. Bittner, 761 Mahrick street, Mt. Lebanon, Pa.; Elianne Patton, 2758 Glenmawr street, Sheriden, Pa.; M. Elizabeth McFadden, Middleport, N. Y.; Lucile E. Galbraith, Butler, Pa.; M. Jean Springer, Silver Spring, Md.; H. Evelyn Offutt, New Castle, Pa.; Lucille J. Borrell, East Cleveland, O.; Mildred H. Young, Canton, O.

Next Wednesday a vote will be conducted to reduce the candidates to three. The final election is scheduled April 11.

Four Perfect Bridge Hands In One Deal

Universal Service.

FORT MADISON, Ia., March 23.—The goddess of chance was responsible for four perfect bridge hands here. The story was told by District Court Judge John E. Craig, who not only drew the best hand of the lot, but also cut the cards before they were dealt.

Miss P. Ehart shuffled the cards. Judge Craig cut them and Miss Ehart dealt herself a full hand of hearts, to Mr. A. R. Rye a perfect diamond hand, to Mrs. Rye she dealt 13 clubs and to Judge Craig she dealt a perfect hand of spades.

CIGARET BOOTLEGGING MAY FORCE LAW REPEAL

WESTON, W. Va., March 23.—The village law of Salem, which is responsible for the bootlegging of cigarets in that town, is to be contested by merchants, who have obtained state licenses to sell the articles. For years the sale of cigarets has been banned and bootleggers have reaped a harvest. Council at a recent meeting by a four-to-two vote defeated a motion to repeal the law. Buckhannon and Weston have repealed their anti-cigaret laws.

ARREST ALDERMAN WITH CONSTABLE

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 23.—Alderman S. Krise, of the Eighth Ward; his son, George, and Constable Ambrose Berkebile are under arrest on charges of extortion, following a check-up of aldermanic dockets by the district attorney's office.

'FRIENDLESS' WHEELING YOUTH DRINKS POISON

WHEELING, W. Va., March 23.—"I am without friends and lonely, but I shall probably find plenty of company where I am going now," wrote Howard Townsend, 27, who drank poison mixed with ginger ale. He is expected to recover.

Short Talks by Thoughtful Mothers

A New England Mother says, "Our children are very susceptible to coughs and colds. Being located some distance from town, we felt the need of a good dependable cough medicine, and when our druggist recommended Foley's Honey and Tar Compound as the best in his experience, we accepted his judgment gladly. For coughs, croup, whooping-cough, troublesome night coughs, bronchial coughs, we have tried it time and again, always with complete satisfaction." Sold everywhere.

FEEL DRAGGED OUT

During the cold and fatigue of winter days, the human system often requires the strength building aid of a good tonic. That's why Todd's Tonic is recommended from coast to coast. It has the strength building qualities of rare old wine. It builds vitality.

VOTE MACHINE EXPLAINED TO WOMEN

A demonstration of the voting machine was given in the auditorium of the Edgewood High School last night under the auspices of the Edgewood unit of the League of Women Voters.

Frank A. Stone, of Jamestown, N. Y., a representative of the Automatic Registering Machine Company, explained the manner in which the machine was operated. He enumerated the advantages of the machine, which is now being used in nine states, including New York.

Mrs. J. O. Miller, state chairman of the League of Women Voters, indorsed the machine and urged those in attendance to support the proposed amendment to the constitution which would install the voting machine in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Miller also urged the support of the other proposed amendments to the state constitution which will be voted upon in the November election. Mrs. Miller said the machine insures a faster and more accurate count than the present ballot system and eliminates the possibilities of voting more than once.

SYMPHONY SOC. PROGRAM

Announcement was made by the Pittsburgh Symphony Society that Elias Breeskin would conduct the second concert of the society to be held Sunday evening at Syria Mosque. Breeskin has been associate conductor, drill master and concert master of the Pittsburgh Symphony from its inception in 1926, but will appear for the first time as a conductor of the orchestra in his own right on Sunday night, with Margaret Matzenauer as soloist.

The program:

Prelude to "Die Meistersinger"....Wagner
(Played in memory of Carl Bernthaler, whose spirit was dominant in keeping alive the interest for a symphony orchestra in Pittsburgh. This work was his favorite and a tribute to him during the last days of his life.)
"Oh don Fatale" from "Don Carlos"...Verdi
Margaret Matzenauer.
Symphony, No. 5, Op. 67, C Minor....Beethoven
Allegro con brio.
Andante con moto.
Scherzo-Allegro.
Allegro.
(a) Adagietto ....Bizet
(b) Tambourin Chinois ....Kreisler
(Adapted for Orchestra by Jan M. Falck of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra and played for the first time.)
(c) Shepherd's Hey ....Grainger
"Mon coeur s'ouvre a ta voix" from "Samson and Delilah"....Saint-Saens
Margaret Matzenauer.
Overture, "Solennelle 1812," Op. 49....Tschaikowsky

SCHEDULE HIKE FOR SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The hike scheduled for Sunday for the Pittsburgh Hiking Club will start at the city end of the Jack's Run bridge. Those participating in the hike will take car No. 6, 13, 14 or 15, leaving Pittsburgh about 2 p. m., to Wynhurst street. The distance to be covered is about six miles.

Can't Be Funny At Race Tracks, Will Admits

ATLANTA, Ga., March 22.—Why try to be funny when an association does it for you?

This week's prize for humor goes to the Maryland Racing Association for barring Harry Sinclair's horses from races. Be a good joke if the Senate investigated them. I suppose all the touts at the Maryland tracks will have to live at the Y. M. C. A.

WILL ROGERS

and the bookmakers will have to show their church cards. They will have Governor Ritchie making prohibition speeches.

It's a great country when you are down and out.

Well, Harry, I hope Oklahoma don't get so pure that they refuse your taxes.

If they do we will all the rest of us go to work.

GIRL'S DEATH PLUNGE LAID TO SUITOR'S BETRAYAL

GIRL HURT IN LEAP TO "ESCAPE" POLICE

Believing that the police were making an unexpected visit to a house at 24 Perry street, where she was attending a party early today, Lulu May Cash, 18, a Negress, whose address is unknown, jumped out of the second floor window and crashed through an outside cellar door into the basement of the house, police say. At the Passavant Hospital it was said she was injured about the body. Police learned a cab driver had passed the house and called out that police were coming. Police, investigating, found nothing wrong.

WOOER JAILED DAY SET FOR MARRIAGE

Universal Service.

CHICAGO, March 23.—Betty Blayney, of West Alexander, Pa., took the 35-story leap to death from the Tribune tower here because she had been betrayed by a suitor, it was disclosed yesterday.

Last January 24 she had waited at a fashionable hotel here for Robert Preston, of San Francisco. She was to have been married to him on that day.

But Preston, alias "Senior Lieutenant" Peter Standway of London, alias Gerald Blair had been arrested a few hours before on a charge of operating a confidence game, and is still in jail, authorities stated.

A few days before that Preston, or Blair, took Betty to Hammond, Ind., on a motor trip.

The girl, a graduate of the University of Illinois, was identified by a newspaper photograph. When shown the picture of the girl and told she had committed suicide, Preston collapsed. Later, he told how he had met Miss Blayney, how he took her to Hammond, Ind., on the pretense to marry her, how he convinced her he was an English nobleman and how she became broken hearted when she discovered he had a wife and child in Santa Barbara, Cal. Preston claims he is the son of Robert Preston, Sr., a San Francisco real estate man. Preston is also wanted at Omaha, Neb., on a charge of obtaining money fraudulently from the Chamber of Commerce.

BURNED IN DIVE, CAN'T COLLECT

Joseph Jakuborsky's attempt to obtain $25,000 damages from the woman in whose speakeasy he was burned, failed in Common Pleas Court today when Judge Harry H. Rowand threw out the case.

Jakuborsky recited that he paid $8 for moonshine which he drank in Mrs. Annie Anisky's place in Library, falling asleep but awakening abruptly only to discover that he had rolled against a gas stove.

Judge Rowand felt Jakuborsky had contributed to the negligence shown.

GETS DAMAGES FROM BROTHER

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 23.—In a brother against brother case in civil court here, Bernardino Antonini of East Bethlehem township was awarded damages of $4,478.33 for injuries suffered in an auomobile accident. Edorno Antonini of East Bethlehem being the driver and defendant in the action.

The machine crashed into an abutment. Bernardino was in a hospital for a month and his jaws are still paralyzed, he being unable to masticate his food. He charged his brother with reckless driving.

JEANNE EAGLES IN EQUITY ROW

NEW YORK, March 23.—(INS.)—Jeanne Eagels, star in "Her Cardboard Lover," now on the road at St. Louis, Mo., has been directed by the Actors Equity to appear personally or by proxy before the regular council meeting of that body on April 3 to answer charges that she had violated her contract with her show, it was stated at Equity headquarters here.

Miss Eagels left her show at Milwaukee several days ago, the management of the theater at which she was then billed having announced that the star was too ill to appear. She is now in New York, although when "Her Cardboard Lover" moved from Milwaukee to St. Louis it was announced that her health would not permit her to move from the Wisconsin city. She spent part of yesterday conferring with her attorney, it was stated.

PICKETS FLAUNT COURT ORDER AT ARNOLD

CHARLEROI, Pa., March 22.—More than 150 striking coal miners yesterday were on active picket duty in the Arnold City mine region of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, near here, regardless of the "10 pickets only" injunction which went out from Fayette county courts recently.

Officials of the United Mine Workers of America directed that the strikers take their places at the two Arnold City mines. Union miners have been regarding the sheriff's order and the instructions of state police on patrol there, as to the size of the picket forces. Yesterday, however, the situation suddenly turned when trucks began arriving from various points in the upper Monongahela Valley carrying strikers to amplify the picket lines. The men were recruited from Charleroi, California, Bellevernon and Fayette City.

No disorder has occurred and the pickets have not been disturbed by either state police or coal and iron officers.

All of the picketers who appeared were in pairs and they traversed the main highways and property bordering on the coal territory.

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

Irene Rich to Leave Warners And Join Ranks of Hollywood Army of Free Lance Players

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, March 23.

IRENE RICH and Warner Brothers are saying "au revoir." After a four and a half years' association Irene has decided to join the ranks of free-lance artists and see how it is to forage for herself in the matter of stories and directors. Her contract with Warners is not really up until July, but she has asked to be released.

While both Miss Rich and Warners declare that all is beautiful and friendly, I happen to know Miss Rich was a little bit annoyed when she was loaned to another studio without her consent to play the lead in "The Perfect Crime," opposite Clive Brooks. Miss Rich feels that if she is to be loaned she would like to choose her own vehicle.

Having been on the Warner lot for 4½ years, naturally Miss Rich is looking for a change. With David Blankenhorn, one of Los Angeles' wealthy business men for a husband, she doesn't have to worry about the matter of jobs. She can sit back and wait until she gets what she wants. That ought to please her after years of hard work to support her two little girls.

The gateman at the Sennett studios is a busy man these days. King Vidor and his troupe are doing a Sennett comedy over there and the studio has been especially opened for this event. His troupe includes Marion Davies, William Haines, Kalla Pasha, Harry Gribben and some players who were once a part of the old Keystone Comedy Company. The Sennett comedy is all a part of "Polly Preferred" and they are having more fun making it. The spectators are also having a good time watching them in action.

By the way, speaking of Keystone comedies, did you ever know it takes an artist to throw a custard pie straight in a slapstick comedy? I never did until Harry Gribbon, ex-Sennett actor and now playing a director in "Polly Preferred," Marion Davies' next picture, explained to me how many pies were wasted just to get that shot. Later I verified his statement by watching Marion give Kalla Pasha the contents of a gooey custard pie right smack in the face. They rehearsed and rehearsed to get this scene. Poor Kalla Pasha was covered with custard from his nose to his toes. But he didn't seem to mind it. The only thing he said was "No one better say 'pie' to me for the next six weeks."

Hollywood has been deader than the proverbial door nail for the past two months. Don't let anyone in an optimistic moment tell you differently. The studios have had fewer companies working than at any time since Hollywood was first discovered as the motion picture center of the universe. But it's different now. Things have picked up amazingly the last few weeks. And they will continue to pick up. Warners officially opened March 15 and Universal has set April 15 as the day when the shutters will be opened. Bill Desmond will do the honors by starting work on a serial called "The Mystery Rider." While the other studios are reopening, the Hal Roach studios will shut down for the annual vacation of five weeks a little earlier this year than usual. Mr. Roach, who is traveling in the Orient with Mrs. Roach, will not return to California before June or possibly July.

If you call the roll and page any missing players you are pretty apt to find a large share of them at the Tiffany-Stahl Company.

This company is apparently trying to steal Harry Cohn's stuff and sign as many available actors as possible. The latest one to be discovered at the T. S. studios is Malcolm McGregor, who is the male appeal in "Stormy Waters," with sad-eyed Eve Southern furnishing the feminine interest.

LOIS BENNETT
Miss Bennett as she appears in character in 'The Mikado,' opening Monday night in the Alvin and to be repeated tonight.

MUSICAL PLAYS BOOKED

"My Maryland," coming to the Alvin next Monday night for the week, had an opening seat sale forecasting another record week here for this popular operetta, according to John B. Reynolds, manager of the Alvin. The company seen here in November is returning.

Vincent Youmans is the producer and composer of "Hit the Deck" and the story is by Herbert Fields, son of Lew Fields, the well-known comedian. "Hit the Deck" will appear in the Nixon for one week, beginning Monday night, March 26.

Pat Henning and company is a family act booked for the Davis next week. The son is "Pat" and the parents, Fred and Ann Henning are the "company." The screen feature will be Olive Borden in "Come to My House."

SHANNOPIN CLUB TO HONOR J. I. THOMPSON

J. I. Thompson, retiring president of the Shannopin Country Club, Ben Avon Heights, will be the guest of honor at a testimonial dinner given by the members Thursday evening, March 29, in the clubhouse. A portrait of Mr. Thompson will be presented to the club by N. C. Eyster, president.

LINDY "RIDES" 40 ON CONGRESSIONAL AIR TOUR

TOT 4, MAN 84 PASSENGERS

WASHINGTON, March 23. — (AP.) — A procession of Washington notables swarmed upon Bolling Field again today for the honor of sailing through the air with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

As fast as he landed with one cargo, he swept into the air again with another and included among his guests, Senator Nye, of North Dakota; Ernest I. Lewis, member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Miss Alice Davis, daughter of the secretary of war.

Interest was livened at the field when a report broke out that Lindbergh would take up John Coolidge, son of the President, who is spending Easter vacation at the White House. There was no verification of the report.

The young hero of the air had made 40 trips as a congressional "taxi driver" by noon today. He has extended the privilege to more than 350 Congressmen and members of their families during the past three days.

The youngest to swing over Washington with Lindbergh was James Nye, four-year-old son of the North Dakota Senator, and the oldest, the 84-year-old father of Representative Leavitt, of Montana.

COUNTESS VICTOR FACES APPEAL

International News Service

NEW YORK, March 23.—Counsel for Mrs. Alice Bland Corbett, who yesterday lost her $250,000 balm suit against Countess Marqueen Gwendolyn Soranzo, announced today that they would appeal.

The jury, which reached its verdict in Supreme Court here after four hours of deliberation, decided that Mrs. Corbett is not entitled to damages. Mrs. Corbett, the wife of James J. Corbett, now in Sing Sing prison, brought suit for alienation of affections. She claimed that the countess, who was then Miss Stevenson, knew Corbett had a wife when she eloped with him to Buffalo, N. Y., where they went through an illegal marriage ceremony.

Mrs. Corbett, claiming that Corbett abandoned her and their baby, alleged that the society girl pursued Corbett and stole his love.

The countess' father, Frederick A. Stevenson, wealthy vice president of the American Car and Foundry Company, was elated over the verdict.

"VINDICATED!"

"We've been vindicated!" he said. "The only reason we went through with this thing was to clear my daughter's name."

The former Miss Stevenson was married to an Italian nobleman after annulling her alliance with Corbett.

It was learned that three elderly jurors held out for Alice, who is a department store saleagirl, on the ground that the countess must have been in the wrong because of her cabarsting and alcoholic revelry.

Young jurors, however, argued the grayheards down with orations upon the present day propriety of such enjoyments.

The defeated Mrs. Corbett remains a very busy litigant. Through her attorney, Leo Schwartz, she is appealing and prosecuting a divorce suit against her husband.

Countess Soranzo, named in the blonde Alice's divorce action, will return to Florence, Italy, with her titled spouse, according to her father.

SCHWAB DENIES BREAKING PACT WITH UNION

CARNEGIE TECH GIRLS -:- SEEK "QUEEN OF MAY" ROLE -:- FOR CAMPUS WEEK

FIRST BALLOT

Fifteen co-eds at Carnegie Institute of Technology have been chosen by the student body in its first election as candidates for the "Queen of the May" role for Campus Week, May 4 and 5. Above are Miss Rae Broida, Miss Lucille Barrell, Miss Melba Leet and Miss Jean Springer.

CONTINUES NEXT WEEK

Next week the second ballot in the annual selection will narrow this field of 15 co-eds to only three, from which the Queen will be chosen. Maids of honor for the Queen will be the two runners-up. Here are Miss Marjory Snodgrass, Miss Lucilla Talmish, Miss Margaret Bittner and Miss Jean Mather.

FINALS

The final election, definitely appointing the Campus Queen, will be April 11. These candidates above are Miss Mary Elizabeth McFadden, Miss Charlotte Wardale and Miss Jean Roy.

HONOR

Selection, of course, is one of the highest honors of the year. These girls, Miss Carolyn Edmundson, Miss Evelyn Offutt and Miss Mildred Young, are still in the running and, like all girls, no doubt, secretly covet the honor of selection.

SCHWAB DENIES HE BROKE PACT

he," made to Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, when the latter was pressing him in regard to the breaking of the Jacksonville agreement, may be cited as characteristic.

"You are not a bad fellow, Senator," said Schwab. "When I came here I was afraid of you. They told me you would give me the devil."

The Bethlehem Steel chairman said that since the Homestead strike of 1892 he had never had any serious labor trouble in any of his companies. The workers have a sort of company union, which operates so successfully, according to Schwab, that while the arrangement provides for arbitration of disputes in serious cases by the Secretary of Labor, it has never been necessary to call on him.

Schwab said the natural laws of supply and demand should govern labor relationships. "The creation of an artificial condition," he explained, "can never be lasting."

Mines His "Thorns"

While boasting that his company's mining towns in central Pennsylvania were model communities, he said he would be glad to get out of the mining business, as it was "the most troublesome, the most difficult, and the most unsatisfactory" of all the Bethlehem Steel Corporation's activities.

Incidentally, he said, he had never made a dollar out of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. His work for it had been "a labor of love," he said; and since his fortune was made, and he had all the wealth he desired, he was anxious to do what he could for the betterment of humanity and the improvement of industrial conditions.

Won't Meet Miners

He said that agitation such as was involved in the Senate investigation of the coal strike was not beneficial, but hurt the workers. He would do everything he could that would help the committee, he promised; he would visit Ellsworth and personally investigate the conditions complained of in his mines; but he would attend no meeting of the committee, the operators and the miners that might embarrass him in carrying out his own labor policy in his own establishments.

Modification of the anti-trust laws to permit coal operators to maintain prices that would enable them to pay good wages while at the same time realizing a fair return on their investment, was a mere palliative, Schwab said, and he did not approve of it. He urged that miners be directed into other industries as the best plan to cure the fundamental ill of over-production in the coal industry.

At the conclusion of his testimony Schwab was photographed with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., John L. Lewis and the Senate Committee. Shaking hands with Rockefeller, who is to be the next witness, Schwab turned to the Senators and said:

"I want so much to say that you are fortunate to have interested in this problem this good man. I mean Mr. Rockefeller. I have known him and his great father for years."

R. B. Mellon was expected to take the stand today.

With Schwab, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and R. B. Mellon were called upon for their views on the ills besetting the soft coal industry.

Schwab was the first of the trio to take the stand. Before doing so he shook hands with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, who has testified before the committee that deplorable conditions exist among idle miners in the coal fields.

Congressman Charles A. Eaton, of New Jersey, who was formerly John D. Rockefeller's pastor in Cleveland, took a seat beside Schwab in the front row. He said he was associated with Schwab for 10 months during the war.

Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, chairman of the committee, presided.

Schwab gave his occupation as chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. He was questioned by Oliver K. Eaton, of counsel for the United Mine Workers.

Schwab said that the Bethlehem Mines Corporation, a subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel, turned 80 or 90 per cent of its output of coal over to the parent company.

"Position Honorary"

Schwab said he desired to state at the outset that during the last five years his position as chairman was largely honorary and in an advisory capacity on important matters.

Eaton asked if the company's labor policy would be an important matter on which Schwab would be consulted, and he said it was.

Schwab was asked if he knew of the Jacksonville agreement made by his company with the United Mine Workers. He said he knew of it in only a general way from reading of it in the newspapers.

Schwab said he would like to tell, uninterrupted, of his labor policy, and was told to proceed. He talked continuously for a long time.

Labor "System"

Schwab said the labor problem was an economic problem in which the factors were supply and demand, and that the making of sensational charges, such agitation as that in the present coal investigation did not help, but hurt the working people.

He said he first turned his attention to labor troubles in the Homestead steel strike of 1892, and as a result of what he learned then he worked out the policy now followed in the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

The Bethlehem Corporation, he said, has a plan under which the employes elect delegates who lay their disputes before the officials of the company. As he explained it, the system appears to be what is generally known as the "company union" system.

Won't Admit "Break"

Schwab said the system was a modified sort of "collective bargaining," and had worked well. The plan contemplated, he said, calling on the secretary of labor as an arbitrator, in case the workmen and the company could not settle a dispute themselves, but it had never been necessary in 10,000 cases to resort to arbitration.

After Schwab had concluded his speech Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, asked him how he justified the breaking of the Jacksonville agreement.

"I won't admit for a moment," said Schwab, "that we broke the agreement. I don't know anything about the agreement, but I won't admit we broke it."

Schwab Evasive

Wheeler asked Schwab if he would regard inability to make money under a contract as justification for breaking it. Schwab said he could imagine a condition under which it would be to the benefit of all concerned to modify it. Wheeler tried to press him further, but Schwab, on the ground that the questions were hypothetical or that he was not personally acquainted with the situation, evaded giving clear, direct answers.

Schwab said his miners were in good condition and that there was no trouble in his mines. He said the miners held $3,000,000 of the preferred stock of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. He said the Bethlehem mining camps in central Pennsylvania were model communities and he would like the committee to visit them.

Senator Frank R. Gooding, of Idaho, asked Schwab if he was acquainted with Ellsworth, a Bethlehem Mines Corporation town in Washington county, where conditions were described as horrifying by the Rev. Father John S. Krok, a Catholic priest there. Schwab said he never had been in Ellsworth, but would make it his business to pay it a visit.

Schwab said he admitted that the coal industry was in deplorable condition. He said surplus miners should find other work. This started a long discussion as to economic conditions.

Senator Gooding wanted to know if the steel industry was not overdeveloped. Schwab said he did not think so.

Schwab said that the business men of today favored high wages. He expressed some of his well-known optimistic views.

He was asked if he would be willing to attend a meeting of the operators, the United Mine Workers and the committee to devise some plan to remedy the ills of the coal industry.

"I won't attend such a meeting," said Schwab, "if it might embarrass me in carrying out my own labor policy in my own establishment; but I will do anything I can to help.

"I feel that my own plan of dealing with labor is the best that can be found. In 40 years I have had no serious strike in any of my works or mines. I don't call this flurry at Ellsworth a strike."

Against "Trust" Plan

Senator Watson asked Schwab if he would be in favor of repealing the Sherman anti-trust law so as to permit the coal operators to maintain prices that would enable them to pay good wages at the same time that they realized a fair profit on their investment.

"That is not the remedy," answered Schwab. "It would be a mere palliative and would not get to the heart of the matter."

The question of what constitutes fair wages came up, and Schwab stated that the average wage of the workers was 63 cents an hour.

Senator Wheeler said he was informed by Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers, that some of the Bethlehem Mines Corporation miners were paid as little as $3.50 a day.

"Do you justify a wage as low as that?" asked Senator James Couzens, of Michigan.

"It is pretty low," said Schwab. "I question if many of our men are paid so low a wage."

Senator Gooding had a tilt with Schwab shortly after this.

He said: "Mr. Schwab, you made a contract with the miners and you broke it."

Schwab said he would not admit he had broken it.

"And you evicted miners from their homes," continued Gooding. "And you shut off the light and water supply of Father S. Krok's church."

Schwab broke in to say that the committee would never get anywhere by making charges.

"You want conciliatory spirit," he said.

"We want to face the facts," said Gooding.

Schwab retorted that when he became president of the United States Steel Corporation Andrew Carnegie told him he would encounter things that would be well for him to close his eyes to.

Senator Wheeler said sarcastically:

"I suppose the committee ought to ignore those conditions that we have found."

"Keep Pact or Quit!"

Schwab asked Senator Wheeler what he would do in a situation such as that involved in the coal industry.

Wheeler announced that if he could not make money while operating on a wage contract with his workers, and if the workers would not consent to a modification of the contract, he would close his mines, but under no circumstances would he break the contract.

There was applause from the spectators.

"Where Is Bottom?"

"Then you would have left these poor people drift?" asked Schwab.

Wheeler, for answer, called attention to the wealth of Pittsburgh, and contrasted it with the miserable condition of the strikers living in the barracks on the outskirts of the town.

The question of wages came up again, and Schwab and John L. Lewis got into a debate.

Turning to the miners' leader, Schwab said:

"If you persist in demanding high wages you will not have many union miners left."

Lewis answered that the Ohio operators had adopted an agreement to fix wages on a competitive basis, as a result of competition wages at some places were down to $2 a day.

"Where is the bottom?" asked Lewis.

Schwab Ruffled

Schwab tried to turn off many questions with a joke. He was unable, however, to shake off Oliver K. Eaton in this way when Eaton began questioning him, earnestly and doggedly, about the conditions at Ellsworth.

Schwab became very impatient. He was close to being angry. He objected, he said, to being charged with things that he did not know anything about. No good purpose was being served by the questions, he said.

"I've promised to do whatever I can to improve conditions," said Schwab. "Why tell me what a bad fellow I am, in advance?"

But Schwab soon regained his good humor.

Eaton's stenographer whispered something to him.

"I don't have a charming woman to tell me what to say," said Schwab. He shook hands with the Senators and with Lewis on leaving the stand.

Warden Spurns Parley

William G. Warden, chairman of the board of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, was again before the Senate Coal Investigation Committee yesterday. He was asked if he would be willing to join with the committee, other operators, and representatives of the United Mine Workers in considering legislation for the rehabilitation of the soft coal industry.

Warden said he would never consent to sit at the same table with officials of the miners' union.

"We are running open shop," he said. "We have nothing to discuss with them."

Senators Frank R. Gooding of Idaho and Burton K. Wheeler of Montana pleaded with Warden not to take that attitude. They told him the Pittsburgh Coal Company owed it as duty a to the public to cooperate in efforts to do away with strikes and the other evils of the industry. But Warden remained firm in his stand.

"Do not close your mind to this invitation," said Senator Gooding. "think it over."

"Whether I be asked today, tomorrow, next month, or two months from now," said the Pittsburgh Coal Company chairman, "my answer will be the same. We have nothing to discuss with them."

Warden then read this formal statement:

"The policy of the Pittsburgh Coal Company is to continue to operate its mines efficiently on the open shop basis in the firm belief that under the present laws and economic conditions there is no other course that will give men in its employ the opportunity for steady work at the best wage rate possible or that offers opportunity for profit to its stockholders. I cannot as yet see any solution of the coal problem other than individual efficiency."

Warden admitted that the coal industry was in a "deplorable condition."

"When Miss Fannie Hurst was on the stand," he said, "she told us that what the industry needed was a new house, to replace the rickety old-fashioned structure in which the industry has been operating. That is what the Pittsburgh Coal Company is doing. It is building a new house."

"You are not doing it," said Senator Wheeler, "in the sense in which she meant it."

"You don't agree with your governor," suggested Senator Gooding, "in his proposal for legislation to rehabilitate the industry."

Warden refused to commit himself on that.

"It is a great disappointment and a shock to the committee," said Senator Gooding, "that we are not to have your co-operation."

Warden was again bidden to consider the public.

"The public," he rejoined, "doesn't have to be looked after. They are getting coal at less than cost, and all of it that they want. It will be time enough to consider the things you propose when a genuine demand comes from the public."

"Duped" by McCullough

Prior to this colloquy, Warden was quizzed on a number of things. He had brought with him, as requested, the minute books of the board of directors, and these were read into the record excerpts from these, dealing with the employment of E. S. McCullough, who, while posing as "industrial aide" of the Chamber of Commerce, tried, on behalf of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, to destroy the United Mines Workers organization in the Pittsburgh district. Warden had with him also checks amounting to about $18,000, which the Pittsburgh Coal Company gave to the Chamber of Commerce to pay McCullough's salary of $12,000 a year and that of his assistant, John Murphy, who was paid $100 a week.

Warden had the audience laughing over the dry remarks that he made in regard to McCullough. He admitted that McCullough had duped the company.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company chairman was questioned at length concerning its various bond issues. He told of one issue of $25,000,000 5 per cents, which was sold to the Union Trust Company in 1904 at 80 per cent of the par value, or $20,000,000, and redeemed at 110 per cent of the par value, the premium paid amounting to $2,251,369.93. The $20,000,000 loan cost the company $7,251,369.93. He also told of $6,250,000 of 5 per cent debentures issued in 1911 in exchange for preferred stock of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company.

Quizzed on Mine Police

Oliver Keaton, of counsel for the United Mines Workers, wanted to know if the Pittsburgh Coal Company had not accepted bonds guaranteed by the United States Steel Corporation in exchange for land that it sold to the H. C. Frick Coke Company, but Warden thought no bonds, but cash, was given.

After this subject was out of the way, Warden submitted letters exchanged between him and Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in regard to Capt. J. G. Searsh, of the railroad police, whom the Pittsburgh Coal Company "borrowed" from the Pennsylvania and used in the formation of its own police force. Warden was questioned at great length in regard to his conversations with Atterbury and in regard to the company's coal and iron police, but divulged nothing new.

The audience enjoyed his testimony, because it was seasoned with dry humor that provoked many smiles.

Senator Gooding stated that the committee had decided not to make public the Pittsburgh Coal Company's list of stockholders.

Just before Warden went on the stand William P. Belden of Cleveland, counsel for the Eastern Ohio Coal Operators' Association, announced that his clients had returned a negative to the request of the Senate Committee that a hearing, to be held in Columbus tomorrow on the application of five companies for the eviction of 400 strikers' families, be postponed. John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, had suggested that the hearing, which is to be held before Judge Benson W. Hough in the United States District Court, be postponed, because it would be inconvenient for the Union's attorneys and officers to leave the Senate hearings for the Columbus proceedings. The operators have asked Judge Hough for a mandatory injunction to compel the 400 families to vacate the company houses.

Belden said the date for the hearing had been fixed three weeks ago, and Lewis' public request for postponement was the first intimation that the United Mines Workers were not ready.

Lewis Lashes Operators

Lewis made a bitter reply. He said the operators' action in preparing to eject 2,000 persons, mostly women and children, for whose shelter the United Mines Workers have been unable to make provision, typified their unrelenting opposition to the union and their mad purpose to destroy it. He branded the operators as inhuman. They owed their prosperity, he declared, to the labor of the miners, yet, did not hesitate to treat them with medieval barbarism.

Senators Bitter

Senator Wheeler said:

"The operators' action in this case shows utter disregard and disrespect for the committee."

And Senator Gooding said:

"Every member of the committee was in hope that the operators would consent to a postponement. It is a distinct disappointment to the committee to hear this."

MUST BE NIMBLE FOR CARD TRICK

By HARDEEN.

The card manipulator wins by his nimble fingers. He trains them to work with such rapidity that it is impossible for the eye to follow the hands. The amateur will find that card tricks, although thoroughly explained to him, will at first seem impossible, but with practice anyone may reach a state of perfection.

HARDEEN.

A clever little trick which is useful in parlors and small circles and at the same time teaches you how to train the hand is to take 13 cards and arrange them in such an order as to enable you to spell out the cards in sequence from one (ace) to king, simply by holding the 13 cards in your hand with face downward and removing one card from the top with each letter you spell.

Preparation—Arrange the cards in the following sequence: 3-8-7-1-Q-6-4-2-J-K-10-9-5, which arrangement with face downward makes the 3 the top card and the 5 the bottom card.

Explanation—Commencing at the top you remove one card with each letter you spell, but be careful not to disarrange the sequence of the cards as previously prepared, viz., O-N-E, one; having removed one card with each letter, you turn over the fourth card when you pronounce the word one, and it will be found to be the ace. This you will place on the table, as you have no further use for the card, and if it is returned to the pack it will break up your sequence.

Next spell T-W-O, two, and the fourth card will be again turned up and discarded upon the table and will be found to be the two, or deuce card. Next T-H-R-E-E, three, is spelled and with the pronounciation of the word three, the card is turned up, discarded upon the table and will be found to be the three. Continue in this way to spell F-O-U-R, four; F-I-V-E, five; S-I-X, six; S-E-V-E-N, seven; E-I-G-H-T, eight; NINE, nine; TEN, ten; Jack, Jack; QUEEN, queen, and KING, king.

The trick affords excellent pastime and is very simple if you will only remember not to disturb the sequence of the cards and be sure not to place the card back into the pack when it has once been spelled. It also lends training to the hand. One soon learns to present the trick with a manner of great mystery.

WOMEN DEMS TO ORGANIZE

Delegates to the state convention in Williamsport next Wednesday and Thursday will be elected when the Democratic Women's Club of Allegheny County is organized at a meeting at 2 p. m. WAR WOUNDS KILL JOHNSTOWN VETERAN

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 22.—John W. Nosker, 37, a World War veteran, died yesterday as a result of wounds suffered in battle in France.

You can thank your grocer for this real WALNUT bargain

All year his Diamond Walnut prices have been low—now they're even lower

This is an advertisement to women who know that it pays to buy at "sales."

It features an unusual bargain opportunity on an important staple quality product.

The time: right now.

The product: Diamond California Walnuts.

The price: a real bargain. (For this season's prices—already the lowest in ten years—have now been still further reduced.)

Already Cheap—Now Even Cheaper

Walnut prices—like everything else—follow the law of supply and demand. This year the supply set a record. Our trees were simply loaded down with fine walnuts.

And we passed on the benefits of this bumper crop to you. We sold these improved Walnuts at the lowest prices in ten years.

And how you responded! In five months you have bought 25% more Walnuts than ever before in a full year.

But there are still some left. And it costs us money to store them. So we—the growers—have made a further reduction in our already-record-breaking low prices. And grocers are co-operating by passing this saving on to you.

In fact, many grocers are going still further and making a special bargain offer when you buy 2 or 3 pounds at a time.

This Offer Won't Last Forever

Large as this year's crop was, only a small fraction of it is left. And when it's sold out, there will be no more 'till next October.

And, naturally, as the supply moves out, prices will go up.

So don't delay! The Springtime menu particularly calls for Walnuts. They're an ideal Lenten food, and these prices make them one of the cheapest foods that you can serve.

Ask your grocer about his special prices on Diamond Walnuts! (Tell him you want the kind with the Diamond trade-mark stamped on every Walnut.)

You may never get another Walnut bargain such as this.

CALIFORNIA WALNUT GROWERS ASSOCIATION
Los Angeles, California

A non-co-operative, non-profit organization of 4800 growers. Our yearly production over 70,000,000 pounds

DIAMOND California's finest WALNUTS

USE THEM TO MAKE EVERYDAY FOODS SO MUCH BETTER

What a lot you can do with Walnuts—so easily!

They add just that final touch of extra flavor that so many everyday dishes need. And right now—during the Lenten season—they fill a particularly vital menu need.

Take salads, for instance. Any good salad becomes a better salad when it's topped with crisp, crunchy Walnut kernels.

Walnut "meat loaves" are delicious

Or cakes—cookies! Walnuts work miracles of flavor—and add so much to their appearance, too.

Then just try Walnuts in "main-course" dishes. Creamed vegetables, croquettes, stuffing for roasts, baked beans—Walnuts add a welcome nut-meat goodness the whole family will enjoy.

And so it goes! No end of uses! Walnuts offer so many chances to lift other foods far above the average—in looks, in taste and in food value.

Just one thing to remember: when you buy Walnuts, be sure to look for the Diamond trade-mark branded right on the Walnut shell. Then you're certain of California's finest Walnuts—plump, tender kernels, every time.

They add so much to cookies

THERE is a limit to the height to which a balloon can ascend. The balloon rises because of the buoyancy of the air, and as the distance from the earth increases, the atmosphere becomes more and more rarified.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.

U.S. Senator from New York

"Reducing" Often Results in Loss of Beauty

IT IS a marvel to me that sensible women can be so imposed upon and so deluded as they are in the matter of being made "beautiful" by surgery or other radical measures. Wondering if they really are played upon, I talked with a friend of mine, a famous "beauty expert."

DR. COPELAND

I asked her about the fads and fancies of this business. I got from her, too, much evidence of what happens to women who use the strenuous methods of fat reduction.

This good woman told me with tears in her eyes about the damaging effects of these treatments. She recited case after case of sagging jowls, flaccid necks, baggy eyelids and shapeless arms encased in folds of redundant skin.

You see the skin covering is not elastic enough to tighten up over the thinning tissues. As the underlying fat disappears, the skin loses its filling and support. The inches of skin enclosing will be there just the same after the plumpness has decreased to such an extent that two or three inches less skin would be enough.

After youth has passed, it is unreasonable to expect that reduction in the fat deposits will be followed by a corresponding contraction in the skin surface. The loose, flabby, fluted, pleated skin will remain to tell the world its possessor at one time was fat.

After the agony of the starvation diet and wicked over-exercise, then yet remains the necessity for a "lifting operation," or an excision of the surplus skin. You have only started on the road to trouble and suffering when you enter the electric cabinet.

Profuse sweating does not take off fat. You may get into the cabinet and stay there for some time. Needless to say a shower of perspiration escapes from the skin and tissues. Perhaps a couple of pounds of water may be extracted from the body. The scales show less weight and everybody is happy! How foolish! The lessened weight is due merely to the extracted water.

The heart is unreasonably taxed and the kidneys called upon to work under unfavorable conditions. The nervous system has suffered by this procedure.

There are women who sleep in rubber girdles. The poisons of the body are carried out in the perspiration and reabsorbed because they are retained under the rubber. So real harm is done.

It is only honest sweat that will take off fat. Exercise where the muscles are actually used breaks down the fat and burns it up in the furnace of the body. This sort of exercise produces what I call "honest sweat." That is a sure solvent of fat, but the cabinet and girdle sweat take away nothing but water.

Fay King Welcomes Gaily Lined Envelopes

By FAY KING

WHAT has become of those who used to dip their rusty pens in weak coffee and write on thin blotting paper?

It has been "yars" and "yars," it seems, since I have strained my eyes trying to read one of those funny letters that bespoke of careless cupboards and buttered cakes!

Some may still cling to the gray green black derby, the celluloid collar and even the false dicky, but fountain pens and fancy stationery are certainly the order of the day.

I open my mail with haste and happiness, so anxious am I to note the contents—not of the letter so much, as the gay-lined envelope!

Sometimes the flap reveals forest scenes of stars and flowers. Designs that would make the most gorgeous old patch piece quilts if you could sew them!

I do save some of the prettiest for book marks!

Never have I seen such glorious greens and blues and yellows, not to mention silver and gold!

I believe the lined envelope was first invented for the very thin paper that persons write long letters on to send abroad. But I certainly am glad that it has become popular for letters that only cross small waterways like rivers and bays!

I'd adore to work in an envelope factory if it could be my job to paste those pretty linings in!

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

WHAT PRICE HUSBANDS?

NO MATTER what kind of man she marries, a woman always has her "worries!"

If she marries a banker, she may attain her fondest dream: but she acquires a husband who has more HOLIDAYS in which to hang around the house, under foot, than any other working male.

* * *

If she marries a doctor, she may get a prize husband, but she never knows where he is, day or night, or WHOSE pulse he is holding at 2 a. m., or even whether or not he will show up for breakfast.

HELEN ROWLAND

If she marries a lawyer, she may acquire a brilliant and interesting life-mate; but she is aware that his office is full of "misunderstood women," and that some woman is always "appealing" to him or weeping all over his desk or making him the receptacle of an intriguing "confession." She never knows whom he is "consoling" at any given moment.

* * *

If she marries an actor, she may get a most fascinating lover. But not only is he never home evenings; he is always surrounded by women. His very job is that of making LOVE to some other woman—and his wife has to sit by and watch him while he does it.

* * *

If she marries a salesman, she may acquire a peppy pal and playmate who never bores her. But she has to be content with telegrams, postcards and train-kisses.

It's no use trying to beat the game! Marriage is a large order and the price is standard. The only way to be happy with any husband is to shut your eyes, NOT open your mouth, and have the faith and the love that pass understanding.

* * *

Because the only woman who can be sure of what her husband is doing when he is out of the house in the wee, small hours, is the woman who is married to the MILKMAN!

For the Lovelorn

Brown Eyes

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading your advice to others for quite a long time and think it is wonderful so I have come also for some, hoping you can help me in what seems the matter. I am a girl 17 years old. I have been going with a fellow for about ten months. He is four years older than I am. He is very good looking and he likes me very well, he says. He hasn't been with another girl since I started to go with him, but I have been with one other fellow. But the trouble is here: Miss Gale, my mother says I am not allowed to keep company for one more year. Shall I drop him or keep secret company with him?

BROWN EYES.

Don't meet him secretly, my dear. Tell him of your mother's decision and if he really likes you he will wait for you.

In Love

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a girl in my late teens and do not smoke or drink, but pet some. I am in love with a fellow. He has a reputation to be interested in a girl that hasn't a very good reputation. I have gone out with this fellow a few times and he has told me that he would rather go out with me than this other girl. But in some ways he doesn't seem to care so much for me, because he doesn't come to see me very often when I tell him to. How can I get him to care for me more? I get so lonesome for him sometimes that I don't know what to do with myself. Do you think that I should tell him that I love him? Hoping you print this soon, and wishing you luck, I am,

IN LOVE.

Of course you shouldn't tell this boy you care for him. Stop inviting him to come to see you so much, and he may like you better. Men dislike to be run after, you know.

The craze to be thin has even extended to little, compact cases that are made as thin as a man's watch, and just about the same size. Of cloisonne enamel, many of these small powder boxes have a double cover—one side opening to a rouge compartment, the other to a powder section. Each side is of a different color. The remainder of such a case is black enamel.

To All Thin Blooded People Doctors Say: "Eat More Liver"

Hundreds of Thousands Eating Liver to Get Rich Red Blood

Hundreds of physicians in New York and other cities who have tested and prescribed a diet of beefs liver in cases of poverty of the blood or anemia are now prescribing a preparation called Hemo-Liver, which is made by a scientific process from flesh beefs livers.

By this process all the "mysterious Substance" or vital elements that are obtained by eating liver are extracted and put up in the form of an elixir which is very palatable and pleasant to the taste.

Hemo-Liver is full of the vital elements or "mysterious substance" that is one of the great discoveries of recent years and by taking a tablespoonful three times a day you'll get more and quicker benefit than by eating pounds of liver.

Every progressive druggist sells Hemo-Liver in a big 12-ounce bottle that will last eight days.

Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 13 to 18 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds energy so quickly that often physicians are astonished.

Why not get a big bottle of Hemo-Liver today — eight days treatment—and if after you have taken one bottle you don't say Hemo-Liver is the greatest health builder you ever heard of—get your money back.

Not a patent medicine, mind you —but the vitamines extracted from fresh beefs liver. You can get Hemo-Liver at May's Drug Stores.

HOW MELLON TRACED OIL BONDS IS SHOWN

ACTORS' EQUITY ASKS -:- DID JEANNE EAGELS DESERT SHOW? -:- INSISTS SHE ANSWER

"TOO ILL"

"Too Ill to Appear," billboarded a Milwaukee theater when Jeanne Eagels didn't appear in "Her Cardboard Lover," in which she is starring on the road.

"WHY?" GUILD ASKS

The time, forsooth, has come, for the Actors' Equity, New York, is asking questions and wants answers.

IN NEW YORK

When the show went to St. Louis, Jeanne was still "too ill to be moved from Milwaukee," yet she appeared in New York City. She has violated her contract with the show, the Equity charges and she must appear personally or by proxy at the council April 8.

HUSBAND

Jeanne and her husband, Ted Coy, former Yale grid star, recently had difficulties.

SEES ATTORNEY

In New York, Jeanne spent part of a day conferring with her attorney. Why, no one knows—yet!

MELLON HAD OIL BONDS TRACED

By JUDSON C. WELLIVER,
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—A tale, which might well be the basis of an absorbing detective novel, of how the Sinclair $3,080,000 oil corruption fund was traced and for the greater part located, by the secret service of the treasury, was made public yesterday.

It was the story of how Secretary Mellon had given completest co-operation in unraveling the most amazing corruption mystery in the history of the government. It included the story of how Mr. Mellon received a mysterious package whose contents he did not know, and being too busy to open it, left it overnight on the corner of his desk. When he came back next day he opened it and found $50,000 in Liberty bonds.

RESOLUTION SHELVED

These facts were revealed by Senator Reed of Pennsylvania in his attack on Senator Couzens' resolution that the Senate ask Mr. Mellon to resign as secretary of the Treasury. The resolution was shelved after Reed's defense of the Treasury head and under the rules cannot be called again except by a majority vote of the Senate.

Overwhelming defeat faces Couzens' resolution, Senate leaders said, if it is called up for a vote.

It was a day of revelations. Among them was the fact that Mr. Mellon, after agreeing to accept the Treasury portfolio under President Harding, repented and wished to be excused. He deliberately set about to find reasons, and an ancient statute was brought to his attention that forbade anybody to be secretary of the Treasury who was engaged in the business of shipping or commercial enterprise. Believing this made him ineligible, Mr. Mellon asked the then Senator Philander C. Knox to explain the situation to Mr. Harding and get him to allow Mr. Mellon to withdraw his acceptance.

Instead Senator Knox enlisted the best legal authorities, who, after long investigation, reported that this old statute had been repeatedly held not to apply to stockholders in corporations. So long as they were not directors or managing officials, their stockholdings did not bar them.

Mr. Harding was unwilling to let Mr. Mellon off; Mr. Mellon's excuse was rejected by the lawyers, and, reluctantly, Mr. Mellon accepted the portfolio.

RESIGNED DIRECTORATES

But before he was sworn in he resigned from the directorates of more than a half hundred corporations, and disposed of all his national bank stock, so that neither under the Federal reserve act nor any other law could there be question of the proprieties.

The day's most astonishing revelation, however, concerned the long search of the secret service men, acting under Secretary Mellon and in co-operation with the Senate investigators, to find the $3,080,000 of Sinclair's bonds, two-thirds of which have now been traced. These bonds represented the profits of the Continental Trading Company of Canada, smoke screen behind which the great corruption fund was accumulated.

CITES WAR BOND MIXUPS

At this point it is necessary to go back to another story. Soon after Mr. Harding became President extremely sensational charges were made that the bond issues during the war were enormously excessive; that there were vast numbers of bond duplications, and that the duplicates, falling into the hands of corrupt people, had been sold for their benefit. These stories had greatly alarmed President Harding, and he made an over-night shift of executives at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, where the bonds and money are manufactured. Then a long and tortuous process of investigation was undertaken, under Secretary Mellon's direction, and by carefully selected secret service men, to determine whether there was basis for the charges.

President Harding and others close to him had been led to fear that there might have been fraud, possibly running into hundred of millions of dollars. If that were true, no holder of government bonds would be certain that they were genuine government obligations. The good faith of all the billions of government obligations outstanding would be under suspicion. With these securities in the portfolios of the banks, trust companies, insurance companies and estates everywhere, there were possibilities of a gigantic panic if the public confidence were seriously disturbed.

It was necessary to learn the precise truth, and to avoid alarming the financial world. President Harding was denounced on all hands for his drastic reorganization of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, which was widely believed to be a political move inspired by patronage considerations.

To the contrary, Mr. Harding moved only under conviction that the situation was dangerous, and when he was attacked from end to end of the country, he said never a word.

MELLON CONDUCTED PROBE

But the investigation, to determine whether the President's fears were just, was turned over to Secretary Mellon and the Treasury secret service men. Four men did the work, and in the process of doing it, and of demonstrating that the bond duplication charges were utterly groundless, they won the complete confidence of the Secretary in both their intelligence and their probity.

So when the Senate committee investigating the oil scandals wanted expert secret service assistance, Secretary Mellon turned over to them these four skilled and proven investigators.

The rest is a romance, in the realm of fiction, would be too strong for any reasonable writer to attempt. Finally $50,000 of bonds that had once been held by the Continental Trading Company, were traced to a bank in Carrizozo, New Mexico. Their numbers were taken, and every record of them, every transaction through which they had passed was painstakingly tracked down. They had changed hands many times, but finally the trail was followed clear back to Osler, the Toronto lawyer who had handled the legal business of forming the Continental Trading Company.

THREE FLED COUNTRY

Osler tried in every way to cover up the tracks of himself and his principals. The investigators seemed to be up against a blank wall. But finally they discovered Harry F. Sinclair's connection with Continental. Then, the skein ravelling out, they were led to Col. Robert W. Stewart, president of the Standard Oil of Indiana; to Harry M. Blackmer and James A. O'Neil, officers of the Prairie Oil Company and the Midwest Refining Company.

The net was tightening; but before it could be drawn in, Osler went to Africa; Blackmer and O'Neil to France, where they still are.

The investigation went on, and on, three-quarters of a million dollars were traced to each, Blackmer and O'Neil. Then $160,000 was traced by way of Sinclair to the Republican National Committee fund. Finally, a few days ago, the Hearst newspapers devised a procedure by which to compel Blackmer and O'Neil to come home and tell their story. That procedure has been approved by Senate leaders, and will shortly be put into effect. Everything today indicates that the great corruption mystery is about to be solved in its last details.

In opening, Senator Reed referred to the Couzen's resolution. It had recited 19 specifications by way of preamble as reasons why Mr. Mellon was unfit for his high post, and ought to resign. Referring to these specifications, Senator Reed said:

"The resolution contains 19 preambles or recitals, and with the assertions of fact I want to deal.

"The first five recitals find fault with Secretary Mellon because he did not disclose the transactions of November, 1923, when he was asked to help conceal a subscription by Sinclair to the Republican National Committee. The facts were brought out by the questioning of Senator Walsh, and there cannot be any dispute.

"In November, 1923, Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, telephoned to Mr. Mellon, stating that he was sending valuable papers and that he would call later. The package came; Mr. Mellon was busy. He did not open the package, but set it on a corner of his desk and forgot it. He did not know it contained bonds and went home. Next morning he opened it to find $50,000 in Liberty bonds. He had no idea where it came from, except that it came from Hays, nor what Hays wanted him to do. So he put them in the safe until Mr. Hays came and explained.

CITES MELLON REFUSAL

"Hays asked Mellon to keep the $50,000 bonds and to give him a check for $50,000, with the express or implied intention that they should appear on his accounts as a contribution from Mellon and not Sinclair. Mellon instantly and unhesitatingly refused to comply with the suggestion; he said he would have nothing to do with it. He offered the bonds to Hays then and there, but Hays said "no"; he was going to Indiana and did not want them with him, and asked Mellon to send them to him in New York. Mr. Mellon said he would, and when Parker Gilbert, then assistant secretary of the treasury, happened to be going to New York, Mellon gave Gilbert the bonds, and he took them back to Hays; and that ended the transaction.

"Another recital says that the Pittsburgh Coal Company is a Mellon enterprise; now to what extent, or how it is a Mellon enterprise, or what the Secretary of the Treasury has to do with it.

The resolution recites this order, which was read by the Senator from Michigan, addressed to mine superintendents, and instructing them in effect to suborn witnesses, to lie to the Senate sub committee that went to Western Pennsylvania last month.

"To begin with, the Pittsburgh Coal Company is not a Mellon enterprise. The Secretary of the Treasury and his brother do own some stock in it, but it is, I understand, less than 25 per cent. In the next place, no such order as that was issued by the Pittsburgh Coal Company. When that letter was produced, it was brought in by a reporter for a St. Louis paper, who did, as the senator from Michigan has said, hand it around to the members of the committee; but they refused to show it to the counsel for the coal company or anybody representing the coal company. The order is believed to be a forgery, an invention of somebody. Mr. Mellon never heard of the order, and nobody pretends he ever did until it appeared in the newspapers. Mr. Mellon has nothing to do with the management of the Pittsburgh Coal Company."

"The resolution," continued Reed, "refers to the fact that Mellon supported the election of Gov. Fisher and Senator Pepper, and that he contributed $25,000 openly, to the campaign fund for those two gentlemen and the other eight thousand condidates on the Republican slate. I doubt whether the Senate intends to condemn the frank contribution of $25,000 in a bitterly-fought campaign involving not only state, but national issues.

"The next accusations occur in Paragraphs 10, 11 and 12 of the resolution, which recite that Section 243 of the Revised Statutes, which forbids the Secretary of the treasury from owning ships or from carrying on any trade or business, was violated, and then recites that Mr. Mellon is a stockholder in 12 different companies. As a matter of fact, he is a stockholder in only two of those 12; 10 of the 12 are mere subsidiaries. He is not a director or an officer of any one of them. He has an investment in the stocks of those two companies and of many others, but he is not a director or officer of any company or business whatsoever.

ASSAILS DEFRAUD CHARGE

"Paragraph 13 raises a different question: That the Government of the United States was defrauded out of $31,000 in the tax case of the Mellon National Bank while Andrew W. Mellon was Secretary of the Treasury. That case was thoroughly considered by the committee of which the Senator from Michigan was chairman. The facts were fully given by the representatives of the committee and the bureau. The explanation from the bureau shows that this merely followed the established construction of the act which had been applied to dozens of cases in the bureau When the sub-committee came to make its report, it did not condemn that finding, nor find that it was wrongfully done, nor make any reflection upon either Secretary Mellon or the Bureau of Internal Revenue. I cannot understand, when that was the case years ago, why it should be raked up now with the statement that the government was defrauded.

"The next one, in paragraph 14, is adroitly drawn. It reads:

"That, Whereas, Andrew W. Mellon as Secretary of the Treasury, benefited through indefensible decisions in the tax case of the Gulf Oil Company, as disclosed by the select committee.

"That would lead any senator to think Mellon had benefited by a decision made in the case of his company while he sat there as Secretary of the Treasury, and I dare say that every senator drew that inference. The truth is that that decision was made under Commissioner Williams, when Secretary Houston was Secretary of the Treasury. It was decided February 28, 1921, before Mr. Mellon was either appointed or sworn in. And now, if you please, by inference, here it is charged that Mellon defrauded the government to his own benefit!"

GANGSTERS SLAY ANOTHER; VICTIM SHOT DOWN AT PRAYER

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., LL.D.

Five-Day Fast May Give Benefit of Month Vacation

SHOTSDROP PRAYING VICTIM

CHICAGO, March 23.—(AP.)—John Infontana, kneeling at his prayers, was shot dead early today—three bullets in the back. He was the second Italian to fall before assassins' bullets within 30 hours.

"The Dimie," as they called Diamond Joe Esposito, slumped to the sidewalk near his home Wednesday night with 58 shotgun slugs in his body. Whether his death and that of Infontana were connected, police said they did not know. Coming so closely together, the one a sinister sequel of the other, police are pursuing a theory that the slayings were woven on the same loom.

Infontana, 35, was found on his knees, his head and shoulders fallen forward against the bed and blood streaming from the three bullet wounds. Joseph Devito, who operates the rooming house into which Infontana moved a week ago, found the body. There were no witnesses and none who heard shots, police were told.

Like many who have died before in Chicago's half-world gun wars, Infontana, and perhaps Esposito, was involved in the alky, or liquor racket, police said. Devito, the landlord, told them Infontana had been given a job as alcohol cooker for a West Side bootlegging gang. He expressed the opinion that a rival gang may have been responsible for his death.

The investigation into "The Dimie's" death today had interested the office of the attorney-general of Illinois, Oscar Carlstrom. Carlstrom has detailed two men to make an independent survey of the case, which led to the belief that he may contemplate superseding State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe in the investigation. The law empowers the attorney-general to take such action and to take charge of the grand jury inquiry, if he desires.

Carlstrom is aligned with the Republican faction which acknowledges the leadership of United States Senator Deneen. Esposito was a candidate for ward committeeman on the same slate. State's Attorney Crowe, with Mayor Thompson, heads that Republican faction which opposes the Senator Deneen group.

HER EYES BLACKED

MRS. MARY ERWIN

Two blackened eyes, a general beating and ten subsequent days in a hospital convinced Mrs. Mary Erwin, 32, 5641 Pocusset street, that she should divorce Dr. Newton E. Erwin, she testified in Common Pleas Court. Her husband, a dentist, once cracked her lip with his fist, she said, and once she dropped into his office unexpectedly and found Erwin entertaining women.

E. LIBERTY OASES HIT AGAIN

Federal prohibition agents yesterday afternoon "mopped up" the East Liberty district for the second time in two weeks, entering places overlooked on the previous visit. A large raiding party, operating under Joseph A. Frayne, assistant prohibition administrator in charge of the enforcement unit, executed search warrants at two hotels and five saloons.

Among the places raided were the Sheridan Square Hotel, 6306 Penn avenue, and the barroom of the Belmar Hotel, 6371 Penn avenue. In the latter place 200 bottles of beer, two pints of gin and a bottle of whisky were seized, according to the agents. Thirty-three gallons of beer and two pints of whisky were reported seized in the Sheridan Square Hotel.

The other raids were made at saloons on North Sheridan avenue, Station street, Center avenue and Penn avenues. Twelve arrests were made.

CHINESE PUPIL IN TROUBLE OVER LETTER

LATROBE, Pa., March 23.—James Lee, 14, Chinese pupil in the Second Ward School, put his American education at the disposition of Ye See Own, 30, Chinese merchant, and now both are in the hands of the police. They will be turned over to federal authorities.

Lee admitted writing a letter, that Own dictated, to a school girl here.

How the Hunger Mechanism Operates—The Not-to-Be Denied Call for Food

How politicians and other leaders of "causes" play upon the emotions of men to secure the results they desire was the fascinating subject of yesterday's chapter of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings." It is the appeal that it made to our attitudes that causes us to buy or bite, Dr. Dorsey said. The principle of habits plays a prominent part.

How the Stomach Signals Its Wants

CHAPTER XXXIX.

HOW does the baby know it is hungry? It does know; and if born of an undernourished mother, has been hungry for days and enters the world grub-struck.

We speak of drives, impulses, wishes, instincts, reflexes; but living beings must eat or they die. Hunger is back of life, the primordial drive in life. And if life waited for the doctors to decide whether hunger is physiology or psychology, life would starve to death.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

The fact that an infant enters the world grub-struck may be the most momentous single factor in a lifetime of behavior. The way the appetite back of that hunger complex becomes conditioned may be the decisive factor in shaping that individual's career. Without hunger and its attendant appetite there could be no genetic, visceral, or somatic behavior. Even psychics are believed to be subject to hunger.

Hunger has led to crime, to suicide, and to cannibalism; and the fear of it, to war. It can make us feel faint, give us dull headaches and gnawing pangs—though we are not always certain whether the pangs gnaw in the head or in the stomach, or whether it is the mouth that feels hungry. But we can get so hungry that the sight of food makes us "sick," or "too dog tired" to eat. But why a fast can make one man cantankerous and fit another for a spiritual life is as yet a fair puzzler. What is certain is that if the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, the stomach is worth looking into.

Knowing the Stomach

It has been during the last 15 years, and more learned of its nature than in 5,000 years' wondering about it. By cutting nerves, inserting balloons and X-ray observations, Cannon cleared up much that was obscure. Carlson let in more light, chiefly by experimenting on a Czech who feeds himself through a tube in the wall of his abdomen because an accidental dose of strong caustic soda closed his esophagus years ago.

The hunger mechanism is in the muscular walls of the stomach. The stomach itself announces that it is hungry by violent rhythmical contractions lasting half a minute, alternating with mild normal or tonus rhythms of 20 seconds' duration. These alternating rhythms continue for from 15 to 20 minutes. If this call for food is unanswered, the stomach gives up and remains quiet for from one to three hours. Then repeats the call.

That mechanism and an empty stomach come with every normal baby. With one big difference between baby and adult; the time between unanswered calls is not hours, but minutes. The adult has already built his body and can live on his fat; the baby has to build its body. Besides, the baby's skin area in proportion to body volume is larger than the adult's; it loses heat faster, hence needs more fuel for its furnace. And as soon as it becomes active, it is very active. No action without energy. If the infant has to keep yelling for every meal, still more food is required; even an infant's stomach cannot signal "more fuel" without burning up some that would be used otherwise for growth or exploration.

Feed When Hungry

An adult's stomach signals hunger from four to six hours after a full meal; the baby's within three hours—rarely more than three and a half or less than two and one-third hours. Thus nature answers a question often put to the doctor: when and how much? As much as its stomach will hold and as often as it cries for more. Colts, calves and kittens grow up that way and seem to do well.

We feel hungry when, and in normal life only when, the empty stomach begins its hunger-contractions. The more violent these contractions, the hungrier we feel; it becomes "painful." Mild hunger is sensed less as pain and more as a general kinesthetic sensation.

We have no specialized receptors for the many sensations by which we are aware of our bodily states and emotions. But the entire body-with-the-skin is sensitive to pressure. Strong pressure anywhere on the body is felt within; hence pressure receptors, or muscle or kinesthetic sense. There is no special receptor for intestinal cramps, but we can feel them. There is no known receptor for hunger pains, but we never sense them as we do cramp pains in skeletal muscles. Colic pains in the intestine do not make us feel hungry.

The empty stomach contracts. Its contractions are stimuli. The reaction to such stimuli is completed with food. What happens in the meanwhile; what goes with hunger, what are the accessory phenomena? The animal gets more excited; beasts, babies, and men. Hungry protoplasm is more irritable than a just-fed man or baby; it can think of nothing else. Even the human cortex at such times has been known to get so crossed that only a divorce court could untangle the lines.

Fasting Like Vacation

Also. The heartbeat rises from eight to even thirty per minute. Blood pressure rises. Salivary glands more active. All of which leads to feelings—emptiness, faintness, restlessness, drowsiness, headache, even nausea. It all depends on the individual intensity of stomach contractions, condition of stomach's sensory nerves, especially the nervous organization of control.

Suppose the hungry baby is not fed, that the reaction begun with hunger-contraction stimulus is never completed? Death, of course. Meanwhile it lives off its own body, suffering much at first, then less and less.

Carlson starved himself for five days. He lost eight pounds. The hunger contractions increased in intensity. The sensation of hunger was strong 10 hours after his last meal and continued strong for three days. Food looked good throughout the five days, but on fourth and fifth days he could forget food. He felt some mental depression the last two days, also loss of physical strength. But never during the fast was his discomfort so great that it could be called pain for suffering, nor did it interfere with his work.

Mental recovery from the fast face with the first meal; recovery from physical weakness, after the second day. He then felt as if he had had "a month's vacation in the mountains." He thinks an occasional fast for a healthy adult "may add to the joy of living and to the length of life."

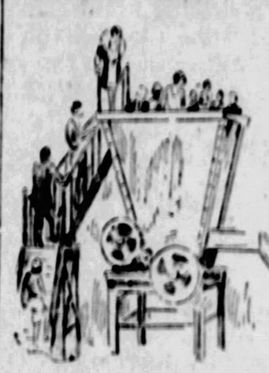
THE DIVORCE MILL



BRIDE SUES

After nine weeks of married life, Mrs. Helen M. List, 19, of 1724 Soles street, McKeesport, wants a divorce from John DeWitt List. She charges him with indignities. She told Judge John A. Evans she had been under a doctor's care most of the time she lived with List.

THREW CUSPIDOR

His wife having hurled a cuspidor at him and pushed him down a flight of stairs, Joseph Bordonaro, 5609 Pocusset street, headed for divorce court. Bordonaro, a shoe repairman working in Swissvale, testified before Judge John A. Evans that he was kept busy dodging the dishes and other household effects which his wife used to hurl at him. Bordonaro, represented by Attorney O. Hicks Friedman, charges indignities to the person.

COOK AT MINE DISAPPEARS

J. A. Tarrant, 32, cook at No. 8 mine of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company, at Coverdale, has been missing since February 28, it was revealed today when his wife asked the Missing Persons Bureau to locate him.

Mrs. Tarrant, who resides at Catherine street and Munson avenue, McKees Rocks, said she last saw her husband on February 12, and he was to have returned on March 6. Inquiry at the Coverdale mine revealed that Tarrant has been missing since February 28.

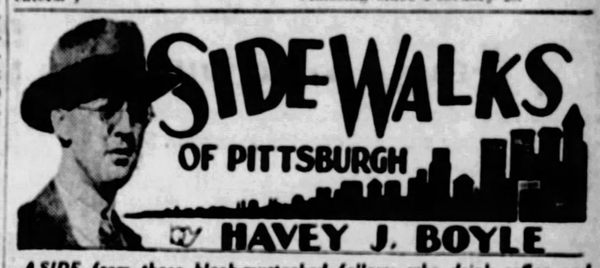
SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE



ASIDE from those black-mustached fellows who drink coffee and play cards in the vicinity of Wylie avenue we know but few Greeks. Of course, those few that were prominent enough to get into the grade school books like Plato, Socrates, Demosthenes and one or two others we had heard about, but there were many we had never shaken hands with. So to promote a better feeling between the Greeks and the Irish we visited the hall of sculpture in the Carnegie Museum.

BY A strange coincidence the children of the Soho school were there on the morning of our visit. They were sitting comfortably on the floor, with large pads and long pencils, sketching in leisurely fashion some of the statuary before them. There was something considerably "arty" in this scene, for scattered on the white floor were dark little boys and girls, which recalled that Harlem in New York is not the only place where races seeking adventure in art mingle freely.

TWO teachers were on hand to look over and overlook the work of the students. One teacher's name was Miss Estelle Stevens and another was Miss Alice Henry. We mention the names to establish authenticity.

* * *

THE statuary, portraying life, of course, proved the ancient stories of the Greeks' great capacity for athletic attainments as well as for their metaphysical and philosophical speculations, besides showing the severe beauty of the boys and girls who used to tramp around Athens.

DISKOBOLES, the disk thrower, was shown in action. There was more imagination used by the man who cast him, however, than in the man who named him, for only a cursory study of his name and his sport indicated that some dullard started his name out with "Disk" because he threw the disk. By the same token some of our citizens would find "Bull" at the beginning of their names.

There was, too, the figure of a Greek fighting man. Apparently, fighting styles have changed considerably, or perhaps this fellow was a southpaw. At any rate, he was posed with right foot and right arm extended forward, when, as you all know, Dempsey and Tunney stand with left foot and left arm extended.

OF COURSE, fighting in those old days in Athens was a little more strenuous than it is today. Instead of gloves they used instruments in the hand which were sharp and which brought blood and sometimes death to the vanquished.

THERE was a girl in the statuary who apparently had been caught in an unguarded moment by the sculptor. At any rate, she, by contrast, makes the present day flapper seem actually all bundled up with clothes. Apparently, she was a very care-free girl. It would be our guess she was from one of the suburbs of Athens, if not from a distant farm. She was resting on what looked to be a small trunk of a tree when the sculptor molded her.

* * *

IT WAS not difficult to imagine the conversation which took place between her and the sculptor. "Would you mind posing for me?" the sculptor said, somewhat breathlessly, perhaps, after a little bit of a run across creek and through dale. "Go ahead and see if I care," the girl probably said. At least, her pose seemed to convey the idea that she had just got through with what duties had occupied her about the farm and now she was standing there as if she was all caught up with her work.

* * *

EVEN standing out there in the museum among a lot of old Greeks who frown perpetually, and whose severity is deepened by heavy beards, and ponderous-looking heads, the girl seems unabashed.

The next time we go out there we're going to take our lunchbox with us.

REVIVED "DEAD" WOMAN DIES

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Mrs. Mary True, the woman who came back to life Wednesday after she had been pronounced dead here, died yesterday.

Found unconscious in a train berth, the woman was taken to a morgue in a hearse and then, when evidences of life were noticed, was rushed to a hospital, where physicians said she had an even chance of recovery.

Mrs. True, whose identity was definitely determined yesterday was a nurse at Suffolk sanitarium, Long Island. An examination disclosed that she had taken poison.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

MEXICO QUAKE DAMAGE LIGHT

MEXICO CITY, March 23.—(AP.)—Central and Southern Mexico last night completed taking stock of the heavy earthquake which shook a wide region 24 hours ago, and breathed a collective sigh of relief.

Few personal injuries, and those of only minor character, the collapse of some adobe huts, cracks in the walls of some more substantial buildings and destruction of numerous chimneys comprised the damage. Reports from government sources, two newspapers and through private messages all told the same tale.

Delicious, pure fruit jelly like Grandmother used to make

Now made in 15 minutes for 7 cents a glass!

REMEMBER the cellar shelves at Grandmother's—how they groaned under their precious load of sparkling, pure fruit jellies!

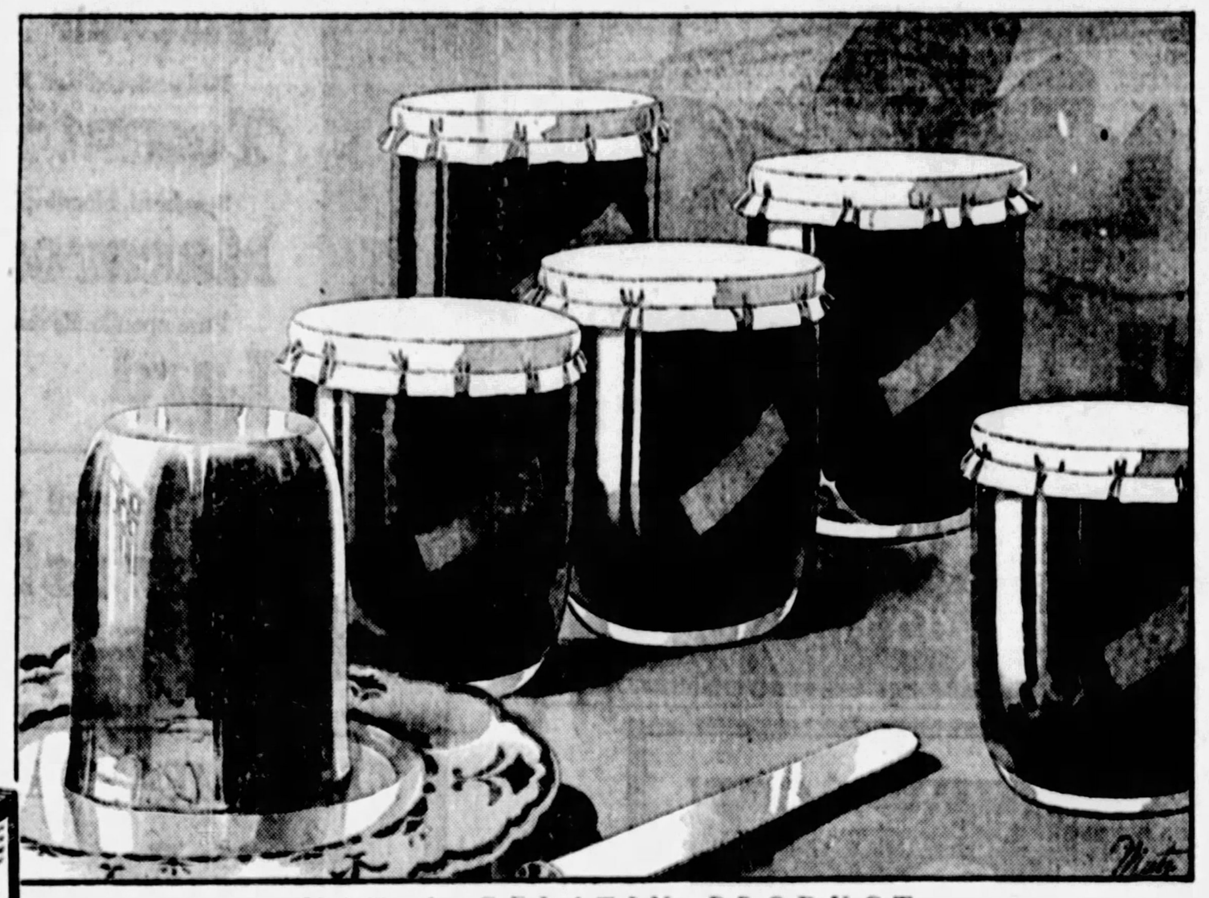
How your eyes danced when Grandmother's jelly appeared upon the table! How you loved the tang of the purple grape, the flavor of the ruby currant, the piquancy of the raspberry!

That store of sweets that lasted through the winter represented long days of toil in Grandmother's hot kitchen. The fruit had to be carefully selected, washed and stemmed. The juice had to be pressed out of draining bags that stained her fingers and strained her nerves.

But now you can make jelly as good as that which was the pride of Grandmother's heart and prepare it as you need it, any day in the year, in fifteen short minutes, at a cost of only seven cents a glass. And there is no question about results. It jells every time.

Post's Instant Jelly makes this seeming miracle possible. It is not a gelatin product, not in any way a substitute. It contains pure fruit ingredients essential to jellies, concentrated into tiny crystals which imprison all the original tang and flavor.

All the drudgery of selecting and preparing the fruit has been done expertly for you. Jelly making now is as simple as boiling water. You don't even need wear an apron to make real old-fashioned pure fruit jelly that will delight every member of the family.



3 FLAVORS:
GRAPE, CURRANT
OR RASPBERRY
25¢ One package makes six full glasses

Merely boil water and Post's Instant Jelly according to directions on the package. Then add sugar and in a remarkably short time you have six glasses of luscious fruit jelly.

Ask your grocer for Post's Instant Jelly. See how easily, how economically you can supply your household with wholesome, delicious, pure fruit jelly.

This sparkling drink flushes out the poisons

Some mornings bring to some of us deplorable conditions. They mean days of dullness, depression or unfitness. They result from clogging of the system with poisons and waste.

Find out how easy it is to correct them. Drink a glass of water, hot or cold. Add a little "Eponade." It will make a sparkling, pleasant drink.

That drink will flush the intestines. In an hour all conditions will change. Instead of a lost day, you will have a day at your best.

The results come in a gentle, natural way. They come from acids of lemon and grape. And they are at your command every hour of the day—whenever you feel the need.

Let a trial show what they mean to you. They will be a revelation. Get a small quantity of "Eponade" today at your druggist's.

VICTIM PLEADS THIEF'S PAROLE

The plea of R. E. Rappold of 7224 Hamilton avenue, from whose electric shop a $155 radio outfit was stolen February 28, brought a parole to the thief in Criminal Court yesterday. James Strayhorn, 16, a Negro, of 7212 Tioga street, pleaded guilty to the robbery, saying he wanted a radio and the temptation proved too great. Rappold said the boy bore a good reputation otherwise, that the radio had been restored and that he did not want him sent to prison. Judge Joseph M. Swearingen paroled the boy for four years.

DEPUTY CONSTABLE IN MIFFLIN TWP. NAMED

Elmer C. Hunter of Park View avenue, Lincoln place, was appointed deputy constable of Mifflin township, by Judge Joseph M. Swearingen in Quarter Sessions Court yesterday.

HOLD MAN AS WOMAN DIES OF BULLET WOUND

A bullet wound in the left breast caused the death of Mrs. Marjorie Farmer, 36, a Negress of 10½ Miller street, in the Passavant Hospital last night. George Casey, 39, Negro, of Pellerton street, said to have shot the woman in her home, is being held for the coroner. Casey told detectives that the woman was shot when a revolver he was examining discharged accidentally.

Check Flu-Grip By Using Vicks at First Sneeze

Health Authorities Urge Precaution to Prevent Epidemic

If all colds were checked at the beginning, influenza, pneumonia and grip would be greatly reduced.

It takes quick action to get ahead of the germs of these dread diseases. Many cases of flu start from germs breathed in. The effective way to attack them is direct—with vapors of Vicks VapoRub.

When rubbed on the throat and chest the ingredients of Vicks are released in the form of vapors which, being breathed in, carry medication to the inflamed air passages and lungs direct and instantly. In addition, it acts like a poultice and helps the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

While grip and influenza are so prevalent local people are urged to keep Vicks VapoRub ready at all times for instant use.

"WHAT A difference!"

That's what you'll say when you compare GOOD LUCK with ordinary margarines

Until you try Jelke GOOD LUCK you can't possibly know how good a margarine can be.

GOOD LUCK tastes exactly like the most expensive spreads-for-bread. It's delicious even on hot breads, and makes cakes which can't be told from those shortened with expensive spreads.

The better flavor and greater food value of GOOD LUCK result from its finer ingredients. It is made of nutritious meat products instead of the cheaper vegetable oils used in making most margarines.

Try GOOD LUCK, on your table and in baking, and see how much better it is. Grocers everywhere are offering it at a very attractive price.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Quite a Few Pittsburgh Society Folk Expect to Spend Easter in Italy

SPRING in the North sounds like poetry to those of us who have been in the city all through the snowy, tempestuous winter. To some folks, however, there is something more attractive—spring under Italian skies and near the Mediterranean. Even though one loyally prefers a northern spring, one can't help but find beauty in the very idea of Easter in Naples or Rome.

And quite a few Pittsburgh society people are expecting to be in Italy for Easter. They will sail tonight from New York for Naples.

Mrs. Wilmer M. Jacoby, after a winter filled with social affairs and the Stage and Play Society performances, will sail tomorrow night, and will spend about six weeks visiting a friend in Rome. And I daresay before leaving that ancient city she will visit the Vatican.

The George Greer Coolidges and their little daughter Elizabeth will sail on the same boat. They also expect to spend about six weeks visiting Italy.

Others taking the Naples boat will probably stay about three months, I understand. The Matthew Taylors, the W. B. Trainers, Louis D. Trainer and Wilhelmina Balken are among those in the party.

Tonight two more Pittsburgh folks will sail for Europe—Edward Duff Balken and Homer St. Gaudens, who will leave on the Paris for France.

Mrs. Clarence P. Byrnes, of Sewickley, and her daughter, Martha, are now in Atlantic City, which is, as usual, becoming most popular with the approach of the Pascal season. They are expected home early next week, I hear. When Martha returns, I wonder if she will name an early date for her marriage to Calvin Wells, son of the Benjamin Wells, of Bryn Mawr, now that April and June dates are being named by a number of society girls. Their engagement, you'll remember, was announced in December.

With Lent over and spring near at hand, or to be optimistic, really here, those who have been wintering in the South are beginning to return. Mary Childs, daughter of the James H. Childs, of Albemarle avenue, will be back from Aiken on Tuesday or Wednesday. She has been in Aiken for some time, and there she is the guest of Betty Barrell, of Boston. When Mary "came out" in the fall, you'll remember, Betty was here to attend her friend's debut.

* * *

And speaking of the Childs family reminds me that I hear Mary's sister, Alice Walton Childs, will not be a spring bride. No doubt she will name a fall date. Her engagement to Oliver P. Nicola, Jr., son of the Oliver P. Nicolas, of the Schenley Apartments, was announced in December, I recall.

Palm Beach in a week or so will be a deserted city, for every day many people are leaving, and the hotels are closing. The Breakers, which always has been popular with Pittsburgh society folk, will close on April 10. And Ormond Beach soon will suffer the same fate. Among those who have left Ormond Beach to Mrs. Frank Scott Willock, of Sewickley, who is now at the Barclay, New York. She is expected home this week-end.

* * *

Mrs. Theodore W. Friend, of Shady avenue, and Mrs. George Reed, of Bayard street, are spending a few days at the Barclay, I hear.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. George, of Swissvale, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Elisabeth McKim George, and Charles Blake Jewell, of Monmouth, Ill., which was solemnized Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Jewell will make their home in St. Louis.

Miss Dorothy Ludebuehl and Albert Ludebuehl will entertain at dinner tonight in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club supplementing the rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Mary Louise Fawcett, of Callowhill street, and Richard Owens Ludebuehl. The Fawcett-Ludebuehl wedding will take place tomorrow night.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. William Heeren Hofmann, of Bellefield avenue, celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary Wednesday night with a dinner in the Morrowfield Hotel. Covers were laid for 30, and spring flowers were used in the decorations. Bridge in their home followed the dinner.

The student council of the University of Pittsburgh will entertain the foreign students at Pitt in the Heinz House tomorrow night. Members of Mortarboard and Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary activities fraternities, have been invited. Miss Charlotte McMurray, Endicott A. Batchelder and Harold Johnston comprise the committee in charge.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Tarbell, of Forbes street, have made known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Jackson Tarbell, to Richard Edmund Wiley, of Los Angeles, Cal.

Dames of Malta, Golden Rule Sisterhood No. 254, will hold a card party tonight in the home of Mrs. Martha Jones in Monterey street, North Side. Mrs. Minnie Mackintosh is chairman.

MISS ANN RUTH MILLER

MRS. FRICK, FEDERATION HEAD, CLUB GUEST HERE

The five points being stressed by her administration were sketched and discussed yesterday by Mrs. John A. Frick, of Allentown, who was paying her first visit to Pittsburgh since her election to the presidency of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women here last October. Mrs. Frick's talk was the chief feature of the southwestern district meeting of the Federation, which was held in the William Penn Hotel and attended by about 200 women. Her five points were: 100 per cent registration and voting for the April primaries; club extension—a club within the reach of every woman in Pennsylvania; library extension—books within the reach of every man, woman and child in the state; scholarships, and the preservations of the state's natural beauty through legislation and the creation of public opinion.

Mrs. Frick said education in its many phases, but particularly in creating and intelligent, articulate public opinion, is the main object of her regime. Other speakers at the morning and afternoon sessions were Mrs. Alfred A. Crooks, of Norwood, state chairman of club institutes, who conducted a half-hour forum in the morning; Miss Florence M. Dibert, second vice president in the General Federation (the national organization), who spoke with particular attention to the San Antonio biennial in June; Mrs. John M. Phillips, state chairman of the American home department, who told of the three prizes being offered by her department; Mrs. Irwin L. Gillespie, district secretary and chairman of juniors; Mrs. R. W. Johnston, state chairman of international relations; Mrs. Harry Bradley, state treasurer, and Miss Gertrude MacKinney, chairman of law enforcement, whose talk concerned itself with the ways club women may be active in enforcement, and the amendments for the voting machine, the welfare bond issue and State College support, which the Federation is sponsoring.

Mrs. John E. McKirdy, district vice president, presided. Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl, vice president-at-large in the state, was also a guest and there was a beautiful program of soprano solos by Mrs. Martha Eaton Brickman, with commensurate piano accompaniments by Miss Hulda Lefridge. Elmer Kenyon, president of the Pittsburgh Drama League, in a very brief talk, showed the club women their responsibility for the theater and its better things.

Last night Mrs. Frick and the other state officers were honor guests at a delightful dinner given by the board of the Congress of Clubs. A program was presented by the Triangle Quartet of the Philadelphia Company and three members of the Southern Club, Mrs. Walter Close, Mrs. C. Fitzhugh Lee and Mrs. E. B. Wade, who gave Susan Glaspell's playlet, "Suppressed Desires."

Mrs. Jo Vogel will present the program for drama day before the New Era Club next Wednesday in the Congress clubhouse. A recital will be given by Mrs. Marjorie Keil Benton, soprano; David Franklin, baritone; Miss Helen Irwin, reader, and George Irwin at the piano. They will give a Kashmiri love story, in a song cycle, Mrs. Benton having arranged the descriptive readings for Miss Irwin. The recital will be followed by a play, "Frank Glyn's Harem," in which will appear Miss Irwin, Mrs. Vogel, Mrs. Frances Lester Kelly, Mrs. Mae P. Rinehardt, Mrs. Nell Brasecker, Mrs. Jean Shields and Mrs. Dora Scott Zoch. At the business session the nominating committee will present the ballot.

Twenty-five members of the home economics section of the Woman's Club of Aspinwall, under the chairmanship of Mrs. T. J. Ford, will serve a dinner in the clubhouse next Thursday from 5 until 7 o'clock, as a benefit for the mortgage fund. Mrs. Ford is assisted by Mrs. Frank Schade, and Mrs. E. W. Young is in charge of tickets. Mrs. John Steele of candy and Mrs. W. Duncan Taylor of dining room arrangements.

* * *

Arthur S. Coggeshall, curator of public education at Carnegie Museum, will give an illustrated lecture on "The First People of America" before the Homewood Women's Club next Monday. The women will meet for luncheon in the institute cafeteria at 12:45. Mrs. W. M. McMillan is leader for the day.

Don't fool yourself any longer!

Let the personal health test show you how to correct this common diet mistake!

MILLIONS make this mistake, and it's not surprising they do. They know that caffein is an artificial stimulant—they naturally suppose that, when they take it with their meals, it has an immediate bracing effect.

Wrong! It's the heat of the beverage you drink that warms you up, gives you an immediate feeling of comfort. The caffein gets in its real work hours later. Then, when you want to sleep, you can't. Then, when you want to relax, your nerves begin jumping, your brain begins pounding.

Try this for relief!

Leave caffein out of your diet for thirty days. In its place, use Postum! You'll not miss a thing in enjoyment! You'll discover in Postum a natural mealtime "pick up"—a hot, hearty drink with a rich, zestful flavor—a flavor millions prefer to that of any other drink. And you'll find it a drink that never results in sleeplessness, nervousness or any of the other evils that caffein causes. For Postum is made of roasted whole wheat and bran—not a trace of any stimulant in it!

At the end of the thirty days, note the improvement in your health! Then decide if you will ever go back to mealtime doses of caffein! Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, prepared by boiling. Order today!

MILLIONS of WOMEN welcome this Startling New Form of Soap

New Discovery of tiny, thin-walled "beads" of soap replaces chips and flakes. Exclusive patented* process now makes possible these amazing new washday results

"Give Me Super Suds, Please"

Everywhere women are asking for Super Suds. And never have women been so pleased with a soap. Never have they tried one that offered such advantages. For heavy laundry work... for dishwashing... even for washing daintiest lingerie, Super Suds gives the same amazing results.

A NEW kind of soap! Gives suds in a flash. Dissolves instantly. Saves rubbing .... scrubbing ... at least one rinsing. Gets clothes whiter ... in far less time .. with much less work.

This is the news that is spreading across the country. The news that millions of women had wanted so long to hear.

Quickly it spread from house to house. From town to town. And from coast to coast.

Women told their friends about Super Suds. Thousands tried it ... wondered at its amazing results. Then adopted it ... for dishwashing ... laundry ... even their daintiest lingerie.

Thus in a few short months Super Suds has become the most talked about soap in America. Destined to replace both flakes and chips.

In justice to yourself you should read the facts that follow.

You'll marvel, too, at these unique results

Super Suds is a completely new type of soap ... different in form, action and result from any you have ever known before.

It is actually soap in tiny, thin-walled "beads" ... the result of a revolutionary manufacturing discovery.

Scientists developed it. Found the way to make soap in microscopic thinness. Four times as thin as flake soap. By far the thinnest type of soap ever discovered.

The minute these tiny beads touch water, a rich, foaming suds result. They dissolve instantly! Like magic! No other type of soap is like it. No other type of soap can give you such astonishing results.

Use it for everything Dishwashing ... Laundry!

Super Suds was especially designed for general household use. You can use it for laundry and dishwashing, too.

It cannot harm the daintiest fabrics ... washes lingerie with safety. And for the heavy work on washday, it is absolutely without a rival.

Super Suds dissolves more rapidly than any other soap you've ever used before. Its lively suds penetrate every fold of cloth ... seep around every fibre ... wash away all grease and grime.

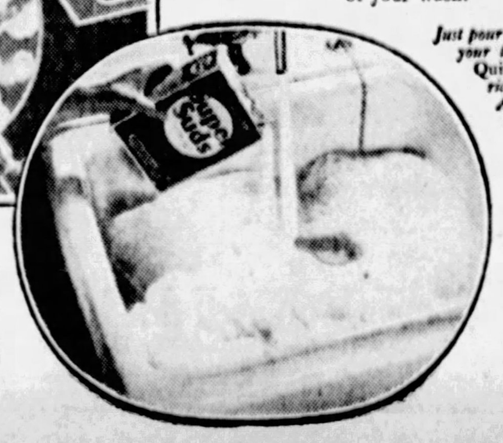
There's no need to use your washboard now. No need to scrub and rub until your back just aches from the strain. Leave it to Super Suds to soak out the dirt.

And with Super Suds you'll save much time and effort in rinsing alone. That's because it dissolves so completely. No soap particles are left clinging to fabrics.

Your clothes dry out snowy white. There's never a trace of soap stain. Millions are getting these results ... you can get them, too.

You simply won't be able to realize that a laundry soap can make such an amazing difference in the whiteness of your wash.

Women marvel at these amazing beads of soap. Here they are magnified several times. Note the incredible thinness of their walls.



Just pour a little Super Suds into your tub or electric washer. Quick as a flash you get rich, lively running suds. Action suds! No other soap made can dissolve as fast as Super Suds.

New way to wash dishes
No film—No reddened hands

Smooth, lovely hands ... in spite of three dishwashings a day. China, silver, and glasses ... that sparkle in far less time.

That's what Super Suds offers you ... a new way to wash dishes that's faster ... easier ... than any you've ever known before.

It rinses off so easily that no film is left on glassware or china ... just give them a hot rinse and let dishes drain and dry themselves. No disagreeable soapfilm is left to mar their lustre. They look as though they'd been polished.

Super Suds literally cuts dishwashing time ... gets dishes gleaming clean with complete safety to your lovely skin.

Now that we have told you the remarkable story of Super Suds ... will you please try it at once?

Test it in comparison with any soap you have ever used before. See how much whiter it makes your clothes ... how clean without the usual drudgery.

Note the way it saves your hands ... See how it makes dishes sparkle in far less time.

Super Suds is surprisingly inexpensive. It's the biggest ten-cent box of soap on the market.

Simply in fairness to yourself and us, try Super Suds at once ... put it on your grocery list today.

An Octagon Soap Product. Every box of Super Suds carries a coupon. Save them for valuable premiums.

JERRY The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait. by Elenore M. Eherin

Things Start to Happen At the House Party at Phil Cowper's

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love at first sight with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. Marza, her fascinating mother, warns her that idealists like Saxon make poor husbands. In spite of his flirtation with other girls Jerry confesses her love for him, and when he goes abroad to study, promises to wait for him. She refuses a proposal of marriage from Heinie Ross, a wealthy suitor. Saxon comes home and tells her as soon as he has paid off five thousand dollars he owes, his uncle will take him into partnership. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon calls on his sister who warns him against marrying anyone and facing poverty. Saxon's attention to Ora Pringle, charming divorcee, gives Jerry a pang of jealousy. Saxon apologizes for his neglect. Then while going to call on him, she meets Ora coming out of his office.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"I SUPPOSE you're thinking I tried to slip it over on you?"

They had walked two blocks in silence and were now headed for the park on the heights of Telegraph Hill. When she was eager or distracted, Jerry liked climbing these precipitous cliffs.

"I hadn't any intention of going there Sunday. That is—I meant to go when she first asked me. I saw no harm in it. But after you let me know how you felt. . ."

"I believe you. Really—I believe you!"

But he had wanted to go. She was piercingly aware of this. Women attracted him. Even that golden sprite—Nellie Spears. He had flushed with exultation because of her kiss.

"But that's fair enough," she now thought. "The sun doesn't cease to shine on others because it falls so goldenly on me. It can't help but shine. Why—a handsome man would still attract me!"

She made this admission absently, reluctantly—denying it before it was fully formulated.

And she began to wonder if he had seen many, many girls in Europe who had charmed him.

She thought with a sharp, corroding ache: "He's glad he can't marry! He doesn't want to marry!"

And all the cynical things he said flew at her like knives. She was too young and too partisan to know that the really cruel pressure of his external circumstances made for this wavering. He wished at times violently to marry her. He couldn't. And in sheer self-defense, for the peace of his own mind, he began to wonder if barriage was really desirable.

He had always doubted it.

But now a subtle fear crept into Jerry's thought.

Before this hectic summer was done it grew ominously. On many a night she lay awake, telling herself starkly:

"He's not blazingly, toweringly certain that I'm his girl. But, oh, God, how sure I am that he and he only is MY man!"

This happened after half a dozen house parties that were all more or less alike. And all for Jerry King withering with pain and disillusion.

"What shall I do? Oh, what shall I do?" she thought desperately. And felt angry that Marza had never given her a God—had never taught her to pray. She felt so appallingly the need of aid—of an almighty power. She felt that she would not find it.

It was in August—a gloriously blue August evening. And they were in these lovely hills beyond Los Altos. The thing happened then.

CHAPTER XXIX.

SHE had a deep singing capacity for joy, loving life and thrilling to the flash of things. To the gaiety and crimson dress of Marza; to the laugh and lordliness of Stephen Marsh, stooping to kiss her mother's lips.

Even as a child, Jerry's heart beat high to the pulse of this. And she dreamed of splendor; of high, passionate, beautiful things happening to her. A man with the mirth of a sun-god, young, magnificent, tender—her lover.

She gulped and put her sport clothes and the purple outfit borrowed from Marza in her suitcase.

Why does the real never touch the dream? And we go hungry, in a loneliness of the spirit, always?

She snapped the suitcase and gave it a vicious shove. She dreaded these house parties. Things happened. Messy, unpleasant and rather appalling things when you thought of them afterwards. But all summer they'd been going to them.

You were supposed to have a wildly exciting, joyous time; to be LIVING in capital letters. But it was different from the fervor and thrill one dreams about. Bitterly, hatefully different.

They were at Phil Cowper's country place high in the Santa Clara foothills. Phil was an architect, a charming, gifted fellow who might have made a name for himself if his father had but flung that half-million dollars in the gutter instead of handing it to Phil.

The house was a great, rambling place—like an old country estate in the midst of enchanted gardens. The dance hall open, but columned with century-high redwoods; beyond this, the swimming pool to make whose sandy beach tons and more tons of white, dazzling Carmel sands had been contributed. A play garden worthy of young spirited gods.

"Heavenly, heavenly," murmured Jerry on her first visit. And raptly in Saxon's ear: "What a dream of a place to hear the lark sing!"

"And see the moon flash. We shall!"

She gave the suitcase a vicious little kick and pulled a blue hat down to meet her eyes. "Perhaps it will be different this time. Such a gorgeous, gorgeous day!"

Six o'clock, burnished and warm that August night. They went to John's for cocktails.

Saxon in the little screened-off kitchen was the bartender. He measured and tasted, added a squirt of grapefruit, a twist more of lemon. No cook ever followed a more involved and elaborate ritual.

"Now if we had some real French vermouth this would be perfect."

"Oh, look out," warned Jerry, who was the humble assistant. "You'll have us all tight. And you've got to drive."

"Now, mamma! Taking care of me already?" He poured in another pint of gin and carefully turning the shaker asked whimsically: "What makes a woman such an inveterate censor? How do you get that way—running the universe and so damn sure you know just how to do it?"

The eyes she found so compelling beautiful beyond all other eyes now laughed on hers. "You look sweet tonight, darling thing. I've got to kiss you!"

She took the tray and went a little unsteadily into the shadowy room. A mere look like this—a mere joyous phrase and she was swept like a bird to the mountain tops. It would be beautiful tonight—like that radiant midnight once in Monterey.

The gardens were in darkness when they drew up in the redwood grove before the great rambling house in the foothills. Stars twinkled in the topmost branches of the trees and already the moon began to rise.

The 10 in the dining room were seated at the table when Saxon and Jerry, Inga and John, Sylvia and Rod Porter arrived.

Glasses raised—a shout of welcome.

Through the curtain of cigaret smoke Jerry saw a face—a pair of luminous dark eyes and a red, haughty mouth—Ora Pringle.

Six months since she had seen this face.

"The huntress," whispered Inga in Jerry's ear, "is with us. Who has she snared now?"

Ora had risen—she was smiling. The smile flashed like a little silver lightning across the room. "Come over here—by me—ole timer! Saxon!"

He laughed—moved to her chair.

She raised her glass and held it to his lips. Then she pulled him to her chair and with one arm about his shoulder took a sip from the glass—offered him one. She kept this up.

He acquiesced; he was charmed to sit on the edge of Ora's chair, sipping high-balls from her glass.

"I guess this leaves me the little green peach on the family tree," said Jerry, sinking to a chair that someone now offered.

"Oh, how do you do?" said she pleasantly, a little heartened to find Hugh Hammond's sensual voice delightfully greeting her.

An Englishman that she had met here two months ago and whom she had liked immensely from the first glance in his thin, blond, intelligent face.

"You're late," said he, "and some 17 rounds of cocktails behind the rest of us."

"Thank God for that! You see—" the words died in her throat, for Saxon, who had finished the second high-ball, now waved his hand to her and called arrogantly: "Don't get sore! It's all right eh, Ora?"

Ora leaned over and kissed him. Everyone laughed.

This was the beginning of it.

"Mad?" said he when they were strolling to the dance pavilion an hour later. "Here, have a drink—you'll feel better."

Jerry took the flask, raised it to her lips and with a deft motion emptied it over her shoulder.

"Say—did you drink all that? You'll be laid out!"

"It's the first real drink I've had tonight. And I'm bound to keep even with you—kiss for kiss, ole dear!"

"You couldn't have swallowed all that. It was full!"

Katie Confirms Madge's Suspicion About the Source of the Owl Hoot

ELEANOR LINCOLN'S poise was not proof against Dicky's announcement that he had frightened away the owl whose hooting had caused her to swoon with terror. I saw her eyes widen and she leaned forward in her chair, grasping the arms of it with a pressure which left her slender fingers bloodless.

"Did—did you see him?" she asked, and there was a distinct quaver in her voice.

Dicky shot a quick, keen glance at her before answering.

"Not exactly," he said, "but I heard him plenty and then some. He sure was one mad bird, but I think he finally realized that we weren't giving any free auditions here and he'd better stage his vocalization on some other lawn."

She searched his face with the great lustrous eyes which always remind me of the black velvety pansies in my garden, and then settled back in her chair, her hands dropping into her lap. That Dicky's answer had reassured her in some measure I saw, and wondered if she were credulous enough to believe that Dicky really had mistaken a man's running footsteps for an owl's swooping through branches.

For by this time I was thoroughly convinced of the correctness of my theory that the noise which had frightened Miss Lincoln had not been the hoot of an owl, but a menacing signal from the lips of one of the men who had frightened her before. That it was a wild, fantastic conjecture, I realized, but I was sure that both Dicky and Lillian shared my belief and the knowledge helped to bolster my conviction.

But more startling proof was on its way to me. I joined dutifully in the general laugh which followed Dicky's whimsical speech, but my thoughts were elsewhere, and my eyes left the group around Miss Lincoln and rested upon the door through which Dicky had just walked. Just inside it I saw a shadowy, hovering figure—Katie's. She put her finger against her lips, beckoned me, and then stole silently back along the hall to the dining room.

It was with a feeling of irritation that I followed her, for I remembered the domestic unpleasantness I had averted before the dinner only by appeals to both Jim and Katie, and expected nothing else than an appeal from my little maid concerning her long-suffering but now rebellious husband.

When I reached the dining room Katie was already at the kitchen door beckoning me through. And when I was safely inside the room she closed and locked the door behind her with an air befitting the august head of a diplomatic secret service. Jim was nowhere to be seen, and the kitchen showed no traces of the recent culinary activity save for orderly stacks of dishes covered with linen cloths. After much persuasion I have finally brought Katie to the sensible procedure of washing the silver and cooking utensils after a large dinner and clearing everything away, postponing the task of washing huge stacks of china and glasses until the morning after, when she is rested and when I always plan an easy day for her.

She locked the outside door and drew the curtains tighter. Then she turned to me with face and eyes aflame with excitement.

"Oh, Meesis Graham!" she exclaimed. "Vot you tink? Dose Transvanian mans snoopin' round here tonight!"

ALL HER HEALTH TROUBLES ENDED

Pittsburgh Lady's Recovery Due to Using Famous Natural Medicine.

"I wish I had heard of Ten Herbs before, as it ended all my health troubles," was the statement of Mrs. James McDonald, 205 Dasher Street, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine. "For some time before taking your medicine, I was in a very weakened and run-down condition," Mrs. McDonald continued. "I was so nervous that I could not get the proper rest at night. I had no appetite, and what little I ate, caused gas to form in my stomach.

"I was constipated and had pains in the back part of my neck. My kidneys did not seem to work properly, as I had severe pains across my back. My liver was sluggish, and at times I had awful coughing spells. I was discouraged, and had begun to give up hope of getting well.

"The second bottle of Ten Herbs made a big change in my condition. My appetite is good, and I have no more gas or pains in my stomach. My bowels are regular, and my liver and kidneys seem to be working the way they should, as I have no more pains in the back. My nerves are stronger, and I get a good night's rest. I feel stronger in every way, and can do all my housework without feeling tired. Ten Herbs helped me so much that I gladly recommend it to the public."

Thousands have willingly made public statements that Ten Herbs promptly relieves disorders of the stomach, liver, and bowels, benefits the kidneys, and gives the system a thorough cleansing. With such convincing proof, there is little wonder that this new herbal compound has proved a sensation in this city, and wherever it has been introduced.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

Kotex Prices Reduced

These two exclusive new features have doubled Kotex sales:

1 A new, form-fitting shape—non-detectable under the most clinging gowns, because corners are scientifically rounded and tapered to fit.

2 Softer wrapping, fluffier filler eliminate the discomforts of chafing and binding.

& All the features and protection you have always known in Kotex are retained.

SELDOM is a manufacturer able to present a greatly improved product at a striking reduction in price. Only doubled manufacturing facilities make such a step possible.

Improved Kotex has been two years in the making; two years of research, of test, of investigation and experiment in our laboratories, and in the laboratories of women doctors.

As a means of getting nation-wide distribution of the Improved Kotex, for several months we made a special offer of two boxes of Kotex at 98 cents and one box free. Now, with the assurance of a doubled volume at lower prices, the regular price of single packages of Kotex is reduced 30%. Without this doubled volume the Improved Kotex would have to be sold at higher rather than lower prices.

Softer—fluffier—chafing eliminated

And, at the new price, you obtain a product exclusive in design—the most radical development in intimate feminine hygiene since the invention of Kotex itself.

A specially perfected process now turns and tapers the corners. The pad fits snugly, securely, without affecting the lines of modish gowns.

And the gauze wrapping is softer, the downy filler even fluffier than before. Chafing and similar irritation are ended.

27 women doctors, 83 nurses helped

During the past two years, 27 women doctors, 83 nurses and six specialists in feminine hygiene suggested and approved ideas. Their endorsement carries special significance.

Kotex and Kotex only offers these exclusive new features. And all the former exclusive advantages are retained. The remarkably absorbent powers of Kotex remain, the same protective area. Cellucotton wadding which is exclusive to Kotex has all the advantages of any water-proofed absorbent, plus its own unique qualities—5 times more absorbent than cotton—discards like tissue; it deodorizes thoroughly while being worn.

Nothing else is like Kotex

You buy Kotex by name, at any drug, dry goods or department store, without embarrassment or delay. Two sizes, Regular and Kotex-Super.

Remember, nothing else is remotely like the new Improved Kotex. Buy a box today to learn our latest and greatest contribution to woman's hygienic comfort.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 23.—(AP.)—Freddie Krems, St. Louis bowler, rolling in the doubles event of the American Bowling Congress, smashed the pins for a score of 709—with the best individual performance so far in the ten pin "world series."

His score enabled he and his doubles partner, H. Rood, St. Louis, who rolled 589, to edge into second place in the two-man division, with a score of 1298.

The margin of man's superiority over "those who pay" is quite big in some branches of athletics, but in duckpin bowling it is finely drawn. The prestige of the weaker sex was given a boost at the Haus Recreation alleys, North Side, Wednesday afternoon, when the Haus Recreation girls engaged the Haus All-Star men's team in a special match and lost by less than 100 pins. Although the masculine stars won by 2,150 to 2,065, Mrs. K. Mair, captain of the girls' quint, won individual honors by turning in the high single game score of 226.

The P. A. A. Nos. 1 and 2 teams complete in the A. B. C. tournament at Kansas City tonight and tomorrow. They will roll their five men event tonight and follow with the singles and doubles and will complete the local representation in the event. Two other Pittsburgh teams, the Saunier Wilhelm Nos. 1 and 2 teams rolled last Monday and Tuesday. They failed to land in the top flights.

390 TEAMS ENTERED

An unofficial check of the entries on hand, those received by other members of the tournament committee, and reports from field agents, showed Tournament Manager Hilary Wertz that 390 five-men teams already have entered for the annual American Duckpin Congress rollings in the Haus Alleys, North Side, from April 9 to 21.

Under the stimulation of the new A. D. C. classification, which divides the contestants into four equal classes, according to the scores they hang up during their tourney rolling, it seems that the goal of 500 teams by midnight Saturday is in sight.

And if 500 five-man teams are entered it means more than $10,000 in prize money for the bowlers to shoot at. Furthermore, the new class system will spread this $10,000 all the way down the line in all four events—five-men team, doubles, singles and nine-game totals—so that the average bowler will have just as much chance to land in the money as the experts who have been monopilizing the top positions and the big prizes ever since tourney bowling started.

Entries may be made with the American Duckpin Congress, 923 Fulton Building.

NEW YORK, March 23.—(INS.)—Allen Hall has won only one of the eight blocks played to date in his special 600-point three-cushion billiard match with Willie Hoppe. As a result of 50-to-41 and 50-to-25 victories in the seventh and eighth blocks, Hoppe today leads his youthful rival by a score of 400 to 271.

DISTRICT colleges which have subscribed to the provisions of the arrangement whereby Walter E. Okeson of Lehigh is to assign gridiron officials in the place of the defunct Central Board found out what it was all about here today when representatives, athletic managers and coaches of the various schools conferred with Okeson at the William Penn Hotel at 2 p. m.

Okeson is here at the solicitation of Graduate Manager Theurer of Wash-Jeff.

The visiting official was a luncheon guest of Theurer at noon today and will be the honor guest at a banquet tonight, with the district college men as hosts. He will meet with the Western Pennsylvania Referees' Association at 7:30 tonight.

Schools represented at today's conference included Pitt, Carnegie Tech, Duquesne, Wash-Jeff, West Virginia, Waynesburg, Theil, Westminster, Grove City, St. Francis, St. Vincents, Geneva, Davis-Elkins, Bethany and Salem.

DOWNTOWN-E. LIBERTY LINKS MATCH PLANNED

It is anticipated that an inter-links tournament between the indoor golf courses of East Liberty, located at 6119 Broad street, and Downtown, at Sixth and Smithfield, will be played in the near future.

The management of each links is endeavoring to line up a strong team for the competition. The teams likely will be 10 or 12 men to a side, and will include some of the best amateur golfers of the district. Both courses are noted for being sporty, and before the East Liberty course was opened, the layout downtown was the largest in the United States.

Much interest among the players on both links is being manifest in the prospective tourney.

SETS NEW RECORD

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 23.—(AP.)—Shooting off a tie with Margaret MacBurney of Edmonton, Alberta, for the girls' senior world basketball free throw championship, Ellen Baird of West Tennessee State Teachers' College made a perfect 60 out of 60 score last night.

Five Clubs "Favorites"

(This is a story summing up the 1928 prospects of National League baseball clubs after a first-hand survey of the training camps.)

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP.)—There will be no odds-on favorite in the National League as the eight clubs start along the trail leading to a pennant at the end of September.

At least half of the entries are conceded chances to make it a race, and as close an observer of things baseball as John McGraw has called the contest "open" for five bidders.

The defending champions, the Pittsburgh Pirates, may expect stern opposition from St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati and New York. On the face of the early spring returns, subject to confirmation in the autumn, the other three places will be divided between Brooklyn, Boston Philadelphia.

Many forecasters, who have made the pilgrimage to Avon Park to look over the Cardinals, expect Bill McKechnie's team to resume the fight with the bold Buccaneers where the same outfit, under Bob O'Farrell, left off last year.

The Pirates are conceded to be in better position to beat back the opposition in 1928, but rooters for the other clubs insist there is more strength in the assaulting forces. The Cardinal supporters have been in particularly good voice in Florida in March.

The addition of Earl Adams to do Pittsburgh's second basing and the resultant switch of George Grantham to first base has plugged the Pittsburgh weakness in the middle of the infield. Burleigh Grimes' crafty arm may also be expected to help the Pittsburghers and last year's pitchers are back again, with the exception of Vic Aldridge, the Indiana schoolmaster, who may or may not help the Giants.

CARDS STRENGTHENED

The Cards, too, have been strengthened, not by the addition of new players, but in improved physical condition of the stock on the shelves. O'Farrell promises to do the catching without the handicap of a balky thumb. Hafey's eyes have responded to treatment and two bad legs, divided between Thevenow and Blades, are believed to be whole again. Flint Rhem will be able to pitch at the season's opening. Alexander seems more than ever a living illustration of the brook which was said to have gone on forever. The passing of Lester Bell, who was far below his 1926 form last season, may leave the Cardinals a third base problem.

Skeptics are found who refuse to believe that the Giants, who finished third last season with Hornsby at second base, can do better with the hard hitter doing his hitting for another club. Frank Hogan to take care of the bulk of the catching, Andy Cohen as Hornsby's successor at second and Jim Welsh and Frank O'Doul added to the outfield complement mark the major changes in McGraw's team.

The Chicago Cubs have added strongly to their offensive power by the acquisition of Hazen Cuyler, who will not be called on to hit second in the batting order, and in Gabby Hartnett they have a catcher who will run one-two in any balloting for the best in the league. The Cubs' worries, if any, center about the infield. Maguire, McMillan, English and Butler may hold the club's ultimate fate in the hollow of their gloves.

REDS "DARK HORSE"

Jack Hendricks, manager of Cincinnati, regards his team as a dark horse with red legs. Hendricks pins his hopes as a contender on improved physican condition of Long George Kelly, an appendicitis victim last year, and added speed in the outfield to be contributed by fast youngsters who have been carefully brought along and are now pronounced ready. He is standing pat on his pitchers.

The two B's, Brooklyn and Boston, may have a race all their own. Rogers Hornsby will add a punch to the Braves' offensive it has not known in years and the Boston entry should score more runs than its recent annual quota. Bell should strengthen the infield and should mate well with Hornsby and Farrell. The Redskin pitching is a doubt equation. A catching crisis was solved by the return of the hard-working Taylor from New York. Manager Jack Slattery has other problems in his infield and outfield which may or may not work themselves out.

The Brooklyn situation is in contrast to that of Boston. Manager Robinson has no pitching troubles, but has yet to find if he will be able to unscramble a lineup from his new crop with enough power to give the pitchers some runs to work on. The Robins will introduce some new faces to the Flatbush fans, the rotund pilot hoping all the while that they will say it with bats.

The Phillies, introducing a new manager working hard with limited material, will give some of the young fellows a chance and hope for the best. Bill Kelley, a big first baseman, has shown a disposition to hit the ball and Pinky Whitney seems to know what it is all about around third base.

The National League argument promises to be long drawn out and may not be settled until the football season is just around the corner.

SHOOT AT TECH

With the leading gunners of Pennsylvania-West Virginia entered, the stage is set for the Intercollegiate sectional championship of the National Rifle Association to be held tomorrow at the Carnegie Tech range, beginning at 9 a. m.

RELEASE TAYLOR

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 23.—(AP.)—Danny Taylor, recruit outfielder, has been sent to Memphis of the Southern Association by the Brooklyn Dodgers, it has been announced.

CHILLY SAUCE By CHILLY DOYLE

Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Emil (Irish) Meusel, now a member of the Oakland team, came across the bay to visit his Pirate friends and with him was Lynn Lary, sensational young shortstop, who, with his equally famed pal, Jimmy Reese, star second-sacker, recently was sold by Oakland to the New York Yankees for a fabulous price. I have always had an especial fondness for Meusel.

HIS charm is the same whether he be with the Giants in World series glory or with the Quakers in the cellar—in other words, Irish has many fine qualities that go to make up the man. The Oaks won the flag last season and they think they will repeat this year. The marvelous playing of Lary and Reese provokes much comment in this district.

"I SUPPOSE the price of Crosetti went up about one hundred thousand when he hit that homer with three on," remarked "Pie" Traynor. "Pie" and his Pirate mates, however, believe the Italian kid will go far in baseball. His coolness under fire is noticeable. If he owns the fiery traits, characteristic of Latin athletes, he is able to control them well.

JOHNNY GOOCH is a big booster for Crosetti. "He seems to know what it is all about," said Gooch. Crosetti, like Lary of the Oaks, is a rangy kid.

THE Oakland champions will be out to trim the Bushwhackers. They will add fervor to their play as a result of the successes attained by the Seals in competition with the National League champions. Some Coast League critics look for the Seals to take away laurels now owned by the team on the other side of the bay.

SOCCER NEWS by TOM BIRKS

NOW that the final of the West Penn cup has been settled the only real big game to be flashed is the playing of the junior final. This has been carded for up the river but evidently there is quite a little dissatisfaction regarding the playing of the game in the Monongahela district.

The writer feels, however that Gallatin and Monongahela City are entitled to a little recognition in the playing of cup games.

Pittsburgh soccerdom will watch with eagerness the visit of the Heidelberg team to St. Louis representing Western Pennsylvania in the competition promoted to seek the logical team to represent this country in the Olympic games.

And naturally the greatest team in the district Heidelberg will make the trip. Fans locally have plenty of confidance in this fighting aggregation of green and gold clad American boys. Given the right sort of breaks, Pittsburgh should be ready to meet any other contender that contests the right of last season's amateur champions to represent America.

Eddie Donaghey who was in St. Louis last Sunday to referee the Western final of the national open took a peek at the all star aggregation gathered together by the Municipal League, and does not feel alarmed at Heidelberg's chances of getting defeated. Incidentally this will be Joe Fagan's first appearance in St. Louis since that memorable game at High School Field when Schullin Steel nosed out Arden.

Fagan had been playing ducks and drakes with that Schullin front line and 10,000 fans in the packed stands were handing Joe the well known razzberry. That did not faze the Morgan boy one whit, for he promptly bundled Tate Brady, the St. Louis idol into a pile of mud in front of the stands then turned around and laughed.

League soccer will dominate the soccer field this week, that is outside of the junior cup final at Gallatin. Two games will be played in the American League, Pittsburgh is scheduled to meet Heidelberg, and Harmarville scheduled to meet the Corinthians at Cooley Field.

Nothing depends upon the outcome of these games so it is very evident that the upriver classic will get the crowd.

Heidelberg will probably put on full steam in the Pittsburgh game. This will be the last game before the teams leaves for St. Louis to play in the Olympic eliminations. Manager Balsarini will field the full team despite realizing that the league is in the bag.

Pointing for the Olympics -:- By Quill

IN THE TRAINING CAMPS

AVON PARK, Fla., March 23. — (AP.) — Watty Holm has taken his place as the regular third baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals and it was he who supplied the winning punch for the Cardinals in their 8 to 3 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday. With the bases full Holm smacked a clean single through the box scoring two men. Holm looked good in his new position.

CUBS BREAK CAMP

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 23.—(AP.)—Apparently a stronger defensive club than a year ago, the Chicago Cubs today had said goodbye to their training camp on Catalina Island and started out on a long exhibition game trip which will end just before the opening of the National League season at Cincinnati. The first of these games was with Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League today.

TRIS SPEAKER READY

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 23.—(AP.)—Tris Speaker, in the opinion of most of the Philadelphia Athletics, has reached top form in his training. He has whittled off extra flesh until he now weighs 185, the lowest playing poundage he has carried in three years. He has recently been detected searching around centerfield for four-leaf clovers which, his teammates say, is an official indication that he is ready to start the long campaign.

WILLIAMS IN STRIDE

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 23.—(AP.)—At least one of the Phillies — Cy Williams, slugging outfielder—has at last found his batting eye. When some of the others get going Manager Shotton expects to win another ball game in his exhibition series. Williams slammed out a home run and three singles against Brooklyn at Clearwater yesterday, but the Phillies lost 7 to 6.

BLANKENSHIP POUNDED

DALLAS, Tex., March 23.—(AP.)—Ted Blankenship, White Sox pitcher, who told Manager Schalk early this week that he thought he was "ready," had reasons today to think otherwise. The ease with which Wichita Falls, Texas League champions, pounded his shoots around the lot yesterday to trim the Sox 10 to 5, indicated to Ted that possibly he is not as "ready" as he believed.

FOTHERGILL REDUCES

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 23.—(AP.)—The rotund Robert Roy Fothergill, probable left fielder for the Detroit Tigers, has, by strenuous reducing measures, undertaken since his arrival here, brought his weight down to 213½ pounds. But he commented ruefully today, "I am weaker than a cat and I'm going to slow down on this training stuff."

The broiling sun, turkish baths, rubber shirts, diet and even pink pills, he declared, have done their work.

BROWNS MEET DODGERS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 23. — (AP.) — Dick Coffman and Ernie Nevers were Manager Howley's mound selections for the St. Louis Browns' tilt with Brooklyn here today.

BRAVES DEFEAT YANKS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 23.—(AP.)—The Boston Braves think they are entitled to be called the spring world champions on the basis of four wins in five starts against the club that shut the Pirates out last year in four straight games. The Braves slammed the Yanks here yesterday, 6-2, despite home runs by Combs and Lazzeri.

RED SOX HURLERS WEAK

BRADENTON, Fla., March 23.—(AP.)—If yesterday's game between the Giants and the Red Sox demonstrated anything in particular it was that the Sox pitchers need more practice than the fast waning training season probably will allow them to get. While it was true that the Giant hurling staff looked none too impressive in edging out of the Sox, 8-7, the Boston lads, Russell, Wiltse and MacFayden showed even less.

PIPP BACK IN ACTION

ORLANDO, Fla., March 23.—(AP.)—Wally Pipp, still a bit weak from his attack of influenza, again is in uniform with the Cincinnati Reds here. He will be ready to go into serious action next week.

INDIANS TO USE REGULARS

CLEVELAND, March 23.—(AP.)—From now on the regular lineup of the Cleveland Indians will take the field in their exhibition games Manager Roger Peckinpaugh has announced. By this plan, Peck hopes to have the Tribe under full speed when the season opens.

FT. WAYNE VICTOR

FT. WAYNE, Ind., March 23.—(AP.)—The Ft. Wayne basketball team, champions of the western division of the American Basketball League, last night defeated the New York Celtics, champions of the eastern division, 28 to 21, in the second game of a three-game series to decide the league championship.

The lineup and summary:

Ft. Wayne—28	G	F	P	New York—21	G	F	P

Brickley Is Out On Bill Pending Appeal

BOSTON, March 23.—(AP.)—Charles E. Brickley, captain of the Harvard football team of 1914 and one of the greatest dropkickers ever in the game, today was at liberty in $20,000 bail pending an appeal from a sentence of 15 months in Charles street jail for conducting a bucketshop and larceny from clients.

Brickley was sentenced late yesterday afternoon in the Suffolk Superior Criminal Court by Judge Patrick Keating, himself a Harvard graduate, after Brickley's counsel, William H. Lewis, all-American and Harvard center of 30 years ago, had made a stirring plea for leniency.

Brickley, in a brief address to the court, said: "I am very sorry anyone lost money through my tradings in the stock market, and if the wheel of fortune ever turns my way again, I hope to pay back all my obligations."

TAYLOR BOXES FOLEY

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 23.—(AP.)—Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., bantamweight champion, is favored to win his 10-round match with Vic Foley, veteran Vancouver featherweight, here tonight. Taylor's title is not at stake.

Three Local Boxers Left in Tourney

DETROIT, March 23.—(AP.)—With all but 30 of the 74 entries in the national amateur junior championship boxing tourney eliminated in the preliminary-round bouts, title competition today had narrowed down largely to a contest between representatives from St. Louis, New York and Grand Rapids.

St. Louis boxers, wearing the colors of the Western Athletic Association, last night placed semi-finalists in five divisions, the flyweight, bantamweight, featherweight, welterweight and middleweight.

Grand Rapids, with only seven entries in the meet, placed two men in the flyweight semi-finals, one in the bantamweight, one in the featherweight and one in the heavyweight class. The latter was Mart Levandowski, of Allegan, Mich., entered by a Grand Rapids amateur club.

New York boxers, entered by the Metropolitan Athletic Association, placed semi-finalists in all divisions except the heavyweight class.

Only one member of the United States Naval Academy team survived the competition, Harry Henderson, a middleweight.

Salt Lake City's team was eliminated in the first round; three Pittsburgh entries survived, as did one each from Providence, R. I., Schenectady, N. Y., and Philadelphia.

The semi-finals are scheduled to get under way at 8 p. m. tonight, to be followed by the finals. Last night's summary:

TILDEN IS WINNER OVER GEORGE LOTT

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 23.—Bill Tilden, the nation's ranking tennis star, defeated George Lott, of Chicago, in a hard-fought match here yesterday in the Davis Cup tryouts, winning, 6-8, 6-2, 6-1, 3-6 and 7-5.

Re-Match Godfrey, Paulino

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP.)—Humbert J. Fugazy, summer rival of Tex Rickard in the local boxing field has opened his drive to break the Madison Square Garden promoter's corner of the heavyweight market.

Before leaving for Chicago to discuss a possible alliance with Jim Mullen, midwest fistic power, Fugazy settled a financial squabble with Paulino Uzcudun, Spanish heavyweight, and announced that the Basque woodsman had agreed to a return match with George Godfrey, giant Negro, at Ebbets Field early in May. Godfrey gained a decision over the Spaniard in 10 rounds on the Coast, recently.

The promoter's trouble with Paulino dated from the Basque's conquest of Harry Wills last summer. Fugazy held up payment of $8,000 from Paulino's share of the receipts, claiming he had advanced that amount to the Spaniard before the match. The controversy was about to be aired in court here.

Fugazy will also attempt to match Jack Sharkey and Jack Delaney for an outdoor bout.

WILKINSBURG BOY AMHERST MAT CHAMP

George Tayler III, son of Dr. Tayler, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Wilkinsburg, won the Amherst College 155-pound wrestling championship in a meet staged recently.

WHITNEY HORSE WINS

AIKEN, S. C., March 23.—At the annual Aiken Horse Show "Reckless Lady," polo pony of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, won the championship cup over a large field.

Additional Club News

"The Interests of American Investments Abroad" will be the subject of a debate between girls from the University of Pittsburgh and Oberlin College, which will take place in the Congress of Clubs tomorrow evening under the direction of the department of education. In the absence of the chairman, Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, her co-chairman, Mrs. C. Watson Kenney, will have charge. The girls from Pitt are Miss Elizabeth Smith, Miss Marion Benedict and Miss Sylvia Berman. From Oberlin, Miss Jane Richards, Miss Florence Hine and Miss Emelie Jones. Dean Thyrsa W. Amos, of Pitt, and Mrs. Berger Engstrom, president of the Oberlin College Club in this city, will be honor guests. The Pitt Glee Club will furnish music and the regular dinner will be served from 5 to 7 o'clock.

At the southwestern district meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, held in William Penn Hotel, Mrs. John E. McKirdy (left) presided. Among the honor guests and speakers were Miss Florence M. Dibert, Johnstown, second vice president in the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. John A. Frick, Allentown, state president, and Mrs. Alfred A. Crooks, Norwood, state chairman of club institutes.

JURY HOLDS WOMAN IN "TRIANGLE" SLAYING

OTHER WISHES HER "NO HARM"

Two women whose love for Sam Lagattuta, 39, of 538 Becks Run road, ended in his death by murder, faced each other for the first time at the coroner's inquest today when one of them was held for court on a charge of murder.

Pauline Costanzo, 18, of 1318 Clark street, who was wed to Sam on his death bed, saw Rose Scarpo, 32, who used the revolver after she learned that Sam had divided his love.

"I'm sorry for her," Pauline whispered as Rose was held for court on a charge of slaying the man with whom she lived for 11 years.

Sam died last Sunday morning a few hours after he had married Pauline by his bed in South Side Hospital, a ceremony that provided Pauline's three weeks old child a name.

YOUTH ON SIDEWALK INJURED BY AUTO

Clyde Haney, 19, of 27 Market street, McKeesport, was a sidewalk victim of a collision of two automobiles in Spring street, McKeesport, last night. He is in the McKeesport Hospital with a fractured skull.

Haney was knocked down by a machine driven by P. J. Bowen, of 1815 Federal street, McKeesport, which was forced on the pavement in a crash with the car of W. H. Baehr, 1401 Centennial street, McKeesport. Both cars were wrecked, but none of their occupants was injured.

How One Thin Woman Gained 11 Pounds

Read This Letter

This is from Mrs. W. E. Looney—I just must tell you that McCoy's Tablets are the finest things I have ever tried. I have always been thin and never found anything to do me so much good. I was disappointed in the beginning.

I weighed 104 when I began—now I weigh 115½. I praise them. I can't be without them. My limbs are picking up fine. I am singing their praises to everyone I see. I didn't have any faith in them to start.

Signed (Mrs. W. E. Looney)
Tennessee.
Oct. 16th, 1927.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking four 60-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or two $1 boxes any thin, under-weight man or woman doesn't gain at least five pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at May's Drug Stores or any drug store in America.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c, 30c, 60c.

"Always Tired at Night"—Try This

A healthy person never feels constantly tired. Being "too tired" continually tells of something wrong. When John R. Gordon, Danville, Ill., found himself "always tired at night and burdened with backache," he took Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, and writes: "After a few doses, I felt better, could work easier, became stronger, and slept soundly." Men and women everywhere use and recommend them. Satisfaction guaranteed. Ask for Foley Pills diuretic. Sold everywhere.

GUARDIAN FILES ANSWER IN REMOVAL

Samuel A. Dempster, of the W. J. Gilmore Drug Company, has filed an answer in Orphans' Court to the petition of his niece, Mary Wood Dempster, who asked that he be removed as her guardian, and the Commonwealth Trust Company substituted as guardian ad litem. The Orphans' Court appointed the trust company and granted a rule on Samuel Dempster to show cause why he should not be removed.

The petition filed by Miss Dempster, 19, a student at Vassar College, by her mother, Mrs. Helen Wood Dempster, recited that she was the daughter of David Morrison Dempster, who died December 6, 1918. Under the will, Samuel A. Dempster was appointed her guardian without bond. The petitioner charged her guardian with mismanaging her estate, making speculative investments, using 427 shares of stock of the Gilmore Drug Company to further his own interests, and with antagonism to her mother and herself.

The amount of the estate was approximately $112,511.43.

In his answer, Dempster denied all the allegations, saying he had been guided by advice of counsel. He admitted disagreements with his ward's mother and her father, Charles Woods, but declared his relations with his ward were most cordial.

MARKET ROBBED 2ND TIME IN MONTH

Using a meat cleaver to knock the combination off the safe in the Community Market, 319 South Lang avenue, thieves last night took between $400 and $500. On February 21 the market was robbed of $500 in a similar manner.

TROOPERS STOP GIRL'S SPEECH TO MINERS

BURGETTSTOWN, Pa., March 23. Rebecca Grecht, of Pittsburgh, barred from speaking in Washington county because of alleged seditious utterances, made an unsuccessful attempt to address a gathering of about 100 miners at Slovan, near here, yesterday afternoon. The meeting had just started and Miss Grecht had announced she would "speak in spite of anybody," when Private J. J. Henichek and Private B. H. Mosier arrived with orders for the crowd to disperse.

Miss Grecht remonstrated with the troopers, but she was told that Sheriff Oddie Abbott had given instructions that she was not to be permitted to meet with the miners. The crowd was dispersed without trouble and no arrests were made.

TWO DIVORCE LIBELS ARE FILED IN COURT

Libels in divorce have been filed in Common Pleas Court as follows: Stella A. Stinner, West Elizabeth, against Leonard J. Stinner, Duquesne, cruel and barbarous treatment, and Raymond R. Branson, Y. M. C. A., Center avenue, against Carrie E. Branson, Bidwell street, desertion.

500 MORE MEN GO TO WORK AT COKE OVENS

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., March 23.—The H. C. Frick Coke Company, firing ovens at three plants in the last week, has given employment to 500 more men in this region. At Phillips 142 ovens were fired yesterday and 200 were placed in operation at the same time at Continental No. 1. Earlier in the week 151 were fired at Calumet.

YOUTH HELD AS ABDUCTOR FREE

BUTLER, Pa., March 23.—Walter Wieland, Valencia youth, arrested 10 days ago by Sheriff J. F. Leslie at the request of Roxbury (Md.) authorities, on a charge of abduction, has been released from jail. Dorothy Campbell, 14, school girl, with whom Wieland eloped, has been sent home under the care of the Travelers Aid Society.

Maryland officers yesterday notified Sheriff Leslie that they would not send for the prisoners.

MONTREAL, March 23.—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who have battled valiantly through the throes of a very much in-and-out season in the National Professional Hockey League, need nothing more than a tie to cop a play-off, and likewise, pay-off berth in the windup of the league race. Last night they defeated the local Maroons here, 2-1, and took undisputed possession of third place, breaking out of the tie with the Detroit Cougars.

The only hope the Cougars now have of getting the play-off honor from the Bucs by virtue of having scored more goals than the Pittsburghers, is for the N. Y. Rangers to defeat the Pirates in the game at Pittsburgh Saturday night, while they, the Cougars, are downing

Postpone Tunney Action

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP.)—The New York State Athletic Commission today upset expectations by failing to act on the status of Gene Tunney, who has ignored the commission's request to select a definite opponent from the commission's list of challengers for a title match this year.

Possibility of suspending Tunney was implied before the meeting, but the commission confined itself to the bare statement that all consideration of the champion's case had been postponed until next Tuesday's meeting. It was indicated, however, that a further exchange of telegrams with Tunney may take place before then.

In reply to the commission's request to select one of three listed challengers—Jack Sharkey, Tom Heeney and Johnny Risko—Tunney wired merely that he had signed with Tex Rickard to defend his title and that the promoter would select his opponent.

The rush of additional heavyweight challengers meanwhile put

McGraw's Keystone Stars

GREAT PAIR

It has been the history of the New York Giants that they have won pennants when they have had great pairs at second base and short. Dahlen and Gilbert were a fine combination back in 1905 and then came the above pair, Shortstop Art Fletcher and Second Baseman Larry Doyle.

WILL THEY MEASURE UP TO STANDARD?

Manager McGraw starts off the 1928 season with a new combination around second base, as a result of the trading of Rogers Hornsby to the Boston Braves. Young Andy Cohen will hold down the sack, with Travis Jackson, captain of the club, at his side. Will the combination measure up to the former groups the club has known? Only the season itself can furnish the answer.

A GOOD PAIR

When the Doyle-Fletcher duo was broken up, Charley Herzog teamed with Fletcher for a time and this pair was followed by Dave Bancroft and Frankie Frisch, both still starring in the majors. Jackson and Cohen have a high standard set by their predecessors, to live up to.

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

THERE is no occasion for the fretting that is being done in some quarters over the failure of the Pittsburgh baseball club to make a better showing in its exhibition games up to date.

James Lindsay.

Though they managed to gain the edge on the Missions, the Pirates have lost the majority of their meetings with the San Francisco team, and some of the fans appear to be taking this as a sign that the season is already as good as ruined.

In reality, there is nothing to cause the slightest uneasiness. Of course, the players want to win if they can, but winning the games is not the main purpose of these exhibitions. The real object is to work the club into condition and afford Manager Bush an opportunity of passing final judgment on certain of his recruits.

IT IS the new pitching material in particular that Donie wants to

SCELLO VICTOR OVER WELCH

Phil Scello, McKeesport lightweight, proved beyond a question of a doubt his superiority over his fellow townsman, Teddy Welch, by handing the latter a lacing in the 10-round windup of the Majestic Club's show at the Palisades, McKeesport, last night.

Scello carried the fight to Welch from the start, and with the exception of the third held a big advantage over Teddy. He enjoyed a big lead up until the ninth when Welch staged a game rally and won a draw for the round, but Scello re-established his margin in the tenth.

In the semi-final, scheduled for eight rounds, ended in the third when Ken Hargraves of New Kensington was awarded the bout when JIMMY BRONSON, manager of the Zivic brothers, Sandy Seifert and others, who has just formed a partnership with Bill Miller, formerly allied with Frank Churchill, to take the place of his former partner, Lou Brown, who sold out his interests to devote all of his time to the moving picture industry, comes up with a fine idea. It is to forget some of these alleged heavyweight eliminators and begin turning to the younger generation of big fellows in an effort to find the man who some day will dethrone Gene Tunney, for whom Bronson acts as chief second in his titular battles.

"Let's do something like that before we eliminate the fans from the game," Bronson writes in a letter from New York, and he lists no less than two score young heavyweights who appear to have a chance to say something in the heavyweight division in the years to come. That's not the limit of the field, but it is an interesting compilation, and we append it herewith, along with the home towns of the young hopefuls:

NEW YORK BODY IGNORES BAN ON SINCLAIR

NEW YORK, March 23.—(INS.)—New York State will allow Harry F. Sinclair to enter his horses on its race courses as long as he abides by the laws of racing, it was decided by the stewards of the Jockey Club at a meeting here. The Maryland State Racing Commission had passed a resolution asking other turf bodies to follow its lead in barring Sinclair horses from Maryland tracks because of the oil scandal.

Racing officials in Illinois, Kentucky and Canada also will refuse to bar horses from the Rancocas stable, according to reports received here.

NOTES of the BOXERS

MIKE DUNDEE and U. S. Carpentier met yesterday afternoon in the Motor Square gym, where both are working out for their battle in the Motor Square gym next Monday night. They are sparring daily, but not at the same hour. Mike was finishing up when Carp turned up yesterday and they shook hands and looked each other over.

Carp is tall and lean for a featherweight and Mike is short and squat with a build intended for a puncher. The local pride must figure on his boxing skill to win, for the fighting and socking edge both are with the Rock Island veteran.

Four 10-round bantamweight bouts headline the show at Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight. Kid Francis meets Archie Bell, Andre Routis engages Sammy Dorfman, Dominick Petrone boxes Ignacio Fernandez and Benny Schwartz opposes Al Brown. King Tut and Doc Snell will box the windup of a benefit show for the flood sufferers in San Francisco, Big Boy Peterson and Roberto Roberti top a heavyweight show in Chicago, Jack Gross, Philadelphia heavy, meets Jack Roper at Hollywood, Cal., and the National A. ADAMS BIG STAR OF BUCCO TEAM

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Now that they are almost washed up as far as those terrible Seals are concerned, the Pirates today are looking forward to better luck as they continue their activities in the Golden Gate sector.

Weather permitting, the Bushwhackers will take on the Mission Bells this afternoon and there's one club around this neighborhood they can lick, at least they have twice trimmed Red Killefer's fair-to-middlin' ball club and they will aim to make it three successes today.

True, the Buccos need something to bolster up their courage after taking four pastings in five clashes with the Seals.

That slump stuff, by the way, is a real alibi for the Pittsburgh failures here, but it doesn't go when you refer to one Earl Adams, who is known all over the National League circuit as "Sparky." If there is one gleaming light in the disappointing play of the Pirates here, it is found in the whirlwind efforts of the little second sacker. Stars have been folding up all about Sparky but he

Salador Is Chosen Referee of Morry Game

Chuck Salador, well-known American Professional League referee and one of the officials working the present Celtic-Fort Wayne series, this morning wired his acceptance of an invitation to handle the Morry-Celtic game at Duquesne University tomorrow night.

Salador is rated as one of the best professional basketball referees in the country and his presence in the Celtic-Morry game is likely to add considerable color to the contest.

The American League official last year suffered an injury to his spine during a game in Washington and it was feared for a time that he would be forced to abandon the sport. However, he showed rapid recovery and was one of the officials that handled the Celtic-Cleveland series for the championship last winter.

Salador will accompany the Celtics to Pittsburgh.

THE members of the New York Celtics, world's professional basketball champions, form one team that has succeeded in mastering all the fine points of the popular winter indoor sport. The Celtics, who, at the present time, are defending their laurels in a series with the Fort Wayne Knights of Columbus, will be here tomorrow night to meet the former Pittsburgh Morrys on the Duquesne University floor.

There have been numerous good teams identified with basketball in past years and there will continue to be good teams in the years to come, but the Celtics always will

Makes Good

GERALD FITZGERALD

Gerald (Jeff) Fitzgerald, well-known outfielder of Overbrook, is making good with the Newark Internationals, according to reports from the training camp in the South. Fitzgerald, playing center field and leading off for the Bears in the batting order, has made a decided hit with Manager Walter Johnson and is almost certain to stick. In a recent exhibition game he came through with three hits, including a triple and a double, and scored two runs in five trips to the plate. He has been hitting consistently and his fielding has been flawless.

THE Bronson stable has undergone considerable changing with the switch in partnership, Miller having brought his own talent into the organization to augment the former Bronson-Brown forces. As now lined up, the stable consists of the following:

Jack and Pete Zivic, Phil Goldstein and Sandy Seifert of Pittsburgh (Joey Natgish does not appear on the firm's latest stationery); Ad Warren, a North Carolina collegian, heavyweight; Meyer Cohen, welterweight; Jack Horner, 135-pounder; Mickey Terry, 147-pounder; Joey Kaufman, lightweight; Bobby Garcia, junior-lightweight; Allentown Johnny Leonard, featherweight, and Jimmy Happaport, 122-pounder.

ARTHUR NEWTON, the South African star, now is out of C. C. Pyle's cross-country race, and steadily the outlook for Bill Busch, Pittsburgh's entry, grows brighter, although he is far behind the present leaders because of time lost when he became stranded in the Mojave desert. Newton was the only runner Busch feared before they started and Newton demonstrated that these fears were well grounded by setting the pace for more than a week and gaining a good-sized lead before he was forced to drop out because of ankle trouble. Barring illness or injury, Busch more than ever looks like the best bet to win, with almost six weeks' trudging to go.

Local Boy's Legs Stiffen

By LELAND C. LEWIS,
International News Service

NEW MEXICO STATE LINE, March 23.—Two states, California and Arizona, lay behind as C. C. (Cross-Country) Pyle's Blistered Baronets pushed Eastward, 26 miles, to Gallup, New Mexico, today.

At starting time the five leaders in the grind retained their relative positions, with the following elapsed times for the 636 miles from Los Angeles: Arne Souminen, Detroit, 118:36, flat; Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., 121:27:47; John Cronick, Saskatoon, Canada, 122:18:35; Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, 123:17:11; Voight Hofstader, Manistee, Mich., 129:28:45.

Olli Wanttinen, New York Finn, negotiated the 34.2 miles from Navajo to Lupton yesterday in 5:12:20. His elapsed time is 160:35:03. Harry Arianowitz, New York, covered the lap in 6:53:20; elapsed time, 159:04:05.

Billy Busch, of Pittsburgh, who "ran his legs off" Wednesday on the Holbrook-Navajo lap, suffered for it yesterday, when his legs crumpled under him 20 miles out of Lupton. Masseurs worked on the strained muscles until a late hour last night, and the youth was determined to make up the score of miles during the day.

Earl Dilks, New Castle, Pa., dropped from eleventh place yesterday to outside the first 15 when he made good his promise "to walk a day for a change." His elapsed time for the 651.8 miles to Navajo was 135:14:15.

Leaving Gallup tomorrow morning, the Pyle Caravan will surmount the continental divide on the 32.3-mile trek to Thoreau, where camp will be made for the night. The highest elevation reached on the cross-country will be near Thoreau, 7,465 feet.

Sunday, the runners and walkers will sweep down from the heights to Grans, 31.3 miles from Thoreau. Monday's trek will be 34 miles to old Lagunda, with an additional 31.4 miles, making Rio Puerco the Tuesday night control. Albuquerque will be the objective of a 39-mile jaunt Wednesday.

Sharkey To Box Delaney

NEW YORK, March 23.—(INS.)—Jack Delaney's ring future was shrouded in doubt today. While Tex Rickard was reported to have announced in Florida that the Bridgeport (Conn.) heavyweight would return to the light-heavyweight division and probably would fight Tommy Loughran in June, Jess McMahon, Rickard's matchmaker, said here that a Delaney-Jack Sharkey match would be closed in New York today. McMahon said Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, would sign today for a Delaney-Sharkey bout here June 30.

McMahon also announced that the Joe Dundee-Ace Hudkins welterweight title fight probably would be postponed until June at the request of Hudkins.

Meanwhile Promoter Humbert Fugazy, Rickard's rival, announced that George Godfrey and Paulino Uzcudun had accepted terms for a return match under his management in Brooklyn in May. Godfrey is said to have telegraphed a challenge against Gene Tunney's title to the New York Boxing Commission.

four more names on the list. They are Paulino Uzcudun, the Spanish woodchopper; George Godfrey, giant Negro; Jack Delaney, former light-heavyweight champion, and Phil Scott, British champion, now making a second invasion of the United States.

The commission refused to accept forfeit checks accompanying these defis and merely placed the names on file as a "second division" list.

It was suggested, to further the elimination process, that Paulino and Scott be matched to fight at Madison Square Garden. Terms for such a match were agreed upon a year ago, but it fell through.

size up finally.

Therein you will find the answer to the question as to why the Corsairs have lost more games than they have won, for if you have followed the box scores each day you must have observed that on most occasions Bush sent to the hill new pitchers, such as Lindsey, Mahaffey, Peery, Bartholomew, Spencer and others.

Older men have been used at times, but the bulk of the work was given to the youngsters.

The reason for this was that Manager Bush knew what the old regulars could do, but was still in the dark about some points in connection with the recruits. He took this means of finding out what he wanted to learn, regardless of whether the games were won or lost.

THE whole story, therefore, is that San Francisco's victories were due largely to the fact that they had only rookie pitching to face.

Don't worry about the Pirates. They'll be there with the traditional bells on when the starting gun is fired.

HOCKEY followers who believe that it may be a difficult matter to obtain players if a new league is formed, with a club in Pittsburgh as well as in other large cities are assured by Roy D. Schooley, who is looked upon as the logical man to back the movement here, that that will be the easiest part of the entire undertaking.

Roy D. Schooley.

"There is no end to the good hockey material in the professional and other leagues in Canada," said Schooley. "The promoters of a new league that meant business could go into Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal and get more players than they could ever hope to use.

"NEW blood is needed anyhow. Look over most of the present professional lineups and you will find that they are made up chiefly of men who must be called old in a playing sense. They have been nursed along by various methods, which began with the cutting of teams from seven players to six.

"When these veterans begin to go they will go all at once and there won't be much left.

"The league with a lot of young players will be the league of the future."

BILLY WALLACE, the Cleveland boxer, who has been seen in action by Pittsburgh fans at Motor Square Garden, is one glove battler who is not looking for Jimmy McLarnin to defeat Sammy Mandell, the lightweight champion.

"Mandell will not surprise me if he wins with plenty to spare," Wallace said. "He may not be the greatest lightweight that ever lived, but he has one thing that can beat McLarnin, and that is a straight left. I have boxed McLarnin and have watched him in other bouts, and he's what you might class a sucker for a straight left. You can't miss him with it. He beat Kaplan and Terris with right-hand punches because they are easy targets for right-hands."

L. G. S. writes:

"The Pittsburgh Three-Cushion League has sure done and is still doing much to revive interest in the angle game.

Billy Wallace

"Men like Chris Dimling, Charley Ellis and the other room owners who are conducting this league deserve credit for their unselfish sportsman ship.

"Credit is also due to all the players who have given their best at all times. The games in general have been hotly contested.

"SPEAKING of players, there is one who, although the youngest in the league, has been showing marked improvement as the season progresses. This player, Eddie Smith, representing Dimling's, has won something like 15 of his last 20 games and is now in third place.

"With the season nearing a close, Eddie seems to have the third place prize money tucked away.

"More of this young billiard star will be heard in the future. I hope the league has enjoyed success and that it will function again next year."

continues to dive around in a defensive way, while his bat is a big feature of the daily jousts.

ADAMS CLINCHES JOB

Adams is batting better than .500 since the engagements with the Coast Leaguers started. Perhaps it would be timely to relate that in the opinion of Donie Bush and many other camp veterans, Adams has clinched the keystone job.

If there was any doubt in Bush's mind, before Sparky jumped into Pittsburgh spangles it has been dissipated with the fleeting fog that flies over this big city.

Adams will start the season at second base and his advance arguments in the troublesome second-notch of the batting order indicates that he will send Sprout Waner on his way many, many times before the revered old troopers parade on Decoration Day.

Yes, folks, Sparky seems to have given the infield the spark it needed by making second base a position of certainty.

There still seems to be some question to whether Boots Grantham can assure the kick registered by the club when Joe Harris dominated the play of the Pirates.

In the spring work Grantham has shown a better grade of ginger, although there has been nothing striking about the pep of the infield.

From the standpoint of individual intrinsic skill the Pirates would seem to have the best infield in captivity. The team play element is not nearly as certain.

Coulter Joe was the beacon-light for the outfielders whenever it was necessary for a long, hard shot.

Grantham, evidently is looking after this work in the new scheme and to date, he has shown much promise.

Perhaps he will be a success in this connection; if he does he should be one of the most valuable players in the league, for he surely has natural skill sticking out all over him.

Manager Bush is now faced with the problem of selecting his utility infielders. Donie is known to be sweet on Dick Bartell, clever native son, who starred for New Haven last year, while on a Pirate string.

It isn't likely that the Pirates will carry both Bartell and Joe Cronin, inasmuch as Eddie Mulligan is a sure shot for a utility berth. If Cronin stays with the team Bartell probably will be farmed out to a fast minor league club.

Apparently the boss thinks Alameda Dick is a better fielder than Cronin. He does not seem to have as much punch at the plate however. Nevertheless, both are fine major league prospects.

Infielder George Gottlieber has shown Bush a lot of cleverness at a fielder, batter and base runner but the Western Le[illegible] is not getting much of a play in these contests, the conclusion being that he will be farmed out or disposed of in some other way.

The Mission club it is said, is anxious to do business for some of the surplus pitchers.

Bush has a number of clever boys who, while they have been unable to show much in San Francisco, are hurlers of rare skill.

SEEK WINTER GAMES

NEW YORK, March 23.—Following a visit of inspection at the principal European winter resorts, Dr. Godfrey Dewey, manager of the Olympic ski team, declared that Lake Placid stood ready to conduct the winter sports program for the 1932 Olympic games, both from the standpoint of climate and the facilities at hand.

FIGHT RESULTS

At McKeesport—Phil Scello defeated Teddy Welch, 10 rounds; Ken Hargraves won on foul over Frank Gordini, 3 rounds; Jimmy Belmont defeated Billy Carter, 6 rounds; Bobby Luke defeated Tony Azzara, 6 rounds.

At Toledo—Bushy Graham defeated Joe Ryder, 12 rounds.

At Boston—Sid Barbarian defeated Johnny Ceccoli, 10 rounds; Ted Sandwina scored technical knockout over Eddie Callahan, 5 rounds.

At Kansas City—Joe Simonich defeated Larry Capps, 10 rounds; Dave Cook knocked out Spider Kelly, 7 rounds.

At Davenport, Ia.—Jock Malone defeated Benny (Kid) Stanley, 10 rounds; Kayo White knocked out Homer Robertson, 5 rounds.

HAZELWOOD PLAYER IS SIGNED BY COLTS

CUMBERLAND, Md., March 22.—Eight players, including four members of 1927's championship team, already are under contract to play with the Cumberland Colts in the Middle Atlantic League.

The latest recruits are Clarence Hicks, third baseman, and Bill Jacobs, an outfielder. Hicks, a native of Washington, D. C., is being sent here by Coach Moran of the Catholic University. The Detroit Club has an option on him and will get first call on his services. If Detroit decides to take Hicks and the third baseman makes good, $750 will be paid the local club.

Jacobs comes from Hazelwood, where he has starred on semi-pro teams. Honus Wagner, in recommending him, says Jacobs is ripe for organized ball and should make the grade with Cumberland. Jacobs tips the beam at 170 and is regarded as a heavy-hitting outfielder.

SIANOS CLINCH TITLE

The Sianos won the right to meet the Mieles for the P. & O. League title when they defeated the Somersmans last night in an overtime game at Columbus Temple, 24 to 23.

ARE YOU a "TOXIC"

A Gripping of the Heart

A sudden gripping of the heart, then a feeling that it has stopped completely—that's a serious sign. Many people today suffer heart trouble as a result of system-poisoning. It comes from our abnormal living habits, which put too great a strain upon the "purification" organ, the liver. The liver becoming sluggish and congested fails to cleanse the blood of poisons formed in food waste. The whole system then becomes toxic, with stomach, kidneys, heart and blood vessels affected. The liver, especially at middle life, needs a little help, and there's nothing better for this, as physicians today know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a great natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to health and vitality. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists, and one or two days' use will prove itself. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol.

Team, Fans' Hopes High

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 23.—The Duquesne High School team and a special train of students and fans, who have followed their progress in advancing to the championship of the W. P. I. A. L. and of Western Pennsylvania by defeating Sharon at Grove City, have arrived on the scene of action for the state tournament which opens tonight under the auspices of Penn State College.

The Western Pennsylvania titlist met with three other teams here this morning, Hazleton, Jersey Shore and Lewistown, and drew for opponents in the semi-final round tonight. Tomorrow the winners will clash for the title of champion of Pennsylvania, and the victor likely will compete for the national crown in Chicago early next month. The other contenders also have arrived.

Duquesne followers are making their headquarters in Bellefonte and will use buses for transportation to State College.

The Duquesne team is in good shape physically, having come through the local W. P. I. A. L. title series and the contest with Sharon at Grove City without mishap. The same lineup that played through most of the season and through the title series, the Kowallis, Kocheran, Long, Rice and Ciesynski combination, in all probability will be used in the state tourney.

Beggs Snyder, local official, and Jim Rumsey of Philadelphia have been selected to handle the games.

HOCKEY

Chicago. If the Blues tie the Rangers, they will clinch the position, regardless of how Detroit makes out with the Hawks.

The contest last night was a thriller, with Hib Milks, Bucco center proving to be the star. Milks' goal after 41 seconds of the final period had elapsed turned the tide in favor of the Pirates, and they were able to hold the Maroons in check for the remainder of the game.

Oatman gave the locals a lead by scoring in the opening period. A three man attack on the goal was too much for Worters to stop and Oatman slipped the disc past the Buc goalie.

In the second period, Darragh evened matters when he slapped the rubber into the net from the right side of the rink, catching the Maroon goal defender, Benedict, by surprise. Both teams battled furiously to gain the lead after that score, and only a spectacular save on the part of Worters kept Hooley Smith from scoring late in the period.

Milks scored the winning goal almost from the face-off as the final period started, flipping the disc over Benedict's stick with three Maroon defenders closing in upon him. The Maroons tried hard to even matters in the closing minutes of the battle, but Worters' work in the net and the tight packed defense of the Pirates was too great an obstacle to be overcome.

Followers of professional basketball who have had the good fortune to see the Celtics in action in recent years are firm in their contention that basketball never has seen the equal of the American League champions.

IF there is anything pertaining to the popular indoor sport that the Celtics haven't mastered it never has been brought to the attention of the basketball public. Competing against the strongest teams in the country on their home courts and forced to travel continually, the Celtics have compiled a record that stamps them as the greatest floor machine ever moulded together. They seldom fail to give patrons of basketball a real treat for their money.

The Celtics have done more to popularize the winter indoor sport than any other team connected with the game. Many clubs have attempted to copy their style of play and yet few can measure up to the standard set by the Celtics. And team successful in defeating the Celtics has achieved something that it can boast about for years to come.

THE Celtics, admitted to be the best drawing card in basketball, possess the knack of making a good team appear mediocre and an ordinary team appear like world-beaters. This colorful aggregation of stars can adapt itself to any style of play, one reason why fans invariably get a thrill out of watching it perform to perfection. If there ever was a basketball team that was perfect in its actions on the wooden court the American League quintet has that distinction.

Take the best team in the country and the Celtics can name the number of points they can beat it. Possessing a swift, passing attack that seldom fails to confuse the strongest opposition, every member of the Celtics has the happy faculty of knowing how, when and where to do things once the whistle is blown.

AL SPEER, veteran member of the Tristate Officials' Association and one of the very best handlers of the whistle in this vicinity, was desired as the referee for the Morry-Celtic game tomorrow night, but was forced to turn down the offer due to the fact that he is working in New Kensington.

Speer worked the last Morry-Celtic game on the Duquesne University floor and made a decided hit with both teams. An experienced official who is fearless in his decisions, Speer has earned for himself a reputation of fairness that stamps him as one of the outstanding referees in Western Pennsylvania.

When the Celtic-Morry game was arranged it was agreed that Speer would be the official in charge, but arrangements were changed since the Tri-State veteran was unable to take the assignment.

Dominick Petrone, New York featherweight, has been matched to fight Joey Sangor, title contender, 10 rounds in Milwaukee, Sangor's home town, on April 9.

Homer Robertson, former local Negro middleweight, was knocked out by K. O. White, Negro of Chicago, in the fifth round at Davenport, Ia., last night.

Phil Goldstein, local lightweight, and California Joe Gans have been matched for the 10-round windup at McKeesport next Thursday night.

The Motor Square card for next Monday night has been completed with the signing of Stanley Simmons and Jack O'Connell, light-heavyweight rivals, for the second bout of the four eights. It will be their fourth meeting. Simmons knocked out Jack in the second round at Warren, O., last Monday night and the Clevelander is anxious to even up. Georgie Harris, of Niles, O., and Young Rudy, of Charleroi, will box the semi-final, and Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, and Eddie Raven, of the North Side, the opener.

Andy Tomosky, of Wilmerding, and Johnny Ryan, of Boston, will box the 10-round windup at Meadville April 12, with Frankie Porto, of McKeesport, and Jackie Schwartz meeting in the six-round semi-final.

Forbes

Rosenwald Sets Example For Nationwide Companies.

—By B. C. FORBES—

SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO. have taken a step which carries a suggestion for other large organizations, especially those doing a nationwide business.

Industry and merchandising are being done more and more through branch factories, branch assembling plants, branch warehouses, branch and chain stores.

The action inspired by Julius Rosenwald, the far-seeing head of Sears, Roebuck & Co., is calculated to remove, or at least modify, the widespread complaint that managers in charge of branch establishments or chain stores too often have neither the authority nor the inclination to accept a full share of local civic responsibilities and obligations.

THE following letter tells what has been done:

"My Dear Mr. Forbes:

"You will recall that under date of February 2 you wrote an open letter from Oakland, Cal., to several chief executives of large industries. Included in your list was the name of Mr. Julius Rosenwald, as chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co. You suggested that these companies, who have branches in various cities, induce their representatives to take an active part in the communities where their branches are located. Mr. Rosenwald brought this to my attention.

"I thought you might be interested in knowing that on February 13 we held a meeting of all our regional managers and read your letter to them. We urged them to follow your suggestion, and have taken steps to increase the affiliation of our company with worthy civic and philanthropic movements in all the cities in which we have branches.

"Please accept our very heartiest thanks for bringing this matter to our attention.

"Sincerely yours,

"LESSING J. ROSENWALD,
"Vice President."

THAT reveals business statesmanship. Now as never before it is being recognized that business success depends largely on goodwill. The earning of goodwill is the chief purpose of all advertising—the earning of goodwill towards a product and towards the concern making the product.

Indeed, the trend today is towards winning confidence in the corporation or institution. If the public can be thoroughly convinced that such-and-such a company never fails to give the greatest value for the consumer's money, then whatever product the concern may bring out faces no "sales resistance," but it is taken for granted that, bearing the stamp of that particular maker, the goods will be highly satisfactory.

AS THIS modern method of doing business through branches and chains spreads, it becomes distinctly more important that goodwill be earned in each city and community where a branch or store is located.

Now, the surest way NOT to earn local goodwill is for the local representative of a huge organization to take no interest whatsoever in local affairs and to shirk every duty and responsibility devolving upon the local citizens.

WERE you to ask Julius Rosenwald why he had taken this action, he would assure you that he had done it only because it was "good business." Whenever he does anything generous for his workers, he is always careful to avow most emphatically that he is actuated only by strictly business motives. If you smile and suggest that you suspect he may have been influenced a little by humane considerations, he gravely protests that you are wrong. Only I happen to know him!

In this particular instance Mr. Rosenwald probably was first actuated by a desire to do the right thing, the considerate thing, the generous thing towards all the communities where branch plants are located. But it cannot be seriously questioned that in this case his action will prove "good business."

HAVE you not noticed that doing the right thing for others usually proves the right thing for a business?

CARNEGIE METALS BULGES ON LOCAL BOARD

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP.)—The bond market was fairly active and the undertone firm today.

Buying of railroad and industrial bonds supplanted yesterday's demand for public utility obligations. St. Paul 5s were eagerly bought and rose almost to their previous high. Seaboard All-Florida 6s moved up 1½ points and Rock Island 4½s, Baltimore and Ohio refunding 5s and Southern Pacific 4½s made substantial gains. Iowa Central first 5s touched a new high at 47.

Buying of American Telephone and Telegraph 5½s lifted them to the year's peak. International Telephone and Telegraph 4½s improved, reflecting merger plans. Tennessee Electric Power 6s were at a new high level, 107¾. Philadelphia Company gold 5s and one or two other utilities were inclined to heaviness on realizing.

Liggett & Myers Tobacco 7s advanced more than 2 points to a new top at 125 and United Drug of Delaware 5s touched the year's high at 99½. Youngstown Sheet and Tube 5s, Humble Oil and Refining 5s and Andes Copper Mining 7s made small gains.

The foreign group was active, but somewhat heavy. Finland 6s were at their high level. Budapest City 6s also were in demand.

Little chance was shown in U. S. government bonds.

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

STOCK MARKET AGAIN RUSHES UPWARD

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP.)—Disregarding profit-taking in several of the recent leaders, the stock market swung upward in impressive fashion again today. Trading showed a marked broadening in demand, with gains of 2 to 5 points in the seasoned dividend paying industrials and rails, supplemented by advances of 6 to 16 points in several of the pool specialties. Trading did not keep pace with yesterday's record-breaking session in the first three hours, but large blocks of stocks again made their appearance at frequent intervals.

Price movements bore little relations to the day's news, although the unexpectedly small increase in brokers' loans undoubtedly fired the speculative imagination, and gave the "bull" market a new lease of life. Several 1927 earnings reports made their appearance during the day, and they showed mixed results. Packard earned $2.37 a share on the common in the six months ended February 29 against $1.96 in the corresponding period a year ago. Southern Railway earned $14.40 a share for the full year of 1927 as against $15.87 the year before. The Ajax Rubber Company reported a deficit of nearly $2,000,000 last year as contrasted with a deficit of less than $300,000 in 1926.

United States Steel common ran into heavy profit-taking, but held above yesterday's closing level. The H. C. Frick Company, a subsidiary, has lighted 350 additional coke ovens, according to private Pittsburgh dispatches.

Radio, after selling down to 155½, rallied to 156¼, up 5½ points above last night's close, and General Motors rallied from a low of 181⅝ to 184½, or within ¼ a point of the top price recorded on the day's initial transaction. Atlas Powder soared 6 points, Adams Express 13 and Jersey Central, Dupont, Coca Cola, International Harvester and General Electric moved up 5 to 10 points.

Several new highs were recorded in the railroad group, the list including Rock Island common, Texas and Pacific, Reading and Iowa Central.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 23.—(AP.)—Dry weather reports, especially west, and predictions of heavy acreage abandonment east, lifted wheat today to the highest prices yet touched by the July delivery. Meanwhile, corn selling, although of only a scattered sort, proved sufficient to send the corn market downward. Starting unchanged to ⅛c higher, wheat later showed advances all around. Corn opened unchanged to ⅛c decline and subsequently underwent a general sag. Oats were easier. Provisions likewise tended downgrade.

At noon wheat was ⅛c to ⅜c net lower, and corn down ⅛c to 1c.

With the annual crop scare period at hand, the wheat market today proved sensitive to unfavorable weather reports from domestic winter crop territory. Prospects of drought in some sections were eagerly noted by traders inclined to purchase, and so too were adverse field reports from other places. Considerable buying was in particular associated with advices that between Indianapolis and Evansville, Ind., practically all fields are in poor condition.

According to one leading crop expert, a good indication of heavy abandonment of winter wheat acreage is the fact grain dealers are selling relatively little clover seed to be seeded in wheat fields. Other bullish crop dispatches included one from Carmi, Ill., saying "this county will not raise enough wheat for seed and bread, no matter how favorable weather may be hereafter."

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The raw sugar market was unchanged early today, 4.58c for Cuban, duty paid, and 4.55c for duty free, with no sales reported.

The evening-up of March commitments in the raw sugar futures market had an unsettling effect in the early trading. There were 182 notices issued and their circulation caused some liquidation, under which prices eased off 1 to 2 points. Shorts covered on the decline, and when the notices were finally stopped a steadier tone developed. Partial recoveries followed, with prices at midday about 1 point net lower. The volume of business, however, was light, and traders in general were inclined to limit operations and await developments in the spot market.

The demand for refined sugar was not very active, and while refiners' prices were unchanged at 5.90c to 5.85c for fine granulated, second-hand sugars were still around at 5.75c.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP.)—The curb market revealed its usual early Friday morning weakness after the announcement of an increase in brokers' loans, but became stronger at noon. Advances ranged from 1 to 23 points, and appeared chiefly in the industrials.

A 23-point rise by Safeway Stores to new high ground at 445 led the industrials upward. American Arch advanced nearly 8 points. U. S. L. Battery again touched a new high at 103. Mavis Corporation continued to gain on reports of a pending merger with Mavis Bottling. New Orleans and Great Northern advanced a point to a new high at 38¼.

Profit-taking sales hammered Bancitaly down 6 points. The motors were under pressure, although Auburn later recovered from its 2-point slump. New Jersey Zinc dropped about 3 points, Tubize lost 6, and there were losses of 2 points each by A. G. Spalding, United Biscuit "A," U. S. Freight, Peoples Drug Stores and others.

Providence Gas moved up 4 points to a new peak at 129, but other gains among the utilities were limited.

Gulf Oil registered a gain of more than 2 points and Standard of Kansas again reached a new high.

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Market, giving all stocks and bonds traded, 000 omitted in sales column in bond list:

LONE STAR GAS IN DEMAND

A flurry in Carnegie Metals marked the opening of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today with the stock running up about 2 points and the trading volume expanding sharply. About 6,000 shares changed hands in the first hour, after which the stock quieted down.

Lone Star Gas was in good demand at 54, the level at which it has been selling for some time. Buying of the stock today was thought to be in response to the stronger tone in the oil and gas issues in New York. Heretofore, the local fuel list has ignored the recent movements in New York, where sporadic advances have marked the dealings for the past week or so. While the oil companies' 1927 statements made unfavorable reading in most cases, the remarks accompanying the Gulf Oil report a few days ago were interpreted as moderately bullish in trading circles, and it is thought some of the bargain hunters are picking up selected oils for the long pull.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Isabel Morris Harper who died two years ago today, Friday, March 23, 1926.

Today brings back sad memories
Of a loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of her today
Are those who loved her best.
Sadly missed by family and friends.
ALBERT AND WILLIAM SNYDER.

In loving memory of My Dear Mother, Mrs. Sarah Higgins, who departed this life 14 years ago today, March 23, 1914, sadly and greatly missed by her son, Harold.

LET'S DO SOMETHING BIG FOR THIS TINY TOT

WE WANT to do something in a big way for George Remus, the Cincinnati wife slayer, who is being inconvenienced by the authorities. As near as we can find out, he is held against his will in a State institution. There ought to be a way to find out about this case. And there is! We have decided to send Minnie Doakes, our soul-searching sob sister, to Lima, Ohio. She will give her public the searing facts—whether he likes the food, and how it feels to be in the goofy house, etc. You can help, too, Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, by subscribing to the paper. Let's give the litte woman a break!

BUGS BAER Says

THE Nobel prize for reinforced optimism goes to the Consumers' Brewery of Union City, N. J.

The Consumers' Brewery is not a brewery. It has no consumers. It is one of medicine's strangest cases of suspended animation.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER.

But when a tonseled stockholder sought to dissolve this old, moated castle of bygone and malted years, the brewery suddenly came within one breath of life.

President Stecker, testifying before the Court of Chancery, stated that the old suds factory can be jostled into full operation within 48 hours. Provided.

The provision hinges upon the repeal of the Volstead act.

Which is why the Consumers' Brewery gets the bronze plaque for hope deferred. An optimist like that can see dimples in a mule's ears, he can see butterflies fluttering in the glass cases of a museum and hear the singing of stuffed birds.

The law action has been advanced to the court of no chancery.

Not to Be Picked

A very thin fullback was annoyed by the attentions of a small dog during a Rugby match.

At last, when play had moved to the other end, the back turned and shouted to the spectators, "Whoever owns this dog might call him off."

A voice responded, "Come here, Spot. Them ain't bones, boy—them's legs."

End of the Road

Servant: "You know that old vase, mum, you said had been handed down from generation to generation?"

Mistress (anxiously): "Yes."

"Well, this generation has dropped it."

Easy Remedy

"Waiter, these portions of fish are impossible—I have nothing but tail and my wife nothing but head. Can you change them?"

"Certainly, sir—I will give your wife the tail and you the head."—Der Gemutliche Sachse, Leipsig.

Willing to Work

She (to odd-job man)—"I want you this morning to double-dig the kitchen garden, saw down that old tree in the corner, chop it into suitable sizes for lighting fires, clean out the two sheds, overhaul the mowing machine, and thoroughly wash and comb 'Fluffy.'"

Odd-job Man—"And to fill up the mornin', shall I 'op into the 'ouse and give yer a 'and with yer crochet?"

Object Lesson

Teacher—"If you find anything you must not keep it. Have any of you found anything?

Tommy—"My father did."

Teacher—"Did he keep it?"

Tommy—"No, teacher; it was a gold watch——"

Teacher—"Quite right, you see, children."

Tommy—"He took it to the pawn-shop.—Le Moustique, Charleroi.

"Why are you putting 'Personal' on that letter to Mr. Durand?"

"I want his wife to open it."—Pele Mele, Paris.

Blackmer and O'Neil Near End of Their Rope

At last it seems assured that the complete history of the Fall-Sinclair-Blackmer-O'Neil $3,000,000 corruption fund will shortly be known. Able lawyers have planned, on the basis of testimony before the Senate Committee investigating the oil lease scandal, a procedure which will bring the two missing witnesses, Blackmer and O'Neil, home to testify.

The procedure is simple. The $3,000,000 corruption fund was raised by an arrangement to have an enormous quantity of oil sold by one company to another at a profit of 25 cents per barrel. The profit was distributed among the conspirators, but not all has yet been traced. One slice of $160,000 went to the treasurer of the Republican National Committee. Blackmer and O'Neil fled the country and have ever since been in Europe. They received respectively $750,000 and $800,000 of the swag.

Now it is proposed to have them indicted for participating in a conspiracy to defraud the stockholders of the Prairie Oil Company, which bought the oil, and to have them brought home under extradition. As fugitives from justice, they have had no benefit of the statute of limitation, and therefore are still liable to extradition.

The country, now prepared for any revelations, however painful, will anxiously await further proceedings. The whole revolting affair must ultimately be cleaned up, and the sooner the better. No matter how distinguished the reputations or highly placed the individuals affected, there can be no hesitancy now about pressing it to the last limit. The way has apparently been opened and it will be followed through to the bitter end.

Senate Points Way For Muscle Shoals

The Senate has voted as it should on the disposition of the government's investment of $150,000,000 in Muscle Shoals. There was never but one way to use that property. There is only one way to use it now. The United States Government should operate the great Muscle Shoals power plant for the benefit of the people of the United States.

That is what is proposed in Senator Norris' bill, passed by the Senate by a vote of 48 to 25.

It is not proposed to "put the government in business," in the sense of building and operating a power plant.

It is simply proposed that the government sell to its people the power NOW being generated at a great plant which the government owns.

Now it is up to the House to concur in this wise disposal of a great public property, whose usefulness has been curtailed because Congress would not decide for either public operation or private operation.

Hear the American Legion

The American Legion asks to have an observer attached to the delegation representing the United States in the international disarmament conferences at Geneva.

The purpose of these conferences is to cut down armies and navies. The only disarming so far has been done by the United States, which sank over 800,000 tons of battleships and battle cruisers as a result of the Washington Disarmament Conference of 1921. The legion does not propose to have anything further put over on this country.

Their observer should be added to the American delegation at Geneva. The legion knows more about war than any other body of men in the country. They have a right to be represented at any international conference that proposes to reduce the American defense below the point of safety.

Elephants and Ladies

Don't Blame the Elephants

Dr. Hoskins, of Detroit, learns that it takes forty men, working hard, with pulleys, nets, etc., to teach an elephant how to stand on its head.

It takes forty dressmakers, head-dressers, manicurists, etc., to make some extravagant women look as they do.

And the elephant, feet in the air, and the lady, dressed to kill, are equally unimportant.

Train the elephant to pile teakwood logs at home. Teach the rich woman to have ambition and make herself useful, and you will do something worth while. You can say for the elephant that he would rather do good work, and not stand on his head. That cannot always be said for the lady.

The Able French People

Their Wonderful Rebuilding

The French possess great powers of recovery. They do not breed indiscriminately, but with millions of young men killed in war, French population has increased a million five hundred and thirty-three thousand since 1921, bringing the population almost to normal.

Six hundred and eleven thousand houses destroyed have been rebuilt, more than 30,000 miles of roads have been rebuilt, plus 1,600 miles of railroads, and 900 miles of canals reopened. The French men injured by the war have had from their government damages amounting to seventy-five billion francs.

The Hearst Papers Advocate:

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and to promote the peace of the world.
2. Proportional representation in the United States Senate, no state to have less than two Senators. Legislation to enforce prompt constitutional reapportionment in the House of Representatives.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal powers to abolish illiteracy in the United States under a Secretary of Education.
5. Election of Congress in November. Installation on the 1st of January following. Inauguration of the President 1st of January next after November election.

Federal regulation of the oil industry to conserve a vital natural resource.

STILL CALLING 'EM

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Parlor Science

"Here is something I call parlor astronomy. I stirred up some dust and began watching it play around in the sunlight. The particles paid no attention to the gravitation of the earth as they traveled up and down in their curved paths. I noticed that these particles would not light on a shiny surface, but on a shaded or dark surface. There were millions floating around and none that I noticed collided.

"I saw two particles come rather close, and I suppose by the slight gravitation of the particles they began to revolve around one another while journeying along. The larger particle had a small orbit while that of the smaller particle was rather large. I also noticed that when two were approaching each other the smaller was somewhat dragged to one side, while the larger particle had a smaller orbit. In several cases the smaller began to follow the larger. Were these things due to gravitation?—Byron Thorwell Darling."

ALTHOUGH it was not astronomical phenomena that you were watching, yet your "parlor astronomy," which might better be called parlor physics, was certainly very interesting. The motions of the revolving particles were not, as you suppose them to have been, due to their gravitative attraction for one another, but mainly to eddies and currents of air carrying the floating particles about.

The internal motions of a body of air, even when it is enclosed in a room, are incessant and often wonderful, though invisible except through their effects. Particles of dust are swept about in complicated gyratory paths, and two or more of them often behave, as you saw some do, as if they were double stars revolving around their common centers of gravity.

Electricity no doubt plays some part in such phenomena, particles having similar charges repelling one another, while attraction takes the place of repulsion between particles oppositely charged.

What you say of the particles lighting on dark but not on shining surfaces is suggestive of the effects of the pressure of light. The light-waves from bright surfaces would at least have a tendency to repel exceedingly minute floating particles, which, though too small to be directly visible, would be surrounded by minute haloes like stars, revealing their presence. In this case, too, differences of electric potential would be effective.

The marvelous effects produced by air eddies are shown more conspicuously in snowstorms. I have often watched the flakes in such storms behaving in the neighborhood of obstructions such as trees or the walls of houses, almost as if they were animated with wills and purposes of their own, or impressed upon them by their leaders. All the maneuvers of squadrons of cavalry in battle are imitated with astonishing fidelity (but with variations impossible in two-dimensional space) by the wind-driven white riders of the snow.

Your idea that the revolving dust particles are moved by their mutual gravitation shows an exaggerated notion of the force of gravitation when manifested by small masses of matter. It may seem astonishing to many to be told that gravitation, which holds planets in leash to the sun, and the moon to the earth, which never loses its grip upon comets that travel thousands of miles into the depths of space, and which, in fact, evidently extends its empire as far as matter exists, is yet so slight a force that it is practically insensible between the bodies with which we have to do in every day life. Immense masses are needed in order to multiply gravitation up to an appreciable amount.

The letter "G" represents in physical calculations what is called the constant of gravitation. This stands on the same ground as the velocity of light, as one of the absolute constants of nature. No matter where you might be in the universe you would, it is assumed, find light always traveling at the rate of 186,000 miles per second and gravitation always exerting a force equal to about one fifteen millionth of a dyne between two masses of matter weighing one gram each and separated by a distance of one centimeter. Now, a dyne is about equal to the weight of one milligram. Think, then, how infinitely small is one fifteen millionth of a milligram!

Give 'Em a Chance

WHEN you are entertaining some friend or relative from a small city or village don't mention this in your introductions.

The one you introduce may not be ashamed of the place where he lives.

But it is not nice to hear it broadcast that you live in Spruceville.

Spruceville residents may be as well-read and as intelligent and as broad-minded as any persons to be found outside, but among strangers why refer to your friends as hailing from a small town?

Your relatives or friends might feel able to meet any one you introduce upon an equal footing, if you don't embarrass them by too much detail in regard to their little home town.

Why should the town be mentioned in a casual acquaintance, anyway?

There are many persons in the big cities who look down on the ones they call villagers.

It shows their ignorance, but it is a fact nevertheless.

Be tactful in introducing your friends.

Give your country cousins a fair running chance.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Childhood and Spring

I NEVER feel the air of Spring,
With hints of sweets that are to be,
But that its gentle currents bring
My childhood's hours and scenes to me.

And, when I think of childhood days,
I see always the springtime bloom,
A glory down the orchard's ways,
I catch the springtime's fresh perfume.

Childhood and spring, such kindred things,
That, after many a year and mile,
A word may be a bluebird's wings,
A rose may mean my mother's smile!

Words of the Wise

Still waters run no mills.—Aglionby.

Our care should not be so much to live long as to live well.—Seneca.

He whom fortune has never deceived rarely considers the uncertainty of human events.—Livy.

Love sees what no eye sees. Love hears what no ear hears. And what never rose in the heart of man, love prepares for its object.—Lavate.

Talent is talent and mind is mind in all its branches. . . . We must despise no sort of talent; they all have their separate duties and uses; all, the happiness of man for their object; they all improve, exalt and gladden life.—Sydney Smith.

Tales that are Told

Sold!

IN THESE days of keen competition once a man enters a tailor's shop nothing but a confession of absolute poverty will get him out of it.

A dignified-looking man entered the spacious and brilliantly lighted show-room. Both partners immediately rushed upon him with bundles of cloth in their arms and proceeded to show him the "greatest tailoring values on the market."

Suddenly a fearful racket of clanging fire-bells made the partners turn pale.

"It's no fire—ha, ha!—be calm like me," whispered one in trembling tones; but the staff, in the meantime, were taking no chances. Books were placed in safes, and the fire-hose was brought out.

Abruptly the bells stopped, and they smiled.

But not for long. The "customer" had finally got a chance to speak.

"Gentlemen," he said. "I'm an inspector. I just came to warn you we were testing the fire-alarm system in this building."

Then he passed out. So did the two partners.

The Best Policy

"INSURANCE on my life! What are you talking about? I'm as healthy as ever I was. Insurance, indeed!"

"Well, dear, I only mentioned it out of respect to yourself. I thought you were failing."

"And what in the world put it into your head that I am failing? Why, I'm as strong as a horse, and can run up three flights of stairs without taking a breath."

"Well, that may be so; but I'm afraid you are deceiving yourself."

"Deceiving myself! Goodness gracious, woman, what do you mean?"

"Don't be so impatient. What makes me think you are failing is this: When you were courting me you could hold me on your knee for three hours; now you cannot hold the baby on your lap three minutes."

Used to It

THE hotel was much frequented by commercial travelers, who thought they had found a good target for their humor in a clergyman who booked a room there.

Day in and day out, at table and in the lounge, he received all their jests with irritating indifference.

"I wonder you stand those youngsters so well," said an older man, after a particularly foolish joke at the dinner table. "Don't you hear what they say?"

The clergyman smiled gently at the grinning faces waiting for his reply.

"Oh, yes," he answered; "but then, you see, I am chaplain at a lunatic asylum, so I'm used to this sort of thing!"

Changing the Color

ON SIX days out of the week Percy polished shoes for his father, the local boot repairer. On the seventh he attended Sunday school.

"Now, this school had decided to have a party with gifts for every pupil, and Percy received a copy of Browning's poems.

The next Sunday it was announced that any child who was disappointed with his or her gift could exchange it.

Percy marched boldly to the front with his.

"What have you there, Percy?"

"Browning, sir."

"And what do you want in exchange?"

"Blacking, sir."

To Pittsburgh

BELOW: gray banks, great barricades of stone,
A river serpent sliding to the sea,
Red insect roofs of houses curiously
Engraved in flashes—for milflame alone
Escapes the morphia haze that hides the moon
And shrouds a thousand smokestacks icily:
Above the town's gargantuan monotone.

Steel city. I have heard your earthly heart.
Have seen the green that grew where stone is gray,
Have loved the legends which you would impart
Of these three streams that once were starry; know
Your hills were proud with trees and peace and spray.
If you are Moloch, man has made you so.

O. O. McINTYRE In London

LONDON, March 23.—The "Brighter London" movement peeps through the gloom here and there. Regent street—the Fifth avenue—seems entirely made over in the American fashion with a spanking newness. What you wish for in London is not so much brightness, but that people would thaw out and be themselves. It would be a lovely spot for a "Smile Week."

Everywhere you sense the accentuated sniff of those who have the "advawntage." The condescending drawl soon begins to wear on the nerves and when you hear ex-patriated Americans simulating this odious kid-gloved snobbishness it is, well, putting it on a bit thick.

This morning I watched the early procession over London Bridge—a constant stream of workers going to their tasks and chattering in Cockney dialect that is almost alien. An outstanding impression was the need of dentistry among them. Everybody seemed to have a few front teeth missing or broken off.

London has thousands of those beefy, graying gentlemen whose cheeks have a reddish ale house glow. They dress with a shabby gentility often wearing spats below patched trousers. They have over-Niagara mustaches, clear throats with a hearty garrumph and blow their noses lustily in thumb-atop fashion.

They remind you somehow of those ruddy-cheeked pictures of John Bull in whisky ads. To all appearances they have no particular calling and certainly no incomes, but they get along jolly well in their blustery way and add, I presume, a touch to the gaiety of nations.

The most appealing thing about the British to me is their love of outdoors and zest for sport. They take avid interest in every game played in the open. London has 114 publications devoted chiefly to sports and all have a surprising circulation.

The Times in listing arrivals at hotels and their occupations lists me as "a leader-writer of the American press." Sounds well, but what in the world is it?

And in a shop a clerk lapsing playful for the second—and it was just a second—apologized: "I was giving your leg a jolly pull." He meant, I found out afterward, he was just joking.

The Kit Kat Club and the Florida are the most popular night resorts. But our revenue men are no more zealous than city authorities here against closing orders. After 12:30 at night even glasses are removed from tables and a drink is impossible to secure. The orchestras play this season's hits from New York shows and dance steps differ little from those on Broadway. The clubs, as in Paris, are supported chiefly by loose spending Americans.

The discontented of London are still permitted to mount platforms at an entrance to Hyde Park and "blow off steam." Policemen are about, but only interfere in case of incipient riots and such. The speaker pays so much for his platform and he can say anything he chooses so long as he does not indulge in profanity. He can harangue the Crown, sneer at the Prince of Wales and even suggest a march on Buckingham Palace. Free speech is unbridled. The ruling class has the good sense to know it is all talk and harmless.

London's poverty often hides in the alley like mews back of the finest mansions. Originally stables, they are now hovels of human habitation as dank and smelly as the causeways of Limehouse.

* * *

London streets seem more romantically named than those in most cities. Some of them seem fairly to leap at you. Today, for instance, I passed through Threadneedle, Houndsditch, Cockspur, Oxford Circus, Cheese Corners, Boar's Head Lane, Old New Street, Mustard Alley, Blood Road and Singapore Mews.

* * *

Then there is Rotten Row, where all the swells canter on horseback toting monocles and lorgnettes.

A friend called up America this evening and with the tricky telephone service here I wondered what he would do if the voice at the other end replied: "Wrong country."

Hitting the High Spots

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

A young lady complained to me the other day that she had periods of depression. There were times when life seemed drab and uninteresting. And she couldn't see the vision nor envisage the ideal. Life was just plodding.

Well, why not? That is the human lot and we had as well accept it.

We are fortunate if we get the vision once in awhile, if occasionally we stand on the mountain top, bathed in the sunlight, and look out over the future. Most of the time we have to travel through the valley of the shadow.

In most North temperate climates rain is intermingled with sunshine and, as the poet expressed it, "into each life some rain must fall."

Most of our course is to be made by dead reckoning. We cannot have the vision of the stars always, and life is mostly composed of future steps taken by faith in the dark. We are fortunate if once in awhile the clouds sweep away and we can glimpse the goal.

Life is rhythm. It has its ups and downs and the best thing we can do is to say in the language of the old Negro hymn, "I'm sometimes up and sometimes down, but still my soul is heavenly bound."

These moments of darkness, these uninteresting stretches of our life are our real test. Then is shown our staying quality and our ability to pursue a goal by faith and not by sight.

We cannot have the glory and the ecstasy every moment. We could not stand it. No man can live in a state of perpetual intoxication. He must get his feet down to the ground once in awhile and just plug along.

We have the comfort of knowing that nothing lasts forever and if our mood is depressed after awhile it will pass away.

You cannot hit the high spots all the time.

Converts begin their religious life usually in a blaze of enthusiasm. They are keyed up to high pitch and undergo an emotional ecstasy.

It is afterwards that the test comes. They are required to take up the affairs of daily life which are, perhaps, humdrum and uninteresting. They crave emotion, but emotion is an occasional experience and not permanent. In their daily life there must be steady application of the truths they have learned in those rare moments of ecstasy if they are not to backslide.

The best moral quality is the quality of stick-to-it-ive-ness, the quality of hanging on and doing right when there are no drums beating nor horns blowing.

So in the marriage relation, we begin in a burst of love and violent affection what must be kept up through days of perhaps uninteresting detail.

So the Bible tells us that it is the overcomers who shall be given the reward.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD.

TRADER HORN had a session with Will Durant yesterday, and later Mr. Durant said he was convinced that memories are better than philosophy.

One woman comments that Trader is not for abolishing the "cup that cheers," and she wonders if it is because he can't ever remember having had a good time around a pump.

Did anybody—ever?

In the photograph of the merry wives of the ex-Maharajah of Indore, the two women look terribly depressed. As if someone had just told them about American freedom and happiness. Now, if someone would just interview them on what they think of Nancy Miller giving up America to worship idols and wear a ring in her nose!

Josem Sert, of Paris, divorces his wife, then finds that the woman he wants to marry is his wife's confidante and best friend.

How embarrassing! But it should discredit the theory that women talk too much.

A poor, vain, little woman, arrested for shoplifting pink silk underwear, told the court she was afraid she had a pink crepe de chine soul.

Clarence Darrow comments: "The thrill of that short ride down hill is not worth the long hard pull to get your sled to the top of the hill again."

Judge Mary E. Bartelme, of the Chicago Juvenile Court, keeps dozens of small white handkerchiefs on hand. When the girl whose case she is hearing begins to cry, she quietly opens the drawer and hands her handkerchief. The organization known as the Big Sisters foots the bill. Something like 20,000 handkerchiefs have been donated.

Margot Asquith says one thing that amuses her about America is that the headstones in the cemeteries have letters as big as the headlines in the newspapers, and that they scream out the family name to every passerby. In England, she says, very beautiful verses are very finely engraved, and that when you read them you want to memorize them and carry the thought away with you.

But somehow I don't think we die quite so dead over here, do you?
